MURDER PROBE — Marin County sheriff's deputies unload police equipment from an unmarked patrol car as they prepare to examine the home of Gunnar Fischer, whose wife was found shot to death in her bedroom yesterday. A large van in the family driveway at 337 Point San Pedro Road held household goods the couple planned to ship to their native Sweden, where they planned to move in several weeks.

Young Mother Is Found Executed In Family Home

The young wife of an international corporation vice president was found bound, gagged and executed in the family's home yesterday.

According to sheriff's deputies and San Rafael police, Nina Fischer, 31, was slain by two gunshots by a mystery killer, while her 30-month old daughter napped unharmed in another bedroom of the home at 337 Point San Pedro Road.

NINA FISCHER
Murderer's victim

The husband, Gunnar Fischer, 31, discovered the nude body of his slain wife when he returned from his San Francisco office shortly after 6 p.m.

Fischer, a native of Sweden, doesn't speak English well and had difficulty communicating when he called San Rafael police.

Police said they thought Fischer had reported that "My wife is lying down in the rain and is injured."

Officers arrived expecting to find an auto accident in front of the home and then found there had been a murder, according to Capt. Harvery Teague of the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and Teague said all available manpower is seeking clues to the execution-style slaying.

Detectives have been unbale to learn if robbery was the motive, although Mrs. Fischer's purse has not been found. The Fischers were packing their belongings to move into a San Francisco apartment.

Fischer, executive vice president of Corona Industries International Corp., said they recently sold their home and were preparing to return to their native Sweden in a few weeks.

Fischer went to his Market Street office at 8:30 a.m. yesterday, he told investigators. He said he tried to call his wife several times during the day, but was unable to reach her. He said their private telephone went unanswered, and the business line into the home gave nothing but a busy signal.

The home is next door to the home of the late Sheriff David Menary.

Neighbors said they saw Mrs. Fischer in the yard sometime between 10 and 10:30 a.m. talking with moving men who delivered a large container in which the family intended to pack some of their belongings for shipment overseas.

Mrs. Fischer's body was found on the floor of the master bedroom, investigators said. Her hands had been tied behind her back and she was gagged. One bullet had been fired into the center of her back, another into her head. The body was covered with a blanket.

There was no sign of forced entry to the home, investigators said.

The Fischers, who had lived in the Bay Area for three years, came to Marin from New York City, where Fischer's firm also has offices.

The Fischers, who moved into the rambling home on an acre-lot about a year ago, were an active and energetic couple who nevertheless enjoyed privacy, according to neighbors.

The couple, both ski buffs who rented a cabin at Lake Tahoe and often spent weekends there, recently returned from a Caribbean cruise, according to George Schmitt, a next-door neighbor.

"Honestly, though, we didn't know them," said the 72-year-old Schmitt. "They were on the go all the time, in and out all the time."

An autopsy was to be performed today.

Rain Chance 70 Per Cent Tomorrow

Rain-soaked Marin residents can expect more of the same as the weatherman predicts a 70 per cent chance of rain tonight and tomorrow.

Coastal gales of from 24 to 42 miles-per-hour are expected through Saturday from the Oregon border to Point Arena in Medocino County and a small craft advisory has been issued for the Bay area for southerly winds 18 to 30 miles-per-hour.

Heavy snow in the Sierra Nevada is expected today with forecasters predicting heavy amounts, including strong winds and poor visability north of Yosemite above the 4,000 to 6,000 foot mark. Travelers warnings have been issued for snow and hazardous driving conditions above 3,000 feet in the Mt. Shasta-Siskiyou area.

Heavy intermittent rains last night brought nearly two inches of rain to parts of the county and downtown San Francisco reported nearly a quarter of an inch.

Rainfall reported in various areas of the county in the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today included: Marinwood, 1.7; Woodacre, 1.92; Novato, .82; Sausalito, .90; Mill Valley, .97; Tamalpais Valley, 1.05; Belvedere, .82, and Bolinas 1.32.

San Rafael had 1.9 inches of rain in the 24 hours ending at noon today.

Zen Philosopher Watts Dies In His Sleep At 58

Zen philosopher Alan W. Watts, a spiritual leader who saw himself as "a shameless egoist and an unrepentant sensualist" died today in his sleep at his home on the edge of Muir Woods.

Watts, who had been under a doctor's care for a heart condition, was discovered by his wife, Mary Jane, according to the Marin Coroner's office.

Henry Jacobs, a friend and associate of Watts, said the 58-year-old poet had been tired after recently completing a successful European lecture tour. He was scheduled to deliver a lecture Saturday in Palo Alto, Calif.

The irrepressible philosopher, whose books and treatises on Eastern philosophy were read and studied all over the world, was often a surprise to those who expected that the writer of such works would have to be a quiet, aesthetic individual.

"I am an unrepentant sensualist. . . an immoderate lover of the opposite sex, of food, wine and spirituous drink, of smoking, of gardens, forests and streams, of jewelry and paintings and of superbly bound and printed books," he once wrote.

ALAN W. WATTS
'Shameless egoist'

Watts viewed himself as a study in contradictions and saw no problem in that. "Beyond all these things, I am totally fascinated with the mystical — with the study of religion and metaphysics, with the practice of ritual and meditation and with trying to get as close as possible to a comprehension of what it is that IS."

Although Watts had recently moved to a library-living complex," complete with a tea garden, near Muir Beach, he still maintained a home on the ferry Vallejo in Sausalito where he was a familiar sight, shuffling down the streets, stopping often to talk with all kinds of people and animals.

Shortly before establishing a second residence, he told an interviewer that he was eager to have a home outside Sausalito because of many problems with the city's officialdom.

"The city hassles us constantly," he said. "They bug us constantly. I guess they want to Report On Development 'Thorough'

Sausalito planning commissioners last night declared an impact report on the environmental effects of the proposed Whiskey Springs development "a thorough, objective report."

Planning Director Herb Case said there was little criticism of the impact statement by Environmental Science Associates of Burlingame from state and local agencies.

Some discrepancies in traffic and water use data must be corrected but Case said he expects the report to be accepted when commissioners review it again Nov. 27.

An independent traffic consultant hired by the project developer, Duffel Financial and Construction Co., pointed out that an error in computing the amount of traffic the project would generate resulted in figures that are inaccurate, possibly double what they should be, according to project spokesman Van Logan. Case agreed that the figures must be revised and said there also may be errors in computing the amount of traffic generated by retail sales firms.

In addition to 85 townhouses and 12 duplexes, the developer is proposing a 150-room hotel, two restaurants, two bars, a bank and 10,000 square feet of offices on 13.7 acres at Bridgeway and Nevada Street.

Water use by the $6.3 million dollar project was estimated in the report at from 77 to 83 acre feet per year, but the Marin Municipal Water District told the city that regular water use would consume only 55 acre feet per year, according to J. Dietrich Stroeh, acting district general manager.

Stroeh said today the district will suggest to the developer other water-conserving methods that could reduce that figure further. Some methods might be the installation of low-volume toilets and shower heads and plantings and irrigation systems that would use a minimum of water, Stroeh said.

The department of parks and recreation was critical of the impact statement, saying it did not include a careful evaluation of the site to determine if important archaeological values are present.

Turkey Event For The Weekend

The sounds of the big band era, a modern version of a Thanksgiving turkey shoot and a performance of Renaissance madrigals will head the slate of weekend events in Marin and Sonoma County.

Trumpeter Harry James and his band will bring the nostalgic sounds of "swing" to Marin tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael.

Featured with the James band will be Sundi Martino, Lee DeMerle, Eddie Easton, Quin Davis and Tom Kelly.

The San Rafael Police Officers Association will present its seventh annual benefit turkey shoot, firing at turkeys painted on targets, tomorrow and Sunday from 11 a.m. to dusk at the San Rafael Police Pistol Range at the end of Bellam Boulevard. Winners will receive a cash prize. Proceeds will go for awards in the San Rafael-Terra Linda High School track meet in the spring.

Madrigals and ensemble music will be performed by the College of Marin Madrigal Singers tonight and tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in the choral hall of the college's Fine Art Building. The group is directed by Scott Merrick, chairman of the music department.

Other weekend events include:

TONIGHT

Noel Parenti, one-man theater, "Star Ranger," 8 p.m., Fine Arts Theater, College of Marin.

Fairfax Volunteer Fire Department, whist card party, 8:30 p.m., Women's Club.

Terry St. John, California paintings series, "The Society of Six," 8 p.m., Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Pianist Deno Gianopoulos, concert, 8 p.m., Tamalpais Residence, 501 Via Casitas, Greenbrae.

Films, "Monkey Business"

Novato To Seek Part Of Title

Novato High School will be seeking a co-championship and a place in the post-season Top of the Bay Bowl when it hosts Terra Linda tomorrow at 1 p.m. in a season-ending Marin County Athletic League football game.

Other MCAL games this weekend find San Rafael at Tamalpais, 3:30 p.m. today, and San Marin vs. Drake at College of Marin, 2:15 p.m. tomorrow. Redwood, which clinched at least a co-championship last week, will visit Marin Catholic for a nonleague game at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Petaluma, which already has clinched the other spot in the Bowl game, closes its North Bay League season tonight at 8 o'clock at Ukiah. Rancho Cotate will play Casa Grande at Durst Field in Petaluma at the same time.

Rookie Astronauts Headed For A Skylab Rendezvous

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 3's astronauts blasted off flawlessly and flew for a rendezvous with the giant space station today to close out the $2.6 billion program with a record holiday voyage of 12 weeks.

Rookies Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue, making the final manned American flight until mid-1975, rocketed away from Cape Canaveral precisely on time.

Their Apollo ferry ship was pushed into earth orbit by a Saturn 1B rocket which performed perfectly despite numerous tiny cracks that twice delayed the 30th US manned launch.

The Apollo docking manuever on the nose of Skylab was set for 4:41 p.m. after a five orbit chase.

The pilots hope to extend the ambitious Skylab research program to 84 days with man's best views of comet Kohoutek. They will orbit earth during Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day with spacewalks scheduled for the first two holidays.

"You've got three happy rookies up here," said Carr as they soared toward Skylab. "It's a great world," added Gibson.

"We can't hardly take our eyes away from the window," Pogue said. "There's already nose smears on the window."

They planned to enter the eight-room station tomorrow morning. Physicians hoped their overnight stay in the cramped ferry ship would prevent motion sickness which the previous crew suffered initially.

Carr, Gibson and Pogue logged many hours flying acrobatic maneuvers in T38 jets to accustom their inner ear balance sensors to the sensations of weightlessness.

The present space endurance record is 59 ½ days set by Skylab 2 pilots Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma. The first Skylab flight last May and June lasted only 28 days.

Launch director Walter J. Kapryan said he sweated out the first minute after Skylab 3's launch at 9:01 a.m. because of uncertainty posed by tiny cracks in the rocket that forced emergency repairs including replacement of eight tail fins. "To be truthful, I was scared to death," Kapryan said.

President Nixon sent a telegram congratulating the Space Agency on the successful launch of the flight which also marked the 16th anniversary of the US space effort.

"The final manned flight of the Skylab program should bring to a close the single most DEATH SCENE — Firemen early this morning searched for more bodies in a gutted three-story apartment building in which 24 persons died when flames raced through the building last night. Fire officials are calling it the worst residential fire in Los Angeles history.

(UPI Telephoto)

24 Die In Apartment Blaze

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The worst residential fire in the city's history swept through a 45-year-old apartment building early today, killing 24 persons and injuring 49 others.

Many of the victims died in their beds. Others were killed when they leaped from the upper floors of the structure before firemen could rescue them.

Firemen recovered 22 bodies at the scene. Two other victims were dead on arrival at hospitals.

Of the 49 injured, six were reported in critical condition.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the lobby of the H-shaped Stratford apartments and swept upward through an open stairway which deputy Department Commander D. J. Brunetti said acted as a "gigantic chimney."

Tragically, the building owners had been ordered to close the open stairway to comply with an ordinance passed by the City Council following the disastrous Ponet Hotel fire which killed 19 persons three years ago.

The ordinance carried a four-year moratorium and the owners of the Stratford had not yet complied, though firemen said the frame-stucco building was under renovation.

The Stratford was located at 1735 W. 6th Street, about one mile west of the Los Angeles Civic Center in a deteriorating business-residential area of low income families.

It housed about 150 residnts, many of them children and most of them Mexican-Americans.

"The place was loaded with kids, unfortunately, and we lost some of them," said fireman Steve Varney.

"When we arrived there were people hanging from windows and jumping or falling. There were civilians standing beneath them with blankets, trying to catch, or yelling at them in Spanish to stay in the building as long as they could — not to jump," he said.

Fire Chief Ray Hill said firemen found 11 bodies on the third floor alone.

In the city's worst fire disaster, 29 firemen were killed in Griffith Park on Oct. 3, 1933, when they were trapped inside a dead end canyon by advancing flames.

Francis Thibodeaux, 48, who was not home when the fire began, said his wife broke her arm falling out of the window of their first floor apartment. He said his wife told him at the hospital that "she heard a big explosion and the building shook."

"Everything was quick," said Vince Alvarez, who lived on the first floor with his wife Cristina and son Porgy, 15.

"I was asleep, and when I got up to get some water, I saw smoke and fire in the hallway. People were screaming and there was fire all over.

"I screamed to my wife 'let's go!' After I got my wife and son out, I was coming out the window and a lady that jumped almost hit me. She had a baby in her arms and she threw it to my son and he caught the baby."

Witnesses said when the first firemen arrived bodies lay in piles on the street. Bodies were stacked by firemen in a makeshift morgue across the street from the building and covered by white sheets and green tarpaulins.

Most of those who survived lived near fire escapes, survivors said.

Two firemen were injured. One suffered a burned hand and the other was struck on the helmet by burning debris, a spokesman said.

Hill said the building's open stairway helped the rapid spread of the fire to upper floors. Forty units were summoned to fight the fire, which was extinguished in 40 minutes.

Murder Charge In Train Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 13-year-old boy who allegedly tampered with a rail switch was charged yesterday with one count of murder and four counts of derailing a train stemming from the death of a motorist at a Lawndale crossing.

Santa Fe authorities said a rail switching device in Lawndale had been tampered with last Sunday night, derailing portions of a 52-car freight train and throwing nine boxcars into the intersection.

Killed was Marguerita Eubanks, 36, of Manhattan Beach. A Redondo Beach couple in another car was injured in the derailment.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Police Ambushed

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen seized the rural home of an elderly couple today, locked the man and wife in a back room of their house and ambushed an armored police car 50 miles southwest of Belfast, police said.

The couple escaped from the locked back room after the gunmen fled following the ambush, police said.

A police spokesman said the car raced through the ambush, with most of the bullets plinking off the steel-plated police vehicle. One slug ricocheted inside and wounded one of the officers in the leg.

Troop Cut Plan

VIENNA (UPI) — The Soviet bloc has proposed a troop cutback plan for Central Europe with East and West pulling out 20,000 men each in 1975, sources at the Vienna arms reduction conference said yesterday.

NATO allies were expected to oppose the plan in initial conference bargaining, arguing that the Warsaw Pact, which has more troops stationed in Central Europe, should cut back a greater percentage of its forces than NATO.

Prisoner Stabbed

HONOLULU (UPI) — A prisoner was stabbed late yesterday at the Hawaii State Prison, scene of a riot by more than 180 inmates Tuesday night.

William James Stevens, 29, was said to be in "serious" condition with stab wounds "all over his body."

No weapon was recovered, but a detective said "we assume it was a knife or sharp instrument."

Stores Reopen

PARIS (UPI) — Frenchmen could buy food from their local stores and spend time at their favorite sidewalk cafes again today after an estimated one million stores had closed for 24 hours to protest a government price freeze reopened.

The strike was 85 to 100 per cent effective, according to news reports.

Only drug stores, newspaper vendors, department stores and supermarkets —which supply one-tenth of normal grocery needs — were open.

Fighting Rages

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese command said today 136 men have been killed in two days of fierce artillery, tank and infantry fighting for control of the southern Central Highlands.

Military sources said the fighting for three strategic outposts in the region, 110 miles north of Saigon, was so heavy a second government regiment of about 2,500 men was sent in to reinforce South Vietnamese troops.

Siege Broken

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian government troops today broke a 17-day rebel siege at tiny Trapeang Thnot village, 12 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, and field reporters said 29 of the soldiers inside the garrison had been wounded during the siege and five had died.

Student Revolt

ATHENS (UPI) — University students barricaded inside an Athens school used a radio station in growing anti-government demonstrations to call today for a nationwide one-day strike by high school students and workers.

"We appeal to the workers to join the struggle for freedom. We call all high school pupils to come and join us.

"We appeal to anti-dictatorial and progressive forces to join us," the broadcast said.

Arends to Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Leslie Arends, the Republican whip in the House, yesterday said he will retire after 40 years at the end of his current term.

His colleagues gave him a standing ovation upon hearing the news.

Arends recently tried to become House GOP leader, replacing Gerald R. Ford if he is confirmed as vice president, but Arends withdrew after it became apparent that Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., had locked up the job.

Newlyweds Alone

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (UPI) — Princess Anne and Capt. Mark Phillips sailed across the Caribbean aboard the royal yacht Britannia today, finally free of well-wishers and off on a hush-hush honeymoon cruise.

Maintenance Crews At PSA Strike

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Pacific Southwest Airlines maintenance workers went on strike last night.

Operations were not immediately affected, and President J. Floyd said they would not be for the next day or two.

"We have a lot of loyal people," he said, "and we intend to keep the airline going."

He admitted that if the strike continues, service may be cut back to about 70 per cent.

Teamsters Local 2707 authorized a strike last Sunday, saying the 5.5 per cent pay increase offered was not enough.

A spokesman for the airline said the fuel crisis, flight cancellations and dwindling profits had sharply curtailed earnings.

TOLLS FOR CAMPERS TO BE REDUCED

Bridge tolls for noncommercial pickup trucks, vans and campers will be reduced on Jan. 1 to the same amount paid by passenger cars on all bridges controlled by the California Toll Bridge Authority.

At the present time the toll for these vehicles — when used to carry anything but passengers — ranges from a low of 70 cents on the San Mateo bridge to $2.50 on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge.

After the first of the year the toll for such vehicles will range from a low of 25 cents to $1.

This change does not affect the Golden Gate Bridge where the toll is now the same for both cars and other vehicles.

First U.S. Indian Bank Is Opened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton yesterday formally opened the first American Indian bank in a ceremony attracting many leaders of the American Indian nation.

The bank, to be known as the American Indian National Bank, will be privately funded by American Indians and will try to underwrite business enterprises in Indian communities, its officers said.

Barney Old Coyote, a professor of economics at Montana State University, was named president.

Old Coyote, a member of the Crow nation, said the bank hoped to draw its strength from the wealth of American Indians.

Old Coyote said at a news conference American Indians have more than $200 million on deposit with the Treasury drawing about 4 per cent interest.

Old Coyote said the bank officials hope much of this money would be deposited with the new bank, to be located here but will serve Indians in every state.

W. W. Keeler, chairman of the bank and a member of the Cherokee nation, said Indians have had many opportunities for advancement but have been unable to get funds.

"We're crossing into a new era," Keeler said, in which Indians will be able to talk to other Indians who understand their problems.

Span To Give Green Light To Auto Pools

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Car pools and buses will have the green light all the time at the crowded toll gate of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge officials announced yesterday.

A system of green and red lights is being installed on the approaches to the bridge where 15 lanes of traffic are funneled into five lanes of the span.

The computer-controlled lights are designed to guide traffic smoothly onto the bridge. Buses and autos in the special car-pool lanes will get priority by having a green light all the time, according to the announcement by the Toll Bridge Authority.

A spokesman said 2,200 cars daily are now using the special car-pool discount tolls on the bridge.

Road Conditions Given By Phone

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Telephone answering services providing drivers with road condition reports on mountain highways are now available in Marysville, Truckee and Sacramento, the state Department of Transportation said Wednesday.

A department spokesman said latest road and snow conditions were compiled from field reports put on a special taped message service. It is changed as road conditions change.

Although information about many state highways will be provided, Interstate 80 and US 50 between Sacramento and the Nevada border "are of primary concern," the department said.

THE SCORE IS 23 TO 1

Clarence Bullard leans from the window of his apartment in the Hilarita Housing Project where he flaunted this sign today in the face of visiting county housing authority officials seeking to move him and other tenants from the project in Tiburon to Marin City. Only one has been persuaded to go; the other 23 are standing their ground.

The housing authority officials tour today was to examine building hazards and the cost of maintaining the units. The tenants, backed by the Ecumenical Association for Housing and the Tiburon Ecumenical Association for Housing, want the old units kept open until a federally subsidized housing loan comes through to rebuild the apartments.

productive program in the history of man's quest for knowledge about himself and his world," Nixon said.

One of the crew's first tasks aboard Skylab is to replenish fluid in two cooling lines that apparently leaked to very low levels and endangered electronic equipment.

The prime cooling system was shut down during Skylab 2 and a special reservicing kit was carried on Apollo so the astronauts could put fluid in lines linked to the station's research instruments.

The pilots aren't making the trip alone.

One thousand gypsy moth eggs in special vials were aboard Apollo. Scientists want to learn if they can control through weightlessness the life cycle of the moths, which destroy thousands of acres of forests annually.

Carr, 41, a Marine lieutenant colonel; Gibson, 37, a civilian scientist, and Pogue, 43, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, made up the first all-rookie crew since the Gemini program in the mid-1960's and only the fourth since the original Mercury program.

$200 Is Raised For Scholarships

San Rafael High School students netted nearly $200 in yesterday's door-to-door collection for donations for the American Field Service Scholarship Program.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hartsook, a member of the International Friendship Club that sponsored the walk, said the students covered only half the area they had planned to canvass because of rain.

The club will meet again to discuss another walk to raise funds to bring a foreign student to San Rafael High School next year and to help send a San Rafael student abroad to study.

Acid, Ticket Charges Admitted

I-J Special Report

SAN JOSE — Gerry Buckley of Stinson Beach and Michael Kranzler of Berkeley yesterday pleaded guilty in Santa Clara County Superior Court to charges of transporting LSD and receiving stolen property.

Buckley, said to be secretary-treasurer of the Fly by Night Travel Agency of San Rafael, and Kranzler were arrested June 30 in the South Bay in connection with seven stolen airline tickets and $10,000 worth of LSD.

The tickets were from among more than 700 stolen earlier this year in Milwaukee.

Othe counts concerning the tickets were dismissed yesterday by Judge John T. Racanelli after the guilty pleas of the two men.

The pair is to be sentenced Nov. 30.

Reading Expert Will Be Kept

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, agreed last night to dip into local funds to keep a reading specialist on the job.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the board allocated $3,830 in local money for the specialist salary since the expected federal funds will not be available to pay the complete salary.

Magowan said the board also directed that the specialist spend half her time working with fourth, fifth and sixth grade students with reading problems. If full federal funding had been received, the specialist would have been restricted to the primary grades.

In other business, the board agreed to spend $6,600 to replace faulty heating equipment at Bernard Eldredge School.

Rocket Plane's Power Tested

EDWARDS AFB (UPI) — The X24B rocket plane made its first powered flight yesterday, accelerating to 550 miles an hour and an altitude of 53,000 feet in a 6½-minute flight, the NASA Flight Research Center announced.

The X24B is meant to be the forerunner of a generation of planes capable of flying to the edge of space.

The plane made five unpowered flights before. It was dropped from a B52 mother plane and glided to earth.

Yesterday three of the plane's four rocket chambers were ignited after the X24B was released at 45,000 feet. In future flights, NASA said, the craft will reach 1,000 mph and an altitude of 75,000 feet.

OBITUARIES

Zen Philosopher Watts, 58, Dies

build high-rise apartments and all that jazz" on the waterfront.

Watts was a man closely in touch with the contemporary scene and was talking about the energy crisis last summer before it was widely recognized as a problem.

"We've got to cut down (on energy use) and that means finding other ways to do things," he told a reporter for an Eastern paper. "Instead of driving to the movies, we should sit around and sing. It's as necessary to sing as it is to have a good sex life."

Alan Wilson Watts was born Jan. 6, 1915 at Chislehurst, England, the son of Emily and Lawrence Watts. He was reared in County Kent, England, and emigrated to this country and became a citizen in the late 30s.

He studied at Seabury-Western Theological Seminary at Evanston, Ill. where he earned a master's degree in sacred theology in 1948.

He was ordained an Episcopal priest before leaving the church.

From 1944 to 1950, Watts was a professor of Asian Studies at the College of the Pacific. He was widely known as an author and a lecturer. Some of his best known writings were a book, "The Way of Zen" and an essay "Beat Zen, Square Zen and Zen" contained in a 1960 collection.

Watts was married three times, first to Eleanor Everett, who divorced him in 1950. He then married Dorothy DeWitt, but the couple parted in 1960.

He married his current wife, Mary Jane King, in 1963. He had seven children by his first two wives, Joan, Ann, Tia, Mark, Richard, Lila and Diane.

Watts often joked about the fact that, as a successful philosopher, he was forced to be constantly involved in very unphilosophical matters: "It takes a full time secretary, lawyer and accountant to keep a philosopher going, and all this wretched paperwork — it's absurd! You wouldn't believe what I have to pay in taxes."

Admitting that his income was about $40,000 a year, he said that he ended up giving much of that away. "The rich, you know, dress like undertakers, drive hearses and eat boring foods," he said. Their problem is that they don't know how to live. If they did, they wouldn't need so much money."

Yippie Says Judge Made Trial Bad

CHICAGO (UPI) — Abbie Hoffman testified today US District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman created a "pressure cooker atmosphere" in the original Chicago Seven riot conspiracy trial which made it impossible for the defendants to remain silent.

Hoffman, four others of the original defendants and two lawyers are on trial before US District Court Judge Edward T. Gignoux on charges their actions during the tumultuous 1969-70 trial were in contempt of court.

Hoffman said, "It became impossible emotionally to sit there and say nothing...."

He said Judge Hoffman "created a pressure cooker atmosphere in the courtroom by stretching the court's sessions to a six-day week and keeping us there sometimes to 6 p.m."

Hoffman, one of the leaders in the movement to disrupt the 1968 Democratic National Convention, said of his courtroom actions, "I was venting my anger at the judge and I felt it was equal to the anger the judge vented at us."

He said he was referring particularly to the day the judge ordered Black Panther leader Bobby Seale shackled to a chair in the courtroom.

STELLA PASQUALETTI

A Mass of Requiem was offered yesterday at Sts. Peter and Paul Church in San Francisco for murder victim Stella Pasqualetti, mother of Dr. Roy Pasqualetti of Kentfield.

Mrs. Pasqualetti, an 80-year-old widow, was found stabbed to death Wednesday in the kitchen of her Russian Hill mansion in San Francisco.

Police said yesterday they had no new leads or suspects in the slaying saying the woman apparently was killed without a motive. Nothing appeared to have been stolen from her home, and there was no sign of forced entry or struggle.

Mrs. Pasqualetti's body was found by her son after a friend of his mother said Mrs. Pasqualetti hadn't answered her phone for two days.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Pasqualetti is survived by three grandchildren.

New Contract Talks Resumed By UAW, Ford

DETROIT (UPI) — Negotiations for a new contract between United Auto Workers leaders and Ford reopened yesterday. Both sides are trying to revise an agreement they reached Oct. 26, but which was later rejected by Ford's 28,000 skilled tradesmen.

The UAW presented new proposals for an overtime provision to replace the one rejected by the tradesmen. Ford officials said they wanted to study the plan.

"We presented the issues and explored possible alternatives," said UAW President Leonard Woodcock.

Although the Oct. 26 contract was ratified by a more than two-to-one margin by Ford's 185,000 employes, a separate vote by the skilled workers rejected the offer by more than 3-to-1.

Their main objection was to a provision which allows them to be replaced by unskilled workers or outside firms if they refused to work overtime.

The UAW also kept busy on two other fronts, continuing sub-level talks with General Motors for a new national contract and trying to iron out a contract deadlock with Caterpillar Tractor Co., which prompted a strike by 32,000 union members in five states.

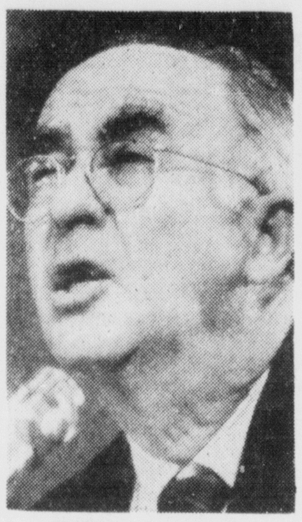
Woodcock spent a few hours late yesterday at GM, the last of the big three without a new national pact.

However, Woodcock and uaw Vice President Ken Bannon spent most of the day at Ford headquarters proposing changes in the objectionable overtime provision.

The two leaders met with Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president of labor relations, and Sidney McKenna, director of labor affairs. The two Ford men were reportedly studying the latest proposals.

A UAW spokesman said the outcome of the talks with Ford will be reported Nov. 27 to members of a UAW subcouncil in Cincinnati. The 68 council members will be joined by union local presidents at Ford plants as well as bargaining committee chairmen.

The unhappy tradesmen claim their defeat of the contract means it is invalid to all workers. Both Ford and the UAW executive board, say all of it but the disputed overtime provision will go into effect Monday.



GEORGE A. SPATER
Reelection contribution

Ex-Airline Boss Gives Fund Reason

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The former chairman of the board of American Airlines, which has admitted making illegal contributions to President Nixon's reelection campaign, says mixing politics and business is like being in "an unknown world with a lot of beasts in it ..."

George A. Spater, former American chief, told the Senate Watergate committee yesterday that his company contributed to the Nixon campaign not to buy favors, but because it was afraid it would be at a disadvantage in the business world if it did not contribute.

"It's an unknown world with a lot of beasts in it and you don't know what the beasts are," Spater said.

American has admitted to making $55,000 in contributions to Nixon's campaign last fall. Spater was the first corporate executive to come forward and admit making the illegal contributions.

He said he felt doubly pressured to make the contribution because he was approached by Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, who was also counsel for American Airline's biggest competitor—United Air Lines.

Speed Of Nixon's Jet Will Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has decided to aid his energy conservation cause by lowering the speed of his Boeing 707 presidential jet.

The White House says the plane will fly at 477 miles per hour, instead of the usual 525 m.p.h., lowering fuel consumption from 2,200 gallons per hour to 2,000 gallons per hour.

Children's Color Books Lambasted

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Coloring books are worthless classroom busywork that may even provoke a youngster's hostility, according to Berkeley school Supt. Richard Foster.

He asserted at a school board meeting this week that "teaching kids to draw between little black lines is antithetical to education. We should all learn to draw free form, not according to some pattern."

"Frankly, coloring books occupy time. They don't teach a thing."

Foster, formerly of Greenbrae, lambasted coloring books in telling the board why he did not plan to distribute 5,000 copies of a coloring book prepared by the local police department.

"I've got nothing against police," he said, "only the idea of coloring books."

He said the books might help create violent attitudes because in making youngsters stay within lines "the child must conform whether he wants to or not."

Duchess Lonely And Often Bored

LONDON (UPI) — The London Daily Mail said today that the Duchess of Windsor, widow of the Britain's former King Edward VIII, told an interviewer that she is a bored, lonely and sometimes ailing woman.

"It's a bombshell world full of violence and horror," she was quoted as saying. "I no longer understand or like it too much."

The article said she spends her days gardening and entertaining small gatherings of friends at her home in Paris.

She has already chosen her tombstone, the article said, a marble one to bear the inscription "Wallis, Duchess of Windsor." It will stand in Windsor Great Park, near the grave of the duke and where Queen Victoria and Prince Albert lie.

YIPPIES MAY BE THERE

Along with an expected 4.5 million other people, members of the Youth International Party may be coming to Expo '74 next summer in Spokane, Wash. Rik Smith (right) and Doug Davis, spokesmen for the local Yippies, said yesterday posters were being put up all over the country, inviting members to a national convention during the exposition. "We decided we'd come and show our life style," Smith said.

Books Saved In Burning By School

DRAKE, N.D. (UPI) — Book burning has come to an end at the public school here, apparently in part because of complaints from all over about the burning of copies of Kurt Vonnegut's novel, "Slaughterhouse Five."

School Superintendent Dale Furham said yesterday that 32 copies of the book were burned with the trash by a janitor after a sophomore girl complained about what she considered coarse language in the book.

Bruce Severy, who used the novel in his sophomore English class, said copies of James Dickey's "Deliverance" and a book of short stories by Ernest Hemingway, John Steinbeck and others originally also had been ordered burned, but they will now be spared.

"Publicity had a lot to do with their changing their mind," Severy said.

Fuhrman said he thinks the book of short stories will be put back into class. He is recommending it, but the final decision is up to the school board. There is still a question about "Deliverance."

Israel Steps Up Efforts On POWs Held By Syria

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With the Israeli-Egyptian prisoner of war exchange in its second day Israel stepped up efforts to get back POWs held by Syria and prepared to submit to Egypt a three-part plan to pull both armies back from the Suez Canal. The plan would set up a UN-controlled buffer zone on each side of the canal.

It would be the second stage of a Middle East settlement leading to a peace conference in Geneva. But there were indications that the Arab world was in disarray and that both a proposed Arab summit conference and the Geneva peace conference might be postponed before the early December date mentioned earlier.

In the POW exchange, 28 Israeli soldiers flew to Tel Aviv from Cairo to a tearful welcome from Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir and 294 Egyptians flew from Tel Aviv to Cairo aboard planes chartered by the International Red Cross. Nine of the Israelis had been held since the 1970 war of attrition along the canal.

The evacuation of 400 wounded civilians from the port city of Suez started under the cease-fire agreement signed on Sunday by Israeli and Egyptian generals. Israel had blockaded the city for three weeks before relinquishing checkpoints on the Cairo-Suez road to UN troops yesterday.

Israeli government sources told UPI Correspondent Joseph W. Grigg that the new Israeli offer is expected to be discussed next week by Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv and Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohammed Gemassy at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road. It was reported to have three major parts:

Both sides would withdraw to their positions as of Oct. 5, the day before the war broke out. That meant the Egyptian 2nd and 3rd Armies would pull back to the Egyptian side of the canal and the Israelis would give up the 625 square miles of Egypt they now hold.

A 10 kilometer (six mile) strip would be set up on each side of the canal and be administered by the UN peace-keeping troops.

The Egyptian 3rd Army would be permitted to cross back into Egypt unmolested but would not be allowed to take along its heavy armaments.

Whether Egyptian President Anwar Sadat would agree to the proposals was problematical.

There were optimistic statements from Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan who said Egypt and Israel had finally begun talking instead of fighting, and from Lt. Gen. David Elazar, the Israeli chief of staff, who said, "I hope that from this beginning we shall go much further and achieve much in our relationship with Egypt."

Bush Won't Run For Governor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman George Bush announced today he has decided to stay in his job rather than run for governor of Texas.

Bush said in a statement: "I have made a final decision. I will remain as chairman of the Republican National Committee. I will not be a candidate for governor of Texas in 1974."

Bush, a former Texas congressman and former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, had been mentioned repeatedly as perhaps the strongest Republican prospect for the governorship next year.

He denied that concerns about the damage from the Watergate case caused him to forego the race.

"Some will say that the current polls indicate problems for Republican candidates in 1974," Bush commented. "I do not believe that."

New Orleans Arson Confession In Fatal Fire Said Fraudulent

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A spokesman for the district attorney's office yesterday said the facts contradicted claims by Raymond Wallender, a transient, that he set a fire in a French Quarter bar that killed 33 persons.

Wallender told police in California that he set the blaze, but assistant district attorney John Volz said his office will reject 33 murder warrants pending against Wallender, who faced a preliminary hearing today.

Wallender, 32, confessed in Sacramento, Calif., last month to setting the June 24 fire at the Upstairs Lounge. He later withdrew his confession, but finally repeated the admission and was extradited to Louisiana.

Volz said several errors in Wallender's story and a crucial time difference led authorities to discount the confession.

"He's not the man. He didn't do it," Volz said, adding that Wallender apparently feared for his life in Sacramento, where he was jailed on theft charges at the time of his confession.

"I understand he had some difficulty in the jail where he was held and that he had been attacked by some people," Volz said.

He said he thought the extradition proceedings had not been wasted.

"It was worth their while bringing him down here on a matter that serious," Volz said. "You're got to check it out and it could best be checked out here."

Wallender told authorities he set fire to the lounge to get revenge against a patron who reneged on an offer to pay $200 to one of Wallender's companions to perform a sex act.

He also told officers he started the fire around 6 a.m., when, in fact, it began about dusk, Volz said.

Anne's Designer Reports Offer Of Big Bribe

LONDON (UPI) — Maureen Baker, the designer of Princess Anne's bridal gown, said yester-day she was offered a $50,000 bribe to disclose the secrets of the dress to the American garment industry before the wedding.

Mrs. Baker refused to say who offered the bribe, but she said she was approached by an American manufacturer who wanted to flood the market with copies.

"Of course, honor came first," Mrs. Baker said. "It was a privilege to make Princess Anne's dress."

Eyes Senate

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (UPI) — Ramsay Clark, the former U.S. attorney general, last night told an audience of 600 students and faculty at Vassar College that he plans to run for the Senate seat now held by Jacob K. Javits.

New Agency Forcing A Showdown

A bureaucratic fight between two Marin County agencies developed yesterday as the new department of corrections announced plans to take over a probation department program.

Ralph Merola, director of corrections, told members of his citizens advisory committee he will ask county supervisors to shift the probation department "work furlough program" to his agency.

Merola, who headed the successful program before being named director of corrections, said it would go hand in glove with operation of the minimum security farm.

His department takes over operation of the honor farm, now run by the sheriff, in January.

Merola said that since all work furlough inmates are to be housed at the honor farm, it would better administration for his department to run the program.

Chief probation officer John W. Brewer, a member of the corrections advisory committee, told the group he would fight the move.

"If it involves us having one of those conflicts before the board of supervisors, so be it," Brewer warned Merola.

He said law violators are under the probation department's "care and custody" not just while they are in (jail) but sometimes for years after."

He said Merola's proposal to shift the work furlough program would create a "hiatus" in long-term probation supervision.

The 13-member citizens committee, which includes six county department heads and seven citizens-at-large declined to take a position on Merola's proposal.

Earlier this year a citizens' report, which county supervisors used to create the department of corrections, proposed that eventually the department absorb most if not all probation functions.

Supervisors have not yet endorsed that section of the report and have limited the department of corrections to running the honor farm and overseeing some rehabilitative programs.

The probation department, meanwhile, is involved in another reorganization plan to consolidate it with the health and welfare departments.

The discussion came after the advisory committee had endorsed a proposed ordinance allowing the department to take over the operation of the honor farm in January.

Wedding Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kathleen H. Kennedy, 22, daughter of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will be married tomorrow to David L. Townsend, 25, a doctoral candidate at Harvard University.

Arraignment Set In Welfare Case

A Novato couple was scheduled to be arraigned this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of welfare fraud.

According to the complaint filed by the district attorney, Bennie Anderson Perry and Jessie Lee Perry fraudulently received $1,716 in welfare payments between April 1, 1972, and Jan. 31, 1973. They were not booked into county jail, but merely ordered to appear in court.

Kennedy Son Faces Bone Cancer Surgery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward M. Kennedy Jr., 12-year-old son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has bone cancer in his right leg and will undergo an operation tomorrow to amputate the leg.

A spokesman in Kennedy's office said surgery at Georgetown University Hospital is scheduled tomorrow. The surgery will include removal of the right leg above the knee.

In response to questions, Dick Drayne, Kennedy's press secretary, said the growth is in the lower right leg and in layman's terms can be described as bone cancer.

The young Kennedy, the senator's oldest son and one of three children, has been told he is suffering from the malignant growth and that he will undergo surgery.

His father and mother, who returned from Europe after the youth was stricken, have been with him since he was hospitalized Tuesday.

A formal statement issued by Drayne said, "Edward M. Kennedy Jr., Sen. Kennedy's 12-year-old son, entered Georgetown University Hospital Tuesday for diagnostic tests. The tests have revealed a malignant growth on the lower right leg. Surgery for removal of the growth is scheduled for the very near future."

Responding to questions, Drayne said the amputation would be above the knee.

FBI Recovers Stolen Paintings

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The FBI said it had recovered seven paintings allegedly stolen last winter from the Washington residence of the Swedish ambassador to the United States.

Federal agents said the paintings, valued at $100,000, were found at the home of an unidentified relative of one of five men who were indicted by a federal grand jury in Newark, N.J., in connection with the case.

Authorities said the paintings were found "properly rolled up and covered" and in "good condition."

Nixon Will Fight Watergate Link

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon completed a series of unusual meetings on Watergate with all Republican members of Congress before flying to Florida today to prepare for three public appearances in four days in the South.

Nixon had intended to leave for Key Biscayne before noon but delayed his departure without explanation.

The central theme in all his six meetings with groups of GOP senators and representatives, as well as two sessions with selected Democratic lawmakers, was that he intended to fight to demonstrate to Americans he had no role in Watergate or its cover-up.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who attended a dinner meeting by Nixon for 35 Democratic congressmen at the White House last night, said:

"My own impression was that the trouble with the situation today is segments of our population are out to get Richard Nixon the man and destroy the presidency. I think he did a magnificent job last night."

The President submits to a televised question-and-answer period tomorrow in Orlando, Fla., with some newspaper editors attending an Associated Press Managing Editors meeting.

After this morning's breakfast session with the last 28 of the Republican house members, Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., said Nixon's frankness was impressive.

Snow Bodes Well For Ski Resorts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sierra Nevada ski resorts have reported six to eight inches of new snow, allowing opening of several areas this weekend.

Operations at selected ski areas, as reported by the California State Automobile Association at 10 a.m.:

Highway 50: Heavenly Valley, opens tomorrow with middle and upper runs operational on the California side; Sierra Ski Ranch, open today through Sunday, limited facilities.

Highway 88: Kirkwood Meadows will open next Wednesday.

Nevada: Slide-Rose, open tomorrow and Sunday, three lifts, possibly more.

State Saves Bundle As Youths Clean Up

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — More than 5,000 youngsters throughout California participated in a special anti-litter campaign for state parks this past summer, resulting in massive cleanups and savings, the Department of Parks and Recreation said today.

"The concerted effort we began last summer to enlist the help of state park visitors in keeping our park lands free of litter has brought rich rewards in the improved appearance of our state parks, beaches and recreation areas," said Parks Director William Penn Mott Jr.

"The small cost of the program has been repaid more than ten-fold in savings of park cleanup time by department employes," he added.

Mott estimated that the youthful cleaning represented a salary saving of more than $25,000. The program was funded by private donations of.

President Signs Bill Aimed At Expediting Alaskan Oil Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed into law today a bill aimed at expediting construction of the Alaskan oil pipeline, and said for the time being the nation's energy crisis must take precedence over environmental considerations.

The pipeline is envisioned as a partial, permanent answer to the oil shortage caused by the current embargo by Arab oil-producing countries on shipments to the United States. Nixon hinted at lifting of the embargo at some unspecified time in the future.

Nixon said a change in Arab attitudes was "just a possibility. While that can happen, even if it happened tomorrow, we would still have this energy crisis for this year."

For the short run, he said, environmental concerns must take second place in the energy situation. Environmentalists opposed the Alaska pipeline on grounds that the hot oil flowing through it would melt the tundra and cause permanent ecological changes.

Nixon insisted that safeguards imposed on the pipeline project by the Interior Department would protect the Alaskan ecology.

Turning toward Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., Nixon said, "you're an environmentalist," and asked whether the project would present problems for environmentalists.

"No great problems," Hatfield replied.

"That's a senator's way of saying there could be," Nixon observed.

The pipeline will be built by a consortium of oil companies which formed the Aleyaska Pipeline Service Co. Its president, E. L. Patton, said in a statement after the signing of the bill:

"We are hopeful that we will be able to begin building the pipeline next year so that Alaskan oil can be delivered to the United States West Coast during 1977."

In a bill-signing ceremony in the White House Oval Office, Nixon said that "in the long run, we can have both" the needed energy supplies and adequate environmental safeguards.

The ceremony was attended by 17 members of Congress, including all those who served on a House-Senate conference committee that worked out differences between the House and Senate bills.

The measure grants a right-of- way for the 789-mile pipeline to carry oil from the frozen north slope of Alaska to the icefree Port of Valdez for reshipment to West Coast refineries.

Nixon said environmentalists and the Environmental Protection Agency would "have to cooperate" in efforts to deal with the immediate energy crisis.

The goal is for the nation to achieve national self-sufficiency by 1980, he said.

introducing the ESS amt 1

UNBELIEVABLE! FANTASTIC! The HEIL SPEAKER

NEWEST CONCEPT IN SPEAKER DESIGN

YOU HAVE TO HEAR IT TO BELIEVE IT!

Threadbare though the word "revolution" has become, the ESS amt 1 loudspeaker marks a revolution in high fidelity reproduction through its incorporation of the Heil Air Motion Transformer, developed and perfected by Dr. Oskar Heil, of Heil Scientific Laboratories, Inc., over the last four and one half years. This exciting new device gives the ESS amt 1 the first authentically new approach to sound generation in fifty years. As an achievement, the ESS amt 1 leaps far forward in the pursuit of acoustic perfection and it is so clearly superior to all other loudspeaker systems that no previous experience in high fidelity reproduction will have been adequate preparation for this revelation in sound delineation.

The Heil Air Motion Transformer diaphragm is made of close tolerance, specially formed folds in a lightweight, thin, self damping plastic.

New Attempt At Limiting Taxes Eyed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan is considering pursuing a legislative version of his tax ceiling initiative which has already been rejected by a Senate committee and the voters.

In a speech yesterday, Reagan suggested that even if the proposal were rejected, it would be "most helpful" to Republican candidates next year who are "fiscally responsible" and who are running against "big spenders."

The governor did not elaborate, but GOP candidates presumably would use a Democratic candidate's vote against the tax ceiling measure as ammunition against him in the election.

Reagan made his remarks to the board of directors of the California Taxpayers Association, a business group which supported Prop. 1.

It was rejected by 56 per cent of the voters Nov. 6. The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee turned it down earlier in the year on a party line vote.

Ed Gray, Reagan's press secretary, said no decision has been made on whether to put the proposal again before the legislature in some form or another. Gray also said Reagan has not ruled out the possibility of taking it to the people again in a modified version.

The governor, who public opinion polls show as the leading 1976 GOP presidential contender, also declared Prop. 1 has attracted "great nationwide interest."

Gray said officials from Hawaii, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Arizona, Louisiana, Texas and New Hampshire have inquired about the measure.

Reagan said a post-election survey of those who voted against Prop. 1 showed 70 per cent though they were voting against a local property tax increase. The governor labelled such a belief a "falsehood."

RONALD REAGAN
As he spoke to newsmen

Reagan Says Gas Rationing Certain

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he believes it is inevitable that rationing will be imposed not only for gasoline but energy consumed in the home.

Meanwhile, two state senators, including the dean of the legislature, called for a special legislative session to deal with the energy crisis. Reagan took no position on whether he would call such a session.

At a news conference, Reagan was asked how use of electricity and other energy consumed in the home could be curtailed during the crisis.

He replied: "I think that a rationing program that can be laid out as fair to all people is going to be the ultimate answer ..."

As for automobile gasoline rationing, the governor said: "I think we're coming to that. Everone calls it a last resort, but again I think it beats tax sanctions. It comes down to being the fairest."

Reagan told newsmen he has not yet decided whether lowering the speed limit to 50 m.p.h., as suggested by President Nixon, would be practical. However, he said he used to find driving 50 m.p.h. "very comfortable."

Reagan also said he favored relaxing anti-smog regulations which use up energy "on a selective basis," although "you'd have to think twice about" doing that in the Los Angeles basin.

He said citizens should voluntarily switch off their lights and lower heater thermostats to help ease the energy crisis.

Meanwhile, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, who has served longer in the Capitol than any other legislator, urged the scheduling of a special session to deal with the problem.

"It's time we listened to the voices of the environmentalists who have been telling us for months that the crisis was at hand," Collier said. "We should do it now —not wring our hands and bemoan our fate until after the first of the year when the legislature reconvenes."

He declared appeals for voluntary cutbacks in energy consumption by citizens "will have about as much effect as asking them to put a brick in their toilet tank to reduce the use of water."

When asked if he would call a special session, Reagan replied at the news conference, "Not at this point."

He said his administration has "just begun getting the reports back from our group on the Energy Council."

Reagan Has Nothing To Say About Nixon

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan won't say whether he thinks President Nixon should resign.

When the Watergate scandals first broke, Reagan solidly backed Nixon. But the governor's public support gradually has lessened in recent weeks. And at a news conference yesterday it diminished for the first time to "no comment."

"I'm not going to comment on this at a time when this matter is before the courts and he has offered all of his memoranda, tapes and whatever else to the court and when he is meeting with the legislators and the party leaders and is coming to meet with us. I'm not going to talk now," said Reagan, the frontrunner in the Gallup Poll for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon plans to meet with Republican governors at their national conference next week in Memphis, Tenn. He has been conferring this week with Republican congressmen as part of a Watergate counter offensive.

Asked whether he will offer the President any advice on how to restore his credibility, Reagan answered: "I'll bet you a lot of us (governors) would have some suggestions for him." He declined to elaborate.

The 62-year-old Californian, who opposed Nixon for the 1968 GOP nomination but strongly supported his re-election in 1972, dodged a question about whether he would back a pro-Nixon resolution at the governors' conference.

Reagan was asked whether his refusal to comment on two separate occasions at the news conference resulted from a feeling he had been burned politically by past support of Nixon and former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

"No, not at all. If anyone is trying to read anything into my not commenting, they're just kind of violating the facts," he said.

"I'm trying to say that to retain my position of not discussing this subject in view of the present circumstances, it's like taking the fifth (amendment). I can't answer one and then refuse to answer another one."

After repeated questioning, Reagan said: "I have not changed my position." Did that mean he supported the President? "I haven't changed my position."

Reagan also declined to discuss his own presidential future.

Kissinger Returns Home Buoyed By His Successes

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned to the United States today from a 12-day, 10-nation diplomatic trip, buoyed by his success in getting the Mideast shooting stopped and further improving US relations with China.

The most noticeable effect on Kissinger of his global trip, covering 24,400 air miles, was a more bulging waistline resulting from numerous diplomatic banquets.

Kissinger was pleased that the previously "messy" Middle East cease-fire had become fully effective and that the Arabs and Israelis had started talking to each other for the first time. He foresaw definitive peace talks ahead between the old foes.

From China's leaders, Kissinger got the impression that — as a prelude to full Sino-American relations — they were not putting as heavy emphasis as before on their demand that Washington drop its longtime ally, Nationalist China.

Kissinger was due in Washington around 4 p.m. EST and was expected to promptly be in contact by telephone with President Nixon at Key Biscayne, Fla.

After that, one of Kissinger's first appointments will be a get-together with Soviet ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Planning ahead, he will meet with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday morning on his successful peacemaking tour through the Arab world and China. And he intends to hold a news conference in Washington Tuesday afternoon.

While Kissinger failed to get the Arabs to lift their oil boycott of the United States because of American support of Israel, his visits to Cairo and other Arab capitals helped pave the way for the first direct Arab-Israeli peace talks.

In Peking, lengthy talks by Kissinger with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai apparently produced a thaw in Sino-American relations to the point that establishment of full diplomatic relations between the two powers now appears not far away.

During a stop in Japan, Kissinger heard of severe disruption created by oil shortages and promised to ask American oil companies to do what they can to help the industrialized island nation with the most to lose from fuel cutbacks.

From Japan, Kissinger flew to Seoul for a four-hour, 55-minute stopover during which he conferred with South Korean President Park Chung-Hee, before flying home.

Senior U. S. officials on the Kissinger flight home made these observations and disclosures:

President Nixon plans to make a second visit to the Soviet Union some time next summer.

The secretary got the impression in Peking that Chinese officials were concerned about the effect of Watergate on future US foreign policy, asking whether the detente with China might be renounced by Democrats if they came to power.

When an alert of US military forces was called Oct. 24, it was intended as a warning to the Soviet Union not to carry out a threat to move troops unilaterally to the Mideast to enforce the fragile cease-fire, and was not supposed to become public knowledge immediately. Kissinger was said to have exclaimed "good God!" when he heard of the alert on a morning broadcast following secretive planning of it running to 3 a. m.

In Japan, while there was great concern about the oil crisis, Kissinger was impressed by the fact the Japanese were "less emotionally insecure" than they had been pictured previously on the issue.

Butchers Open Key Pact Talks

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Butchers Union and federal mediators are negotiating today to avert a possible retail butchers strike on Sunday throughout California.

Marin butchers and meat wrappers in supermarkets would stop working if the strike is called. The union's contracts in both Northern and Southern California expired Nov. 1. Sunday has been set as the deadline for the completion of a new contract.

A spokesman at the Butchers Union in San Francisco said they "Don't know for sure" if the strike will begin Sunday.

Ford Says He Will Be His Own Man If Named Vice President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerald R. Ford said today he would not be a "rubber stamp" vice president and would press his position on administration programs no matter if they conflicted with President Nixons' views.

"I am in very substantial agreement with the President on foreign policy," Ford testified at the second day of hearings by the House Judiciary Committee on his nomination. But he said he had differed with the White House on some domestic issues and probably would continue to do so.

"I'm not a rubber stamp," Ford said. "I do differ with the President. As I have in the past, and will in the future in my new role,I will continue to try to get my views incorporated in legislative proposals before they are submitted to Congress even though they differ with others in the administration, including the President."

The House GOP leader's effort to show he would be his "own man," a phrase he used in earlier Senate Rules Committee hearings, carried over from yesterday's opening House hearing when he said he believed there was evidence of a credibility gap on Nixon's part in the Watergate issue.

The House panel has promised to have a recommendation on the House floor not later than Dec. 6. The Senate Rules Committee decided yesterday it will vote on the nomination Tuesday. Both the House and Senate must confirm the nomination for Ford to take office.

Ford reiterated his support of President Nixon on the Watergate issue, as he did in the Senate hearings.

Hunt For Ex-Novatan, Plane Off

I-J Special Report

McCLELLAN AIR FORCE BASE — There will be no further search for a former Novato man, missing in his private plane since Oct. 8, a spokesman for the Western Rescue Center here said today.

John N. Morrison, a Novato City Council candidate in 1972, was on a flight from Mesa, Ariz., to Sacramento when his single engine Beechcraft aircraft disappeared in bad weather.

Also on board the plane was the pilot's father, Harry Morrison of San Carlos and a brother-in-law, Robert Crandall of Davis.

The spokesman said Morrison last was heard from about 4 p.m. Oct. 8 when he radioed the airport at Needles, and asked for weather conditions.

Air and ground rescue teams combed the rugged terrain between Needles and Sacramento for several weeks, according to the spokesman, who said Morrison's failure to file a flight plan hampered rescue efforts.

The 33-year-old Morrison was a managing partner in an investment firm and moved to Carmichael last April. He ran unsuccessfully for the council in April 1972.

His wife, Eileen, and the couple's two children, Christopher and Melissa, live in Carmichael.

Arrest Made In Kidnap Case

A San Francisco woman was arrested last night on suspicion of kidnapping a Petaluma woman Nov. 2.

Olga Alexis Liubinsky, 43, was arrested by San Francisco police on a Petaluma warrant charging kidnap. She was booked into city jail on $50,000 bail and scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Sgt. William Reed said Barbara Powers, 35, of 1727 Pauline Way, Petaluma, accused Mrs. Liubinsky of taking her captive for three hours on Nov. 2 as part of a dispute between the two families.

Mrs. Powers said the woman came to her home at 9:15 a.m. and forced her into her car at gunpoint. She said she was handcuffed and driven around the Petaluma area for three hours.

Police said Mrs. Powers was released unharmed at 12:35 p.m. a half block away from her home.

Democrats Seek Equal Air Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Wednesday introduced legislation which would give the major opposition party a chance to respond to presidential television and radio appearances.

The major opposition party would receive equal time in terms of length and audience potential.

Two Four-Day Holidays Are Being Sought

The Marin Association of Public Employees yesterday recommended that county supervisors give employees holidays on the Mondays before Christmas and New Year's this year.

Frank J. O'Connell, general manager of the association, the extra time off would fight the energy crisis by helping conserve gas and electricity at Civic Center.

Under terms of the association's contract with the county, employees are entitled to four-hour work days on Dec. 24 and 31. Since Christmas and New Year's fall on Tuesdays, the time off would give employees four-day holidays.

"Considering the fuel consumed by 1,000 employee commuters and the amount of energy used to heat and light the county facilities, we request that the board of supervisors consider keeping the Civic Center and other facilities closed for the entire four-day period," he said.

Novato Will Back State Park Bond

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will support the $250 million statewide park and open space bond on the June ballot according to director Lester S. Russell.

Commissioners Wednesday endorsed the measure, which would return $90 million to local jurisdictions for land acquisition and development.

The commission also recommended that the city staff confer with bidders on proposals for leasing land at O'Hair park, Russell said.

The city has received about 17 lease proposals, including a plan by Western Weekend Inc. to have its annual country fair at the site. The majority of proposals involve horse activities, including a show ring.

Atom Is Termed Energy Answer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nuclear power plants are the only way to assure the nation's future energy needs, the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday.

"It would be nice if a neat solar package or geothermal or wind or tide or whatever would solve all of our energy problems and leave the government inviolate," said Dr. Dixy Lee Ray, "but that is not going to happen."

Dr. Ray addressed the annual conference of the Atomic Industrial Forum and the American Nuclear Society.

She said fission power plants now provide 5 per cent of the nation's electrical power. If fusion reactors prove feasible, 40 per cent of the nation's electricity could be produced by nuclear power by the year 2020.

Attorney Says Policeman Faces 'Death' If Placed In Prison

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A defense attorney for convicted murderer Darrell Cain today told a jury that if the former Dallas policeman was sent to prison for the Russian roulette slaying of a 12-year-old boy it would be "a possible death penalty."

"You are dealing with the life of Darrell Cain—husband and father," attorney Phil Burleson pleaded.

The jury found the five-year veteran of the Dallas police force guilty of murder yesterday but under Texas law the panel also must determine whether the murder was accidental or intentional and assess the sentence.

"Probation is the only proper punishment," Burleson said. "If you put Darrell Cain in the penitentiary where he will be subject to the abuses of the people he helped put there during his 5 ½ years as a policeman, it will be a possible death penalty."

Prosecuting attorney John Sparling said probation would be nothing more than "telling me that it's just not important enough—that Santos Rodriguez was just plain not important enough.

"What would you have done if Santos Rodriguez killed Darrell Cain under the same circumstances?" he asked the jury. "You would have thrown the book at him. Yoa would have locked him up and bent the key.

"Darrell Cain was comforted by his fellow officers after the shooting. David Rodriguez (Santos' brother) sat in the back of a squad car for five minutes while his brother dripped blood in his lap.

"Somebody even went to the trouble to take the handcuffs off him (Santos) before he was photographed."

Subpoena Of Nixon Left Open

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The judge in tte Ellsberg burglary trial yesterday turned down—but only temporarily—an attempt to subpoena President Nixon to hand over White House tapes recording the birth of the "plumbers" and the Ellsberg investigation.

Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer denied the request by Egil (Bud) Krogh's defense lawyer. Krogh, former top presidential aide John Ehrlichman, David Young and convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy face trial on conspiracy and burglary charges for allegedly dispatching the White House "plumbers" to burglarize the files of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist during the investigation of Ellsberg for the Pentagon Papers leak.

Krogh's attorney demanded, at a pretrial discovery hearing, that the presidential tapes be subpoenaed. He said they would confirm the defense contention that the defendants, all former White House aides, were acting as federal officers carrying out presidential orders in investigating Ellsberg.

Playground Equipment Purchase Is Approved

Shoreline Unified School District trustees last night authorized spending up to $1,000 for playground development at Bodega Bay School, according to Supt. Kenneth D. Barnes.

The funds were authorized after trustees heard a report from residents who have developed a site plan, including tree planting and natural amphitheater at no cost, Barnes said.

Parents, teachers and pupils have been working on the project since last spring and it can be accomplished with volunteer help and "little money," he said.

Shoreline Unified School District Board Also:

SIDEWALK — Received an estimate from Joslin Bros. of Point Reyes Station that building a sidewalk along Shoreline Highway from Mesa Road to West Marin School would cost $2,525.

ENGLISH — Received a report that state testing in October, 1972, showed that high school seniors "did significantly poorer in English" than in other subjects and sixth graders "were a little below in English." Trustees directed Barnes look into starting a program with emphasis on basic English.

FINANCING — Received a report from Ernest Bodnar of Stone and Youngberg, municipal financial consultants, on the method of financing building of classrooms via a nonprofit corporation and a lease-purchase agreement. The board, which has faced three bond measure defeats, is considering other ways of financing.

TREES — Received as a gift from Judge and Mrs. David Baty 50 trees for planting at West Marin School.

TEACHER AIDES — Hired John Miller as a fulltime teacher aide at West Marin School and Loretta Chase and Jonnie Mayerson as halftime teacher aides.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20 at Tomales High School.

Foundation Has New Director

A 31-year-old Pennsylvania man is the new director of the Marin Foundation of Friends of Arequipa.

Kenneth Lee Miller took over the position Oct. 25 and opened the new offices of the foundation in the Masonic Building at Fourth Street and Lootens Place, San Rafael.

Miller was born and reared in southeast Pennsylvania. He did a four-year tour of duty in the Air Force, and was graduated from Westmont College in Santa Barbara. For two years he has been employed at Mount St. Joseph's Home for Girls in San Francisco.

Governor's Manse

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The current governor's mansion in Jefferson City was built in 1871 and extensively remodeled in 1957, when newly elected Gov. James T. Blair Jr., refused to live in the ramshackle house.

Assurance To Growers On Pacts

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Growers obtained assurance from Teamster officials yesterday that the union would honor 305 farm labor contracts signed during the past year.

"We assured them that we have the legal and moral obligation to honor our contracts and we intend to enforce them and represent the workers," Teamster General President Frank Fitzsimmons said after a 30-minute meeting of grower and teamster officials.

The meeting ended speculation the Teamsters had agreed to give up some of the contracts, stop organizing in the fields and give jurisdiction to Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Union of America.

After talks broke down with the UFW, many growers signed Teamster contracts and threatened legal action when it was announced in September that an "agreement in principle" had been reached with the UFW and the AFL-CIO.

"What you classify as an agreement was merely a discussion of facts," Fitzsimmons said. "We tried to reach an accommodation but were unsuccessful."

He said he was no party to an agreement in principle and added, "there were legal problems to be straightened out, and I was told there would be no publicity on the matter until it was consummated."

Jurisdictions Outlined By Airport Land Panel

The newly formed Marin County Airport Land Use Commission will have jurisdiction over the area around Hamilton Air Force Base as well as Gnoss Field, chairman Michael W. Sweeley reported yesterday.

At its first meeting at the Marin Civic Center, Sweeley reported that the commission's scope had been extended by law to include military airports.

The commission's task is to develop a land use plan for private property around airports, including the power to set building heights and building standards, including soundproofing.

It will have veto power over actions and regulations of local agencies and its denial of development plans can be overruled only by a four-fifths vote of the city council in the area involved or the board of supervisors in unincorporated areas.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the land use plan will be "a very important legal document which could affect people and cost them money," and will have more force than the Marin County General Plan.

Commissioners agreed yesterday the first task will be to set the boundaries for its land use plan, potentially several miles on each side of runways and several miles of each end of the runways; boundaries that could include most of Novato and a part of San Rafael, near Hamilton.

By drawing lots, commissioners drew the following staggered terms, Sweeley and Norman E. Dean, four years; Dixie Conway and Joseph Y. Seminario, three years; Evelyn Johnson, two years, and John F. Schlette, a term to expire May 1, 1974.

A seventh commissioner is to be appointed by the commission and Sweeley requested that persons interested in serving, particularly residents of San Rafael, send applications to him in care of the Marin County Planning Department.

The majority of commissioners are from the Novato area and they expressed the belief that San Rafael should be represented because city land is likely to be affected.

Sweeley was elected chairman and Dean vice chairman. The commissioners agreed to meet on the first and third Wednesdays at 2 p.m. at Civic Center starting next month, with the next meeting scheduled at 2 p.m. Nov. 28.

Farallones Bill Advances A Step

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Public lands subcommittee has given approval to a bill designating 171 acres of the Farallones as perpetual wilderness area.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Philip Burton, D-San Francisco, would ban buildings, motorized vehicles and commercial enterprises from the islands off the Golden Gate.

The islands are regularly visited by sea lions and are a nesting spot in summer for up to 200,000 birds.

Big Springs State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Of 75 "first magnitude" springs in the United States, 17 are in Florida, the greatest number of any state. These springs discharge 100 cubic feet of water a second, immense when it is realized that the discharge of a single cubic foot a second would satisfy the water requirements of an average American community of 6,000.

General Seeks His Star Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Brig. Gen. Samuel Koster has asked the Army to restore a second star and the Distinguished Service Medal he lost in 1971 on grounds he failed to investigate adequately the 1968 My Lai massacre, it was disclosed today.

Koster, 53, commander of the Americal Division at the time of My Lai, submitted his request to Army Secretary Howard H. Calloway about two weeks ago, an Army spokesman said. He said Koster had asked that his record be cleared completely.

In a separate request, Koster asked to retire from the Army Dec. 1. The general, now deputy commander of the Army Test and Evaluation Center at Aberdeen, Md., has been in the Army for 31 years.

Tree Had A History

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Connecticut's giant Charter Oak was a symbol of freedom for almost 200 years. In 1687, the tree served as a shelter for the state's Royal Charter. A violent windstorm toppled the oak, which measured 33 feet in circumference, in 1856. A band played a funeral dirge and a memorial poem was written for the occasion.

A NEW WINE AND AN old FRENCH CUSTOM.

Nouveau

On November 16th your favorite gourmet or French restaurant may be serving the Gamay Beaujolais Nouveau 1973 from our vineyards.

We were inspired by a French custom, but this wine is made in California by one of America's oldest wine making families.

Call your favorite restaurant and ask if they'll be serving our Nouveau wine. If not, in another week try your local wine merchant. This unique wine may not be easy to find, but it's well worth looking for.

ON THE AGENDA

St. Raphael's Mother's Guild Holiday Festival Set Sunday

The 16th annual Mission Holiday Festival of St. Raphael's parish will be held Sunday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the school in San Rafael.

The festival is sponsored by the St. Raphael's Mother's Guild as a benefit for the school's educational material and equipment fund.

Chairman is Mrs. Geno Soldavini of San Rafael.

Workshops have been meeting since midsummer preparing hand crafted gift and boutique items. Chairmen of the workshops are Mmes. Arnold Bertolli, sewing; Leonard Pechanic, candlemaking; John Rossi, plants and terrariums; Robert Schilling, shell windchimes and macrame; Frank Noonan and Chuck Thelan, dried plants and flower arrangements; Earl Cummesky, dolls and stuffed animals; Domenico Vescovi, woodwork and decoupage; Thomas Sinna, jewelry; Soldavini, felt and mobiles; Arlin Mummert, stationery; and Mmes. Juan Ferrer, candy. Mmes. Ed Steacy and Henry Tiedmann are chairmen of the bake sale, and other committee chairmen are Mmes. Ken Philo, white elephant sale; John Alioto, breakfast and lunch; Vincent Boyle, grab bags, and Emil Boracchia, gifts.

STEWART HUME will be the speaker Monday for the meeting of Marin Branch American Association of University Women, at 9:30 a.m. in the Livermore Room at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Hume is vice president of the Bank of America's multi national division. His talk, "Multi National Corporations and You" will cover the growing internationalizing of business.

A luncheon in the Pathfinders Tea Room at the center will follow the program.

Chairmen are Mmes. B. J. Evans of San Geronimo and Martha Olson of San Rafael. Reservations chairman is Mrs. Andrew Ragnes, and Mrs. George Phillips is child care chairman.

MEMBERS OF El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet Monday at noon at the home of Mrs. Christian J. Matthew in Greenbrae.

A luncheon will be served by Mmes. Henry F. Clouette, Walter A. Hansen, Frank E. Rossman and Charles W. Thissell.

Following lunch Mrs. Earl J. LeMieux, state chairman of DAR schools, will speak on the schools, and Mrs. George H. Rigler will discuss the DAR insignia.

A MEMBERSHIP campaign for the Cornerstone Club will be launched Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Refectory restaurant in Greenbrae.

The club is being formed to raise money for new facilities for the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

Museum guild members who have formulated plans for the club are Mmes. Donald Buttaro, Charles Bowman, Peter Charles, Eugene Clahan, Robert Davies, Robert Logan, William McCormack, R. Michael Mertz, Robert O'Neil, Gerda Strohe and Harold Zlot.

THE MARIN Young Women's Christian Association will offer a program on low cost toys Monday at 8 p.m. at the YMCA in San Rafael.

There will be an exhibit and demonstration on how to make toys from "found" objects.

"BUTTERFLY BAZAAR" is the theme of the annual fundraising event which the Mill Valley Senior Citizens will give Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Mill Valley Recreation Center, 180 Camino Alto, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Ben Petrini, coordinator of the club, is chairman. Chairmen of the booths are Mmes. Walter J. Meyer, plants; Richard Heiman, handcrafts; Frank Bernard, boutique; George A. Moser, bakery; Clarence Johson, raffle; Miss Muriel Horrocks, food, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rogan, white elephants.

NEWCOMERS CLUB of Central Marin is having a luncheon Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at the Fondue Factory in Larkspur.

THE LANDMARK Society will honor John Thomas Howell, curator emeritus of California Academy of Science botany department and author of the book, "Marin Flora," with a party to celebrate his 70th birthday on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at Old St. Hilary's Landmark in Tiburon.

THE MARIN Chapter of Clipped Wings, United Air Lines Stewardess Alumnae, Inc. will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Victor Bacigalupi in Terra Linda. Mrs. Richard McLean of Terra Linda will be co-hostess.

A work session will be held to make Christmas decorations for Marin House and Madera House, homes for mildly retarded girls, which the chapter helps to support.

FESTIVAL

Garage Full Of Goodies

As a team Marilyce LaNoue and her 21-year-old daughter, Suzanne, have actively participated in the past eight Marin Festival of Trees.

The garage of the LaNoues' home in San Rafael is filled with Christmas decorations and materials that will be used to create items to be sold at the ninth annual festival, which will be held Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Suzanne began contributing to the festival when she was 13. She exhibited a five room doll house, which she had decorated. The LaNoues bought the doll house, which now sits in the garage, but occupying a prominent spot in their living room is a miniature room, designed and created by Suzanne, also sold at the festival — to the LaNoues.

"WE HATE TO see things go, so we buy them ourselves," Mrs. LaNoue said.

A native San Franciscan, Mrs. LaNoue began ballet dancing professionally when she was 7. She later attended the Pasadena Playhouse. The staging and lighting expertise she gained there has been used by the festival's sponsors, the Guilds of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

SUZANNE HAS had little formal art training.

"I was going to take a class in interior decorating at College of Marin," she said, "but the teacher said there was nothing he could offer me."

When the first festival was held in the banquet room of a San Rafael restaurant Mrs. LaNoue helped with the staging and lighting effect. Last year's move to the auditorium proved her greatest challenge, turning the enormous room into a Christmas wonderland, she said.

Huge wreaths, garlands and giant banners will hang from the ceiling, and wooden crates will be left in their natural state for displays. The crates will also be for sale, since Mrs. LaNoue has discovered they are in great demand.

SUZANNE IS DECORATING plastic trees with ornaments she has created herself. All decorations are wired on the trees.

Her best ideas come at night.

"I dream about them," she said.

Mrs. LaNoue added that they both work best about midnight.

The LaNoues save some of their creativity for their own tree, which is decorated all in white with shiny satin balls and crystal prisms.

Hours of the festival are Nov. 30 from 6 to 11 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

THIS COZY room is actually a miniature created by Suzanne LaNoue. It was sold a few years ago at the Marin Festival of Trees — to the LaNoues, who buy many of the things they make because, according to her mother, Marilyce LaNoue, "we hate to see things go."

WORKING IN the garage workshop in their San Rafael home, Mrs. John LaNoue and her daughter, Suzanne, wire ornaments on to a tree that will be for sale at the Marin Festival of Trees, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building. All ornaments are designed and made by Suzanne, who helps her mother with the lighting and staging of the festival.

Bazaars Offer A Good Time For All Concerned

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bazaars are a time-honored way of raising money for a worthwhile cause while at the same time giving people a good time for their contributions.

And if they are a venerable institution, they also are up-to-the-minute because they mean community participation and provide a way for people to interact with their neighbors to help each other.

Now there's a book out to help the would-be bazaar organizer — Dorothea S. Briton's The Complete Book of Bazaars, Coward, McCann & Geoghegan. The book is concise, well-written and of particular interest to first-time fund-raisers.

It offers many helpful hints including tips on forming committees, utilizing diverse talents to best advantage, displaying merchandise and raising working capital.

The useful advice and thoughtful discussions cover many areas, ranging from the principles of merchandising to those of dividing labor and dealing with people. For the reader who wants even more ideas than the book presents, there is a list of publications and places to find additional assistance.

Mrs. Britton's suggestions have application well beyond the world of bazaars. Her excellent list of supply sources, for example, might be used for numerous other purposes. Similarly, readers interested in making inexpensive and attractive gift items and in planning playtime projects for children also will be rewarded.

For whatever purpose this book is used, the reader will find it easy to follow. Not only is the text eminently readable, but the numerous photographs and line drawings are uncluttered and clear.

A Formula For Fresh Evergreens

NEW YORK (UPI) — To preserve evergreens of all types, use this formula:

To a gallon of hot water, add and mix four tablespoons micronized iron plant food, two cups of light corn syrup and four teaspoons of chlorinated household bleach. Pound evergreen stems for two inches and immerse in this mixture. Add formula as the level evaporates. The suggestion is from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Marinites Taking Part In Production

Marin women in the cast of the Children's Theater Association of San Francisco's production of "Noah and His Friends" are Mmes. Thomas Belshe and Peter Charles of Kentfield and John Rende of Greenbrae.

The original production will be presented tomorrow at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. at Presidio Junior High School in San Francisco.

Dry Pine Cones Before Using Them

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you plan to use fresh pine cones in holiday decorations, dry them out first or you may find that their sticky juice will ruin table linens or furniture. The juice is called pitch.

Line a cookie sheet with aluminum foil and spread the cones on this. Put them in a warm oven not more than 200 degrees F. for an hour. The pitch will melt onto the foil. Old cones saved from year to year don't need this treatment. They are dried out.

'Jorie Talks' To Spotlight Cats

Cats will be the topic next week for the daily broadcasts of "Jorie Talks" at 9:30 a.m. on KTIM.

San Anselmo veterinarian Dr. Albert L. Philbrick will discuss cat birth control on Tuesday and Wednesday and also give care and feeding advice.

Persian cat breeder Shirley Colabella will talk about the Marin County Cat Fanciers show to be held Nov. 24 and 25 on Thursday's show, and Patte LaBlanc will discuss Abyssinian felines on Friday.

Host Jorie Parr will review the American Conservatory Theater production of "Oh Coward!" on Monday.

Telephone Shopping Can Be Helpful

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the mother with small children, the person with physical limitations or just someone looking for a way of saving time and bother, mail or phone shopping is a convenient method of holiday gift buying.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Old-Fashioned Block Parties Might Be Good Solution To Feuds

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a person who has lived on both sides of the fence: when my children were young, we had elderly neighbors who hated kids, and now that I'm older, the neighborhood children make me see that my former complainants had a point or two.

So I can understand how both parents and the old folks feel, when they write to you about either "the little brats next door" or "Old Lady Screamer."

Wouldn't it be nice if everybody could see the other side? Most children don't harass childless people on purpose (unless they've been yelled or chased a lot). Most elders could learn to enjoy kids if they weren't so sure the kids were "out to get them."

Maybe what mixed-age neighborhoods need are more friendly get-togethers between adults so that everyone would understand others' problems better. An old-fashioned block party or a few coffee klatches might go a long way to solve feuds. Right? — MRS. BEEN THERE AND NOW THERE

DEAR MRS. BTANT:

HELEN:

You talk only of the elderly hating neighborhood kids. Move it up to about age 45. In the summer of '69 I almost had a coronary attempting to get three families of brats out of my front yard. These poor excuses for humans stomped down my iris plants. I've prayed many a day they would drop dead or something.

Another thing: my own kids aren't much better. They never show anything but contempt for what we do. When they had somebody stay overnight they drove me out in the yard by turning up the TV and then yelling over it. I get so angry thinking of that experience I can't even spell, so please correct my mistakes.

Well, no more.

I worked like a dog, doing without shoes and proper clothing and not having proper medical care when I was young. I remember sometimes we'd be without bread between paychecks, and "meat" was soup bones boiled with vegetables. We'd bathe in the laundry water because we couldn't afford both soap and washing powder.

Do our kids appreciate how much we give them? No! So now they get nothing much as a result. I won't slave for them. When they want something to eat, they fix it or go to a drive-in. They clean up the kitchen or it stays dirty. I don't allow sleep-overs or parties. Why should I work if they don't?

I'll be glad when the last one is gone, and we can live far, far away from all of them! — 45 AND FED UP

DEAR 45:

If you raised your kids on a diet of "look how much you have when I was starving at your age" it's no wonder there's a feud going on at your house.

It's too late now, but your letter is a great stand for the affirmative in the debate, "Are some couples better off childless?" — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, in care of the Independent-Journal.

ON BEING BLACK

Broadcasting Needs A Sweeping Image

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

"I'd just turn off the sound and call the plays myself!"

"My God, what do women want? As far as I'm concerned, football is my lifeblood."

"How could they call the plays? Most women don't know the difference between a football and a basketball."

"If you have to listen to a female voice, you might as well turn off the set and listen to your old lady. Same thing."

"Sure, women should be able to get jobs, but I'd really appreciate it if they would leave football alone."

THESE STATEMENTS were made by males in response to a poll regarding attitudes toward female broadcasters, particularly in sports. The survey of 50 males and 50 females indicated that both sexes preferred the male voice to the female in broadcasting. The poll substantiated the "female-voices-lack-credibility" argument long given by radio and television stations for not hiring or hiring very few women for these positions.

This is a clear-cut example of the effect of institutionalized sexism in this country. For far too many years we have been subjected to only males reporting and discussing issues of importance via radio and television.

Due to this conditioning, many of us respond only to a male voice with any degree of seriousness. We go for a snack when some "broad" comes on the airwaves. Traditionally, she has been the weather girl, Miss Nursery School Teacher or Ask Cynthia (about stain removal).

Also limited to the male domain are weekend and week night sports events. To someone's credit, along with the ubiquitous voice of Howard Cosell, we now hear a Southern voice and some black voices. But to date we hear no female voices.

The involvement of women in professional athletics and sports broadcasting is particularly pertinent because the lack of female interest in this arena is important enough to be listed as one of the nationally stated reasons for the increasing divorce rate. Perhaps if little girls had been allowed freely to participate in football and basketball in the past, today many women would have a greater understanding and appreciation of sports, thereby creating a source of mutual enjoyment, rather than estrangement, for men and women.

SOME CHANGES are taking place. On the national scene, there have been a couple of female sports writers. But college students are leading the way. Several college newspapers have, in fact, female sports editors. In broadcasting, one San Francisco Bay Area television station regularly allows its female newscaster to report the sports news. However, she's on at 5 a.m. and noon. Males still handle the prime-time evening and night news sports coverage.

Most of us, male and female, insist we have nothing against equal privilege for the sexes, but it will be believable when the game of the week is called by a Mrs. Russell or a Miss Cosell, and the ratings don't take a nose dive.

Milk Case Losses Boost Food Costs

Missing milk cases, used to carry milk to retail outlets, is one of many items which is contributing to spiraling food costs, states the California Department of Food and Agriculture. The annual loss to dairies and creameries in the Los Angeles marketing area is now up to $3 million, and up to $200,000 in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The cases, whether lost, strayed or stolen, are in use as a rack for tools, or for use in summer campers.

NEW OFFERINGS SHOWN

Knitwear Is Italy's Main Export

By LOGAN BENTLEY LESSONA
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

ROME — Knitwear earns more foreign-exchange currency for Italy than shoes or oil, and twice as much as automobiles.

Although the Italian government has the Foreign Trade Institute to promote export sales, it took a privately financed group to organize a proper showcase for Italian knitwear.

The Bologna Trade Fair, born in 1965, has organized knitwear shows in its impressive fairgrounds for the past two years. The recent exposition, featuring spring-summer clothes for 1974, is the fifth of the biannual shows.

Growing each season, the most recent show featured 522 companies in 11 pavilions covering 45,000 square yards.

UNABLE TO compete with the low-cost garments produced in Korea, Formosa and Hong Kong, most Italian knitters are concentrating on high quality, imaginative design with details often finished by hand, for a higher-priced garment.

For the coming winter, the basic color seems to be camel, followed by forest green, rust, and burgundy. Solid colors alternate with various forms of stripes and bold geometric patterns, some plaids, and endless jacquards. The layered look is achieved by giving a two-piece look to a single garment, for example, by outlining a vest over a turtleneck sweater, or using contrasting colored sleeves.

For the next summer MATO features the transparent, or bare, look on most of its evening sweaters. "We are having to use lesser fibers to stay within our price range, but we still work mostly with cashmere and silk," said a spokesman for the house.

Many of the sweaters with wide deep necks and long sleeves combine ribbing on the body with scallop pattern on the sleeves or vice versa for a more interesting look. Or they combine a nearly transparent look on the sleeves with a shadow effect on the body, or else have cut-out patterns on the front or sleeves.

Scholarship Applications Being Taken

Applications are being taken by the Zonta Club of Marin for the Margaret Cuthbert memorial scholarship, which will be awarded to a Marin woman student who has completed her first year of college in Marin.

The scholarship, in the amount of $200 or more, will be awarded Jan. 31, 1974.

Deadline for applications is Dec. 15.

Applicants will be judged on community interest, academic excellence, need, and qualities of character, according to the club's service committee.

Applications are avilable from Mmes. Americo Oberto of San Rafael, Richard Poer of Corte Madera and Harriett Klock of Larkspur.

Completed applications must be returned to the Service Committee, Zonta Club of Marin, P.O. Box 841, San Rafael, by Dec. 15.

Tonsil Removal May Be Unwise

There is evidence that when the tonsils are removed so are a good many antibodies against bulbar polio, and pediatricians are now saying tonsils may be worth saving.

Doctors are advising parents that the operation to remove the tonsils and in some cases, the adenoids, is useful in only about two to 10 per cent of children.

Agathe Bennich's Brush Has A Broad Intellectual Range

By ADA GARFINKEL

Agathe Bennich, one of the eight Bay Area painters whose works are exhibited in the College of Marin's current painting and sculpture show may be one of the most original painters ever to make an appearance in this area.

Her vision and presentation are uniquely and skillfully handled and span a broad intellectual and humanistic range.

Miss Bennich favors circular formats and bright, but not garish, colors. "Ancestors" is a two-part work comprising a large circular format and an adjacent smaller, more ovular form. A reclining female figure and a male torso — the latter in relief — bound the perimeters of the large circle, with 10 small ancestral portraits individually and randomly recessed in circular depressions within the canvas.

In "Self-portrait," the artist's candid portrait faces us, mid-center. She is surrounded by a series of ovals and circles attached to a huge chromium-mylar covered template. These miniature canvases show internal and external views as might be seen by a radiologist, a gynecologist, a dermatologist, and even a horticulturist.

Chuck Eckart's clean, light-filled "Commuter Series" is also in the "new realism" mode.

The six exhibitng sculptors, all by the faculty of Chico State College, demonstrate a range of expression from Ken Morrow's virtuoso bronze-and-wood adaptation of Leonardo da Vinci's flying machine enfolding his cringing knight, to Southern California's obsession with plastics and optics.

The latter is strikingly exemplified in Val Zarin's "Opard I" — a slim, 24-inch wall hanging of milky, opaque plastic within which are implanted fluorescent red and green plastic blocks.

James McManus's floor sculptures of basic industrial metals, draw upon the expressive, flowing linearity of graphics.

Pop-art ceramic sculpture moves into the ecology arena in Vernon Patrick's three-foot high, leaded-glass and wood cabinet crammed with fiery-orange "inflated" lustreware udders. The roof of the case explores the situation further in three ceramic plaques showing progressive stages of erosion.

Other artists included in this invitational show are painters, Gary Allen, Allan Brooks, Robert Quagliata, Richard Rodrigues, Fred Herschleb, and Tony Williams — the latter two from Marin. Jan Wagstaff's sculpture is woven and Winston Meadoren's sandwiched plastic hanging grids utilize both paper collage and polished metal screws.

This exhibit in the college Fine Arts Gallery will continue to Dec. 14. Viewing hours are weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin County, story is just one night's activities in 1962 in the lives of four boys. Some suggestive sex scenes and scruffy language.

"Bang the Drum Slowly" — A poignant, valuable lesson for young people in this story. A young baseball catcher is really not very talented, when his teammates discover he is dying of Hodgkins disease they join forces to help him. Some rough language.

"Cold Turkey" — Satirical comedy about a town that gives up smoking for 30 days. The best and worst in people is exposed. Sex is recommended as substitute for tobacco, profanity is frequent. Bizarre ending.

"Harold and Maude" — A heavy-handed film about an 80-year-old woman teaching a mixed-up, suicidal young man to enjoy life including marriage to her.

"Paper Moon" — Sophisticated comedy drama recreating the 1930s. Salesman-con-artist agrees to deliver a 9-year-old orphan girl to an aunt. The child is tough, smokes and swears and outswindles her mentor.

"Show Down" — Beautifully photographed western tells of boyhood friends who are on the opposite sides of the law as adults. They both love the same woman. Some vulgarisms.

"Westworld" — Science-fiction tale of a tourist resort peopled by robots identical to humans. They provide romance and life and death experience in three different settings. (Boxoffice Magazine)

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Blood on Satan's Claw" — In 17th Century rural England a satanic cult spreads and people develop "devil's skin." By amputation and grafting all the component parts together, they hope to resurrect the Devil. Sex, violence, nudity.

"Cabaret" — A bawdy musical about a pre-Nazi Germany. A kinky English girl who is completely amoral aborts a pregnancy when the paternity is unsure. Entertainingly presented but very sophisticated.

"Charley Varrick" — Well cast suspense drama has violence, salty dialogue and strongly suggestive sex sequences. A small town bank robber inadvertently steals secret Mafia money. His efforts to escape their wrath is crux of film.

"Cops and Robbers" — The incredible adventures of two New York policemen in robbing the Stock Exchange and using the Mafia to fence their take. Although cynicism behind this black comedy is not healthy, the film is a gem of the big heist genre.

"Executive Action" — Among the theories about the assassination of John F. Kennedy is that it was a conspiracy of right-wing fanatics. Mixture of fact and fiction does not present the case in a convincing manner, it lacks tension and suspense. Well known actors play key roles. (Products Digest)

"Images" — Erotic fantasies of a deranged young woman form the thread of this overlong study of the torments of a psychopathic murderer.

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers" — A staid married man's three attempts to commit adultery. Cast is good but jokes all center on his conflict between desire and guilt. Plot gets repetitive.

"Live and Let Die" — This latest James Bond tale has less sex but the usual violence and gadgetry and murders. All the bad guys are either from Harlem or voodoo believing islanders.

"Man Who Loved Cat Dancing" — A runaway wife grows to love her robber-abductor in this violent western. During the long flight and chase, rape, brutality and murder are heaped on audience.

"Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid" — Audience becomes brutalized in this story of sheriff tracking Billy the Kid through New Mexico. Sex, nudity and cursing.

"Play It Again, Sam" — Woody Allen in a one-joke comedy about a neurotic movie buff. His wife leaves him and his bumbling efforts to score with dates is humorous. Frequent sexual references.

"Soylent Green" — Science-fiction presents chilling view of future. In solving a murder a detective uncovers an ugly truth about society. Sex scenes and violence.

"Touch of Class" — Sophisticated French bedroom farce. An expose of the difficulties inherent in an extra-marital affair. Frank sexual scenes and language.

ADULTS ONLY

"Fists of the Double K" — Another Hong Kong import of Karate/Kung Fu, bloody and interminable plus attempted rape and a homosexual baddie. (Catholic Film Newsletter)

"Midnight Cowboy" — A young Texan comes to New York to work as a male prostitute. He is exploited and then befriended by a crippled cheap chiseler. Their relationship contains hard-hitting depressing scenes. Well acted.

"Siddartha" — Allegorical tale about a young man in ancient India who is seeking the meaning of life. Beautiful photography but wordy and slow-paced. Sexual scenes very explicit.

Christopher's In Sausalito Offers Customers Plenty Of Place To Park

Sausalito is usually a pretty busy place at night.

But one of downtown Sausalito dinner problems is parking. Southern Marin residents are used to it and may not mind it so much, nor do those who come over from San Francisco. However, people from Central and Northern Marin aren't inclined to drive to Sausalito unless they know what they can do with their cars. Restaurants that have their own off street parking are at an advantage.

There are some other places that don't have a problem. At the moment, one that is a real "sleeper" in more ways than one is Christopher's at Johnson and Humboldt streets — right off the Bridgeway and visible from it, on the old Sausalito Yacht Harbor. The restaurant is on the second level where windows overlook the berthed boats. And at night there are all kinds of berths for cars.

Christopher's is in a recently constructed building put up by Bradford McNutt, and he and his wife Lynn decided to operate the restaurant themselves. They hired Guy Falchi, with a lot of food experience to manage it, and Tom Wilkins, whose chefing in England would make a story in itself, to run the kitchen.

It seats about 80 people, has a cocktail lounge and bar. The decor throughout is purposely simple but nice — nice enough for dressing up, casual enough that you need not overdo it.

The menu is in today's moderate price range and the food is good. Specialties are fresh seafoods, and one that I enjoyed immensely was the albacore a la Christopher's. I'm surprised that fresh albacore (tuna) isn't served at more places. It's delicious. There are also shellfish, broiler items and chicken and combinations like steak and lobster and steak and prawns (which is less expensive). Add also appetizers and some fine salads and desserts. For an after dinner drink try Guy's special "Sausalito Mariner."

And Tom has some nightly chef's specials at $3.95 you might like served up to 8 p.m. These may be beef bourguignon, beef brochettes or some other and include soup or salad and coffee or milk.

Christopher's is closed on Mondays and no lunches are served at any time (parking spaces are all taken up during the day anyway). The new food set-up hasn't had a chance yet to catch on — but make no mistake, it will.

Made hit in London

IF YOU PLAN on dining out on Thanksgiving instead of at home, it's not too soon to get on the telephone and make advance reservations.

With the large number of restaurants in this area to cover, it is not our policy to attempt to list those places offering Thanksgiving dinner in this column unless they volunteer that information. The list would be too long for this page. But you can count on about 50 per cent of them being open, with the rest closing that day so owners and their staffs can do their own celebrating. Among the openings, Alvarado Inn and Nero's at Ignacio and Le Chateau Restaurant in San Rafael are available.

Some restaurants serve practically their entire menu on Thanksgiving, with the addition of turkey. Others will offer turkey, usually ham, perhaps duck and two or three other items. Check on this when you phone.

GUY FRANCOZ phoned me that he and partner Gilbert Duquesne will have Le Camembert (on Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley) open for Thanksgiving dinners, serving from 4 to 9 p.m. They will feature their regular Continental menu, also turkey. Definitely make reservations.

And while you're there you might just enter your reservation for New Year's Eve which will be here before you realize it.

LARK CREEK IN at Larkspur is another place that has reported its Thanksgiving plans — which are slightly different from its usual "no reservations" policy.

For this occasion, dinner reservations are now being taken for four seatings at 3:30, 5, 6:30 or 8 p.m. and will be held for a 15-minute period. I'd advise making it on time, for Lark Creek is a busy place and undoubtedly there will be someone to take over your table if you aren't there.

Full course Thanksgiving dinner will consist of soup or salad, entree (choice of turkey, prime rib, Long Island duckling or ham), beverage and either mince or pumpkin pie. Price will be $7.50, with half-portions for children at $4.50.

Meanwhile manager Terry Fischer has opened the upstairs room for more luncheon space. (Unless there's a big change in the weather and a lot of drying out the patio just isn't suitable).

IT'S TIME AGAIN for another anniversary party at Shipwreck Pete's in Novato and this year Pete and Doris Lind will hold it next Wednesday night — the day before Thanksgiving (when Shipwreck Pete's will be closed). As I reckon it this should start their fifth year.

The party starts at 7 p.m. and you can expect to see plenty of food — another suckling pig, seafoods, barbecued this and that — with Pete acting as the master chef. But don't take the youngsters along as it is for adults only.

For entertainment, Johnny Allair will be downstairs and Terry Ryan will be upstairs. Everyone has a good time at these affairs — and this year you shouldn't have any trouble finding the entrance road from the 101 Highway.

There's lots of parking space.

I SEE THAT I should have mentioned this last week and somehow missed it — Executive Lounge in San Rafael now has a new menu which features prime rib on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Chef Mark Lesley is also offering throughout the week such items as steak and lobster combination and duck l'Orange among his regular dinner entrees.

Hot hors d'oeuvres are now being served in the lounge Mondays through Fridays from 5:30 to 7 p.m. And owner Don Bernard reports that he still has a few nights open for parties of 30 to 50 during the holiday season.

The Executive Lounge will not be open on Thanksgiving.

NOW OPEN AGAIN is the Fondue Pot in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, after several weeks of closing due to fire. No lunches are served here (except for groups by special appointment) but dinners are available every night except on Monday.

SINGER NANCY VALENCIA has moved to Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate for Friday and Saturday night appearances and you'll find her in the lounge, accompanying herself on the Baldwin organ.

Nancy is quite versatile in her singing. She does popular songs, rock, swing, some Latin-American, and though she modestly professes not to be the organist her mother was, she does some clever harmony on the keyboard to go with her voice. It's one thing to play solo — quite another to be a good accompanyist, even for yourself.

Schoonmaker Development Plans Stolen

A Volkswagen bus owned by Val Charn, an architect for the controversial Schoonmaker development was broken into Wednesday in Sausalito and plans, drawings, correspondence and economic files dealing with the proposed residential and commercial project for the Sausalito waterfront were stolen, according to Henry Alexander, Schoonmaker publicist.

The theft occurred during a public hearing into the project, attended by about 100 persons at Central School on Caledonia Street, Alexander said. He pointed out that other items of value were not touched. A report was filed yesterday with Sausalito police.

Alexander also said there have been two break-ins at the offices of Environmental Systems Inc., headed by Steve Siskind, a Schoonmaker representative.

Stolen in the burglaries were plans dealing with the Schoonmaker development. Those thefts were not reported to police, Alexander said.

Widow Of Talk Show Host Asks $10 Million

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The widow of radio talk show host Marv Gray, who died of a heart attack after police mistakenly arrested him for drunken driving, filed a $10 million wrongful death suit against the city Wednesday.

Mrs. Lillian Gray said her husband suffered from cardiac hypertension and was on medication when he was arrested for erratic driving Nov. 6. The suit alleged Gray died because he did not receive any medical care at police headquarters, where he was given a drug by a nurse. No doctor was on duty. After his release, Gray was driven to radio station KFI where he collapsed and died.

Mrs. Gray based her $10 million claim on grounds her husband was a "person of national stature, a writer-author, lecturer, news commentator, publisher and world traveler," who earned more than $100,000 a year.

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.

If we're to keep up with the competion in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.

Corporate Profits Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Corporate profits declined slightly between July and September, the first quarterly drop in after-tax earnings of American business in nearly three years, the Commerce Department reported today.

The department also said the economy grew a little more slowly and prices rose at a slightly faster pace in the third quarter than was tentatively reported last month.

The revisions did not alter the fact that inflation remains high while the economy's growth rate is in the neighborhood of the target the administration thinks is suitable for steady, long-term expansion.

Other figures released yesterday showed that in October the nation's economy cranked out automobiles, steel and other goods at a healthy clip and the foreign trade situation improved significantly.

After-tax profits of corporations totaled $71.5 billion in the July-September quarter, a drop of $100 million from the previous three months, the Commerce Deartment said today. Profits had grown $6.6 billion and $4.7 billion in the first and second quarters of the year.

Department analysts blamed the slowdown on a falloff in the production of automobiles and other durable goods in the summer quarter.

In dollar terms, the GNP grew by $32.5 billion in the third quarter to $1,304.5 billion ($1.3 trillion).

In a separate report, the department said wages, salaries and other income rose $9.2 billion in October compared to $11.2 billion increase in September.

The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday that American factories increased production by 0.6 per cent last month, a sizeable figure considering that some industries are now running flat out with no room left to expand.

The rise was in line with monthly increases throughout 1973, with the exception of August, when a temporary auto production slowdown forced the first output decline in two years.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported significant improvements in the US balance of payments with foreign trading partners in the July-September quarter.

The official reserve transactions balance strengthened by $1.7 billion in the third quarter, moving from a narrow $400 million surplus to $2.1 billion in the black. While not the best barometer of long-term international economic relations, since it includes the effects of volatile short-term capital flows, the balance does serve as a good indicator of the strength of the dollar in relation to other major currencies.

Another measure of the US international economic balance sheet, the liquidity balance, swung from a $1.5 billion deficit to a $1.1 billion surplus supplies in the third quarter.

A strengthening in the US trade balance reported last month, which included heavier exports and a decline in imports, was chiefly responsible for the balance of payments improvment. Heavy buying of Wall Street securities by foreign investors also played a role.

For November, output of consumer goods and business equipment made strong gains, but production of industrial materials, where capacity is tightest, was little changed from September.

PAVILION FOR EXPO '74 TAKES SHAPE

When completed, a vinyl canopy will hang from this 80,000 pound, 55-foot diameter steel ring assembly — housing the U.S. Pavilion at Expo '74 in Spokane, Wash. The ring and canopy will be suspended from the top of the 150-foot tower in the center of the circular pavilion, giving the structure a tent-like appearance. (UPI Telephoto)

Coastal Ban On Building Is Approved

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The North Central Coast Regional Commission last night agreed to deny any applications for construction in Stinson Beach for which county building permits were issued after Oct. 31.

The policy statement made moot the county's position that it must continue issuing building permits until a construction ban is adopted officially next month by the State Water Resources Control Board.

The staff of the state board has warned the ban will be retroactive to Oct. 31 even though it probably will not be adopted until Dec. 20. The Oct. 31 cutoff was set in September when the ban was asked by the Regional Water Quality Control Board, which cited the pollution threat posed by adding septic tanks in the Stinson Beach area.

The chairman of the regional commission, Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum, said he would seek to reverse the decision by the county counsel's office to continue issuing permits.

The decision was made by Deputy County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. He and Wornum are expected to compete next June for the Democratic nomination for state Assembly.

Mansfield Calls For Gas Rationing To Ease Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield charged today "we are dilly-dallying while the economy burns," and called for gasoline rationing as soon as possible to ease the energy crisis.

President Nixon's energy adviser, John A. Love, also reendorsed rationing as the best way to conserve gasoline rather than a gas tax boost to deter consumption. Love and other administration spokesmen doubted that rush action was warranted.

Mansfield said in a Senate speech during debate on a fuel emergency bill that there will be a recession next year unless the nation attacks energy problems effectively now.

While pleading for fast action on the bill to give the President power to order rationing, lower highway speed limits and restrict uses of scarce energy, Mansfield said it appears the Senate would not act on the measure until at least Monday because of numerous changes senators were trying to make in the measure.

The Senate approved an amendment which would give the President discretionary authority to bar exports of scarce fuels. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, R-N.H., first proposed yesterday that Nixon be compelled to ban such exports for the duration of the emergency.

But Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said friendly countries such as Canada and Mexico would think the action "hostile ... selfish ... cold-blooded" and McIntyre agreed to make the proviso discretionary.

The Montana Democrat added: "Unless something is done, mark my words, it'll mean recession in 1974."

He said among the consequences of delay or ineffective action to combat the energy crisis could be industry shutdowns with resultant cuts in production and high unemployment.

Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., agreed with Mansfield. "The nation is in deep trouble if we don't do something about energy," he said.

As for rationing gasoline, Love said he felt this was the most effective way of conserving the fuel, particularly since he said it was doubtful Congress would "act in a reasonable time" to impose a deterrent tax.

Several administration leaders are at odds on the question of rationing vs. taxing. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz is against rationing, and suggested yesterday that the situation was not as serious as portrayed by some. Presidential counselor Melvin R. Laird endorsed not only gasoline taxes but taxes on other fuels, plus electricity, as well.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton has forecast rationing by early 1974, or sooner, while some Treasury officials have warned that rationing would create a "nightmare" of problems.

Love said in an interview on the NBC-TV Today show, "We think that we do not have to simply rush into a solution in the next month or two." He said that "even if we cut back on gasoline immediately, it would not react immediately on the areas we have the greatest need —the distillates, the heating oil, diesel fuel and so on."

Love said "we'll have a plan ready to implement ... quite soon," although that did not mean people would be in place. "If we go to rationing, it's going to have a large bureaucracy," he acknowledged.

Shultz told newsmen raising the tax on gasoline, perhaps with an income tax break for low-income drivers, might be better than a rationing system with its huge operating requirements.

Besides, he said, Americans could probably deny themselves just a little and get out of the mess without hurting the economy.

Code Too Onerous? Change It For All

Marin County's planning director has proposed that some ordinances which apply to everyone else should not apply to residents of a commune near Bolinas.

Specifically, Planning Director Werner von Gundell would exempt the Paradise Valley commune from zoning regulations and building permit requirements.

HE WOULD DO it, he said in a memorandum to the county planning commission, because subjecting the commune to all the regulations would be too great a hardship on it.

Terming the commune an experiment in a new life style, he suggested: "Ways should be found to adapt the county's regulations and procedures in order to allow such experiments a chance to survive."

Von Gundell wanted the planning commissioners to discuss the proposed exemptions in private, "during a coffee break or over dinner." To the credit of the commissioners, they spurned that proposal.

What the planning director asked was that residents of the Paradise Valley commune receive special treatment rather than equal treatment under the law. And apparently he hoped to accomplish this without the public's becoming aware of it.

PUTTING ASIDE the audacity of such a proposal (to say nothing of its illegality), and putting aside also the questions of the county's responsibility to foster "new life styles" and of the planning director's authority to engage in sociological experiments, von Gundell's proposal merits some consideration.

Marin County's zoning regulations and building permit requirements may be too restrictive. Many people think so.

The red tape involved in getting permits for minor jobs is particularly onerous to "do-it-yourselfers." Without question, many building alterations are made without permits.

The zoning regulations, as administered by the county planning department, provide a lot of headaches for builders — especially small builders.

IF THE ORDINANCES and regulations are too complicated, and force too much expense, maybe they should be changed — but for all, not for a special few who are trying a "life style" that the county planning director wants to encourage.

The family man who is trying to add a room to his home, working at night and on week ends, is entitled to relief, if anyone is. The builder who would like to provide low-cost housing but finds it impossible because of the code requirements is also entitled to relief, if anyone is.

The plight of the Paradise Valley commune members seems to have aroused the sympathy of the planning director. Apparently it has caused him to believe that bureaucratic red tape makes it unnecessarily expensive to build.

That being the case, we suggest that the planning commission consider which requirements are onerous and unnecessary and recommend that they be abolished for all — not just for a selected few practicing a "new life style" whom the planning director would like to place above the law.

Two Tiny Ones

Next to the hummingbird, the smallest birds in Marin probably are the lead-grey bush tit and the friar-capped chickadee. Both are round and plump and quick, and give the appearance of being happy and carefree. The bush tits are flying about in flocks in the fall, rarely staying more than 15 busy minutes on any one shrub or tree. Chickadees are more satisfied to stay in smaller numbers in a smaller area. Both birds are searching and eating like mad, in an instinctive laying on of fat to provide heat for the impending cold.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Convert Trash To Energy? Sacramento Ideal Place

By RUS WALTON

Some fellow here in Sacramento is recommending the city fathers investigate a new process that converts garbage and trash into energy. He says there is a way to take such stuff and transform it into gas and power for heat and light.

In our present energy crisis, his suggestion may have a great deal of merit.

It is especially appropriate that such a suggestion would be raised in this Babylon on the banks of the Sacramento.

PROBABLY NOWHERE in this golden state is there a greater collection of garbage than the trash that piles up at the state capitol, year after year.

If that engineer's theory is correct, and if garbage can be converted into useful energy, there should be enough power potential here to heat and light a large area of California.

Each year the legislature spews forth thousands and thousands of bills and resolutions and amendments. Many of them find their way into new laws and rules and regulations. All of them cost us taxpayers money and deprive us of that much more freedom.

Each day millions of useless words spew forth on petty politics and personal vainglories. Reams and stacks of papers are typed and xeroxed and filed and shuffled back and forth by thousands of bureaucrats. Red tape rolls forth by the mile.

Now, the experts tell us that by the year 2,000 the legislature will need double its present floor space to care for the growth in state files, state workers, and empty coffee cups.

If, as that sanitary engineer says, we can transform all that junk into heat and light, we could go a long way toward solving the energy crisis for years to come.

THERE'S A BIG HEAD of steam building around here for prison reform, a big drive being geared up for the 1974 session.

I'm all for prison reform — as long as it doesn't get out of hand or out of the bounds of reason.

Individuals who are convicted and imprisoned for their crimes do not lose their basic rights. They are still human beings and should be treated humanely.

Certainly the young and first offenders should not be thrown into cells that make them easy pickings for the deviant and the depraved, the addict or the homosexual.

No inmate should be thrust into a situation where he might become a victim of a prison race riot or a gang war.

But, let's get one thing straight. Society has a right — in fact, a responsibility — to protect itself from those who violate the law and the law-abiding. Not out of vengeance. Out of common sense.

The purpose of prison is threefold: to protect the public, the punish the lawbreaker, and to help those inmates who are willing to be rehabilitated. That is the reason for these so-called correctional institutions.

"What tapes?"

Advertising Helps Hike Price Of Milk

Starting Nov. 1, we are paying 10 cents a gallon more for milk in the Bay Area.

Agriculture Director Christensen says the latest increase is due directly to spiraling dairy feed costs.

This is partly true; the extra cost is due to television advertising. The dairy farmer now pays a penny on each gallon of milk into a state-collected advertising fund.

This fund spent $4.2 million in the past year to bring you Spitz, Diller, Boone and others, giving testimony on the value of drinking milk.

In 1937, the legislature passed a law giving the California Agriculture Department the power to assess farmers for agricultural research, education and crop inspection. The writers of the law also included sales promotion . . .

Now most of the money is going into television commercials. During the past year, $21 million was collected from California farmers for advertising . . . In five years there has been a 161 per cent increase in spending for advertising. It is about time that the public should protest the actions of the California Agriculture Department . . .

Eventual Tax Saving By Limiting Water

Your article (Nov. 8, page 7), "Water Bond Loss To Affect Taxes," reporting statements by Marin's Assistant Assessor Herschel Johnson and others, especially Dan Deedy of the Marin Board of Realtors, seemed short-sighted to me. What they say (higher taxes) might be true in the very short run but in the long run the effects of a stable state of Marin's physical system (i.e., roads, schools, fire/police protection, water supply and most importantly, that ever-growing pollution) will become manifest, it will mean less taxes and a still better place to live.

Engineers have always known that all physical systems have limits as well as an optimum size. Yet developer interests always seem to think in terms of infinite growth.

We all know now that making more and bigger roads will not make life better for us in Marin. (Policy makers and planners please copy.) The people of Marin have spoken by defeating two water projects. Thank heavens! We live in a democracy.

Nixon's Record Known In Other Countries

Would that every American could spend some time abroad and see his country in perspective, learn what people of other nations think of us, our policies and even our system of government. After six years out of my country I'm afraid I suffer the frustrations of all good Americans who love their country and all they think it stands for. There can be no doubt that the Nixon administration (what's left of it) has brought this country to its lowest point in world opinion let alone domestic policy. By the way, how many of us can now name the Nixon cabinet?

Surprising how much better memories foreigners have than we. They speak of the beginnings of the political career of Tricky Dick (their name). They remember the dirty tricks in his campaign against Jerry Voorhis. They speak knowingly of the doctored pictures in his campaign against Helen Gahagan Douglas. They wonder about Nixon's friendly overtures towards Soviet Russia and relate that to his crucifixion of Alger Hiss for ideas far less radical . . .

Small wonder that people of other countries scoff about what we call American democracy — a system which enables a Nixon to reach one of the world's most important positions and thumb his nose at the American people while he retains that office in the face of overwhelming rejection. . .

I appeal to my fellow Americans to call a halt to this tragi-comedy. Let us prove Mr. Nixon wrong and Mr. Lincoln right. You can't fool all of the people all of the time!

Value Of 50-Mile Speed Limit Questioned

I for one have to question the wisdom of the president's plea to reduce speed limits on freeways to 50 miles per hour. Obviously such a move will save some fuel, but just how effective is such a move? Three things make me wonder, first my automobile uses less gas at 65 m.p.h. than at 10 m.p.h. or while driving in any city. Second, every morning through my bus window I watch at least 100 cars crawl along Route 101 into San Francisco. Third, without a change in the number of automobile trips during commute hours, reducing the speed limit will tend to stack cars on the freeways, thereby causing greater unnecessary fuel consumption.

It seems logical to me that if we provide incentives, positive or negative, for people to leave their cars at home during working hours, not only would we save a considerable amount of fuel but we would also improve our air quality, reduce the congestion in our cities and towns, and possibly save all of us some time.

We have a perfect opportunity to convince people that public transportation is a necessity in the future. I hope we don't squander it on superficial expedients like reducing freeway speed limits.

Small Comfort For Republicans At Polls (Very Small, Indeed)

WASHINGTON — Somehow in all the fuss about the White House, the Middle East, gasoline rationing and Kissinger in Peking, we overlooked the hot news that Republicans won two out of three seats on the school board in Webster Parish, La.; Mrs. Mina Hiddon, a Republican, won a seat in the Oklahoma State Senate; George W. Cripps, a Republican, won a levy court commission position in Kent County, Del., and GOP mayors were elected in Meridian, Tupelo and Laurel, Miss.

These are only a few of the plums that the Republican National Committee's magazine, First Monday, which must have the most resourceful research operation anywhere, plucked out of nowhere to cheer up readers of its November issue.

Uncharacteristically, the magazine passed up the opportunity to cite your previous ignorance of these glad tidings as the result of a conspiracy by the Deep Southern, or Southwestern, or Middle Atlantic daily press. Elsewhere, it took a normal roundhouse at those villains ("WHERE IS THE 'COMMON DECENCY' OF THE LIBERAL PRESS?" a headline asked objectively).

IT ALSO MADE SPORT of its "Democrat of the Month," the unlucky Rep. William V. Chappell Jr. of Florida. It picked him for his "convenient loss of conscience and a lapse of integrity that his constituency should weigh in his reelection." This had to do with a conflict of interest allegation against him, the magazine explained.

"Boo on Rep. Chappell!" it booed. "If he is that naive, he shouldn't be in Congress. If he isn't that naive, then he shouldn't be in Congress, either . . . Bone up on special privilege, Congressman, using yourself as an A-1 example."

Yes. Reserving the right to be uncharacteristic now and then, myself, I pass up comment.

HOWEVER, THE SUBJECT matter of all this, of what First Monday finds deserving of its oblique attention, insists on a few words. It is the electoral prospects of the Republican Party in the months and years immediately ahead. They are not bright.

One week after the optimistic developments in Webster Parish, Kent County and Tupelo, more widespread off-year elections were held.

First Monday handily went to press too early to report on them. In them, the Democrats won the governorship and legislature in New Jersey, the mayorships in New York, Louisville and Minneapolis, and a series of other elections in which the candidates were nominally nonpartisan. The choice of Ohio's Sen. William Saxbe to become attorney general leaves his successor to be picked by Democratic Gov. John Gilligan.

Also too late to classify came the Louis Harris poll on nationwide voter preferences for the congressional elections of next year. Overall, it showed the Democrats ahead by 22 per cent — exceeding even the survey results in the Democratic landslide year of 1964, and comparing with a 56-44 per cent Democratic margin in the actual congressional results last year. Worse for the GOP, this trend showed in every geographical area, without exception, and in every age group. The best the Republicans could do was in small towns and rural areas (35 per cent) and among voters over 50 (36 per cent).

Though it has fluctuated slightly, that downward movement in Republican expectations has been constant throughout these months of scandal disclosures. There is more yet to come.

SHOULD THESE FIGURES stand anywhere near this point a year from now, and on the assumption Mr. Nixon remains in office then, the effect of a substantially heavier Democratic congressional majority will be devastating to any program advanced by an already battered lame duck.

Thus partisans of the Republican Party, as differentiated from the Nixon White House, face a depressing dilemma. Should they worry about the survival of individual candidates, such as those running for the school board in Punxsutawney and the levy court in Dover, and forget about the national party as personified by the president?

Again, the contradictions are illustrated in First Monday. For awhile back there, you could skim it in vain for any mention of Watergate. Currently, it has caught up to the extent of running the choicer excerpts from Pat Buchanan's successful joust with the Watergate committee seven weeks ago. What you have to look for in vain this month is any mention of impeachment, or resignation.

New War Powers Law Puts Responsibility Where It Belongs

WASHINGTON — In all candor, I suddenly find myself disagreeing with all the criticisms being made of the new "war powers law" which seeks to make Congress a partner in any decision by the president to use American troops in foreign combat.

Some commentators argue that the whole thing is a sham because it won't work.

Some Democratic liberals who opposed it argue that the new law actually expands the president's warmaking powers because it spells out circumstances in which Congress agrees he can act alone by only reporting to Congress afterward.

Some Republican conservatives contend that the act is a reckless attempt to curtail the authority of the president as commander-in-chief to cope promptly with future contingenices which in today's complex world cannot possibly be foreseen.

Finally, there is the view that Congress has acted unwisely on the ground that the war powers law will persuade potential aggressors that the United States will be so slow to act that it will no longer be a deterrent to war.

THERE IS AN ELEMENT of truth in all of these arguments — but not much.

The new law, passed over Mr. Nixon's veto, provides that the president must report to Congress within 48 hours if he commits U.S. forces to combat abroad or even substantially increases combat troops in a foreign country. Such use of American forces could not continue more than 90 days without congressional approval.

What's wrong with that? Congress is not trying to accomplish the impossible. In today's nuclear world it would be impractical to reclaim the exclusive authority to declare war as provided in the Constitution nearly 200 years ago. Governments no longer send diplomatic notes announcing they will attack at some early date. We were at war with Japan before President Roosevelt went to Congress on Dec. 8, 1941, asking for a formal endorsement of what had already occurred.

Congress is placing no impractical restraints upon the president. It is not taking away any of the power of the president to act quickly and flexibly. It is simply saying that in doing so the president must have congressional approval as soon as possible.

I see nothing wrong with that.

IT MAY BE that this congressional effort to reclaim a share of the warmaking power may not hold up if it is challenged in the Supreme Court. It may be ruled unconstitutional on the ground that the powers of the president cannot be altred by an act of Congress, that they can be decreased or increased only by constitutional amendment.

That may be true and we will likely find out in due course. But I think it doesn't matter very much whether the war powers law remains on the statute books. What is important is that Congress has affirmed one of the crucial lessons of the Korean and Vietnamese wars. By an overwhelming vote, it has proclaimed a tradition, which will mature and strengthen as time goes on, that the American government will not engage in a long-sustained foreign war without the approval of both the president and Congress.

This tradition will not need a formal law to sustain it because that is the way the American people want it and it is very sensible to want it that way.

PRESIDENT HARRY S TRUMAN put the United States into the Korean war without going to Congress, and he later saw that it was a grave mistake. President John F. Kennedy transformed a policy of economic aid to South Vietnam into a policy of military participation, and I am sure that if he had lived he would have realized how grievous a mistake that was.

What is evident beyond argument is that the American people will not long support U.S. participation in a foreign war unless it is supported decisively by both the president and Congress — and shouldn't be asked to do so.

About-Face On Tough Rules Against Building In Marin

"Codes May Relax On Farm Commune — Planning Chief Proposes Waiving County Rules." So read the startling heading on the I-J front page this week.

Von Gundell, the "carpetbagger" chief of planning, proposes a "partial or complete" waiving of building code requirements under a set of guidelines tailor-made to match those at Paradise Valley, near Bolinas. And he proposes that certain sections of county subdivision ordinances, building codes and zoning permit requirements except those regulating overall density be waived to encourage experimental life style.

That's the bully boy who has for the past several years been dragging down big chunks of your do-re-me for telling you where and how you and any of your friends, who might wish to come and join our happy family, should live. What next? How about the man and his wife who have saved and bought a bit of land to build a home on to spend their retirement years but are refused a building permit because the home when finished would obstruct the view of passing motorists for 14 seconds? Nuts!

I HAVE BEEN getting considerable static about the antics of the mysterious "Save Marin" group who so frantically worked against Measure E — the water bonds. The folks tell me that Tina Ferris is not registered to vote!

Jack Felson, the water district director, who acted as her co-conspirator, came to Marin about eight years ago and operates Forest Farms, a children's camp which is a large water consumer.

The story in the I-J covering election night told of the two bubbling over with glee, calling the election fantastic, and that they were planning their next step to stop population growth.

Well, legend has it that a king in olden times went down to the water edge and commanded the waves to stop. It seems the old boy got splashed on and his feet wet. He was deeply chagrined.

Goodbye, Rock And Roll; Gatsby's Goes Non-Electronic

Live music at Gatsby's in Sausalito, Caledonia Street's moribund jazz and rock hangout, is considered by the city "a legal nonconforming use." Translated from planning department esoterics, that means they were boogying at Gatsby's before the zoning laws were written.

The club is in the process of being sold and the new owner wants to phase out live music and replace it with pizzas washed down with drinks.

His application for a restaurant permit was granted by the planning commission on condition he ban the evil amplifier from the premises.

It was a beneficial swap for both sides: the city getting rid of whining rock and roll that had long been the object of citizen complaints and the new owner getting his pizza pies and gin fizzes.

BUT ONE RESIDENT appealed the planning commission decision to the city council, moaning that "African style drums" rattled the windows on the fire house a block away and tumbled sleeping citizens from peaceful repose.

The appeal made little sense from the start. It was like looking the proverbial gift horse in the chops. But councilmen listened to complaints and hashed over the problem for more than an hour.

And you know what they finally did? They outlawed the microphone at Gatsby's. That is like booting General Grant out of his tomb. First no amplifiers and then no mikes? The big bopper would roll over in his grave.

Actually it was a moot point from the start. You don't have to be the sound man for the Grateful Dead to know that a microphone is no good without an amp. One venerable councilwoman came to the rescue of the microphone at one point. "There is nothing wrong with a mike," she said. "It's those little boxes that the sound comes out of that are the problem."

Councilmen agreed that Gatsby's could have pizzas if singers sang without aid of electronic equipment. Acoustic pianos and guitars are okay, and even drums, the noisy fire house shakers, may continue to be pounded.

At the end of all this, a fellow reporter turned to me and asked, "Correct me if I'm wrong, but wasn't the city making out pretty well on this permit thing in the first place?" I nodded. "Well, if I were Gatsby's," he observed, "I would book the Mormon Tabernacle Choir for a weekend gig. Without microphones, of course."

SAUSALITO! The name is resonant with warmth and romance. A great name for a high-energy place. It makes me wonder if its citizens will give up a small plot of history from which that name is derived.

There is a tiny willow grove at the north end of town along Bridgeway, complete with trickling stream. Long ago, it was where water was collected and barged to parched San Francisco by Capt. William Richardson.

It was the pulsing source of life for the town then and the little willows were known affectionately in Spanish as saucelitos. The name, spelled slightly differently, stuck for the town.

The grove is on the site of the proposed Whiskey Springs project and the developers say it will be preserved as "visual open space for the public." Does that mean Mr. and Mrs. Citizen can look but not touch? It seems that the patch of earth and life that bore the city deserves a more respectable fate than to be left in the hands of a developer who would surround it with townhouses and bars.

AMC Earnings At Record Level

DETROIT (AP) — Riding the crest of the small-car wave, American Motors Corp. reports it has already tripled its 1972 earnings of $30.2 millions.

AMC reported Wednesday net earnings of $86 million, or $3.18 per share for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, making 1973 the most profitable year in the company's history. The previous high was $60.3 million earned in 1959 when AMC had virtually no domestic competition in the small-car merket.

Former POW Wins Divorce

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Former prisoner of war Navy Cmdr. Raymond A. Vohden received an uncontested divorce from his wife of 13 years yester-day.

Mrs. Bonnye Jean Vohden, 34, filed for a divorce during the time her husband was a POW but later withdrew the action. Vohden, 42, filed for a divorce on May 7.

Did Richardson Get Cold Feet?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has questioned the account given by Elliot L. Richardson of the events leading to the firing of Archibald Cox as Watergate special prosecutor and Richardson's resignation as attorney general.

The White House denied that the President suggested Richardson was lying or that he called for a Senate investigation of possible perjury.

The difference of opinion emerged from Wednesday night's meeting by Nixon with a group of Republican senators on the Watergate situation.

One of the participants, Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, quoted Nixon as saying that Richardson originally backed the President's decision to fire Cox but then changed his mind.

Other accounts said Nixon had used the term "liar" in reference to his former cabinet officer.

The White House issued a statement saying: "What the President told the senators was that there are several versions of the events that led up to the discharge of former special prosecutor Archibald Cox and that Mr. Richardson was simply articulating one of those versions.

"Any suggestions that the President accused Mr. Richardson of lying or called for a Senate investigation involving perjury are simply not true."

Sen. Paul Fannin, D-Ariz., who was also at the Wednesday meeting, agreed with the White House account of the President's presentation.

Bennett commented: "My memory is that the President was careful to say that Richardson's memory was bad or that he was mistaken. The President said he thought Richardson had acted in his own self-interest but he didn't condemn him for that."

At issue was Richardson's stand during the time before and after Nixon proposed a compromise plan by which Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., would have screened Nixon's taped conversations about Watergate. Cox was fired when he refused to accept the plan and insisted on continuing his efforts in court to obtain White House documents and materials bearing on Watergate.

Richardson resigned rather than obey the President's order to dismiss Cox.

Bennett said the senators were told at the White House that Richardson had been advised that "up to a certain point, if a contingency occurred, Cox would have to be fired and he agreed with it.

"But as the time came close, Richardson began to get cold feet. Richardson moved from a position of support for the President's plan to a position where he did not support it."

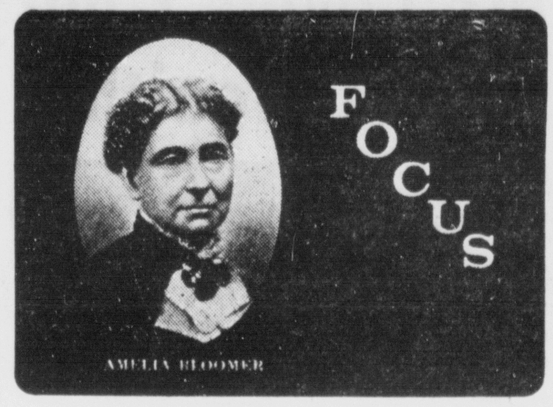
Lights Of Vegas Are Turned Off

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — The "bright lights" of Las Vegas, which have drawn tourists into gambling resorts for decades, failed to click last night because of the energy shortage.

Owners of gambling resorts on the Las Vegas "Strip" and in the downtown area known as "Glitter Gulch" agreed earlier in the day to voluntarily leave neon signs off to conserve energy.

Shortly after dusk yesterday the glamorous resort hotels along the "strip" remained dark and downtown Las Vegas casinos did not turn on the miles of neon lights which normally put torth more candle power than daylight.

Workmen could be seen atop a section of the downtown Fremont hotel unscrewing some of the connections by hand. Some rewiring will be required in some hotel signs.



Newsword Adventure

Many women's names have entered our vocabulary. In 1851, a devoted campaigner for women's rights, Mrs. Amelia Bloomer, recommended a new fashion for women. The wide, loose trousers gathered at the ankle under a short, full skirt soon became known as "bloomers." The word "maudlin" is a variation of Mary Magdalene's name. In religious art, she is usually pictured weeping. In 7th Century England, St. Audrey's death of a throat tumor was said to be punishment for her fondness for necklaces. Cheap lace neckties were later sold as "St. Audrey's lace." This term was contracted to "tawdry lace." Today, tawdry means gaudy, and vulgarly ornamental.

DO YOU KNOW — After whom is the drink "bloody mary" probably named?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER — Jackson Pollock painted "Blue Poles."

Post Levels Charges At Prepaid Health Programs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post yesterday harshly criticized the shoddy, deceptive and sometimes illegal practices used by California's 48 private prepaid health programs (PHP) to serve welfare recipients.

In a 50-page report, the veteran analyst made 20 major recommendations to curtail the practices including new penalties for misrepresentation to recipients and thorough audits of the medical programs.

Assemblyman Henry A. Waxman, chairman of the Health Committee which requested the report, said the flaws pointed out by Post "seriously threaten PHPs in California."

Currently, about 200,000 recipients receive medical treatment through the private PHPs, created by the 1971 welfare reform act. Another 1.8 million recipients are treated through the regular state Medi-Cal program.

Post charged the Reagan administration had failed to monitor the PHPs properly, that misleading sales techniques are used to sign up Medi-Cal recipients and that the quality of patient care appears to be substandard.

The report also said two of the largest plans with nearly half of all recipients enrolled in PHPs were charging the state more than the regular Medi-Cal program. This overcharging is forbidden under state law.

A. ALAN POST
Twenty recommendations

"The state just appears to be playing it by the seat of their pants," added Tom Dooly, an assistant legislative analyst.

"The problems kind of got out of control."

"There is a great lack in the monitoring of the quality of care delivered by the PHPs," he added.

Administration officials acknowledged that some serious problems did exist with the prepaid health programs, but said the state recently had taken steps to cure the most flagrant abuses.

A major complaint against the PHPs has been that door-to-door salesmen, who sign up recipients in the PHPs for a commission, were using questionable tactics to obtain patients and often gave misleading or deceptive information to the recipients.

Frank Taffett, manager of the Department of Health's PHP section, acknowledged there had been a "growing number of complaints of 'misleading' statements and tactics used by sales personnel."

But he said many of the organizations had stepped up their training programs for salesmen under the threat of suspension and that his department had instituted its own monitoring system recently to verify enrollment of recipients.

Taffett said the procedures had resulted in many more recipients dropping out of the PHPs after initially signing up to rejoin their old Medi-Cal treatment program.

Post's report, however, went much further than door-to-door sales tactics. It also recommended:

That the findings of medical teams and auditors of PHPs be made public so that recipients and welfare advisors can compare rival plans.

The rate structure in which the state is charged by the PHP for services be changed dramatically to reflect more accurately the costs involved. Dooley said it appears the rates currently "are determined by who can negotiate the best with the state."

Thorough investigation of the quality of care being delivered by PHPs.

That recipients be given a handy card telling them where and how they can receive services to prevent confusion that has been rampant in the past.

For example, some recipients aren't aware until after they are signed up that they no longer will be able to see the same doctor they had under the regular Medi-Cal program.

Military Has Oil Priority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has invoked a 1950 law giving the military first crack at domestic oil supplies.

The Defense Department said yesterday the Arab oil embargo has cut nearly in half the military petroleum supply, forcing it to invoke the Defense Production Act Nov. 1 to make up the 300,000 barrel a day loss.

Arthur I. Mendolia, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics, said although major reductions have been made in military operations, 1 to 2 two per cent of the already shrunken domestic supply would have to be diverted to the armed services.

Court Upholds 'Family' Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal appellate court Wednesday upheld the validity of a Palo Alto ordinance restricting the number of unrelated persons allowed to live together in areas zoned for single families.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit affirmed a district court ruling that said it was constitutional for the city to adopt a definition of single family as "one person living alone or two or more persons related by blood, marriage or legal adoption or a group not exceeding four persos living as a single housekeeping unit."

The ordinance was adopted to limit so-called communes in the city and was challenged by the Palo Alto Tenants Union and others.

Yule Holiday Activities Set

The Novato Youth Commission is planning a series of activities for the Christmas holiday, according to recreation supervisor Larry Dito.

Among the plans is an area trip to the snow, an overnight campout at Point Reyes, a dance, a tour of city bicycle paths, a trip to a San Francisco Warriors basketball game and possibly Christmas caroling.

A basketball tournament for seventh graders will be held Dec. 27, 28 and 29 and a tournament for eighth graders, Jan. 2, 3 and 4, he said.

Vindicated Critic Of Costly Military Plane Talking Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five years ago A. Ernest Fitzgerald, an Air Force cost expert, told Congress about cost overruns in the program to build the C5A military transport plane, and was promptly fired.

Yesterday, vinidcated by the Civil Service Commission, which recently ordered the Air Force to rehire him, Fitzgerald was back, telling Congress that if some defense contractors tried to build $400 television sets they would have to sell them for $8,000 to meet expenses.

He said that while the Air Force has agreed to take him back, "I am told I will not be allowed to work in weapons systems."

Fitzgerald appeared before a joint economic subcommittee headed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the same committee to which he had told his C5A story five years and two days before.

Proxmire said that, while Fitzgerald won his battle for reinstatement, "It appears that the victory has been lost."

Fitzgerald yesterday produced a copy of an official Army study which he said showed that some defense contractors have been operating at one-half to one-twentieth of accepted efficiency levels for commercial work. That, he said, would lead to the $8,000 television sets.

He said this was a direct result of the government's failure to reward its employees and contractors for efficiency or to punish them for inefficiency.

The "discipline of that profit and loss statement," he said, isn't found in defense programs.

Congress, he said, is not helping efficiency because its idea of how to save money is to chop out selected programs rather than insist that each program be efficient.

Of the 162,000 licensed cabs in the United States, only 40,000 to 50,000 still cruise streets in major cities.

SMOKY INTERRUPTION TO A SQUEEZE PLAY

A smoke bomb interrupts the junior class's try at squeezing students into a Volkswagen, leaving them clamoring for freedom. Students at Novato High School took part in a "squeeze contest" yesterday, vying between the classes to see who could get the most students into the awaiting car. The junior class with 17 students crammed into the Bug lost to the sophomores' 20.

HEAVE — The 18th senior crams most of himself into the Volkswagen as the rest of his compatriots bend and wriggle to give him room. But even 18 couldn't beat the sophomore class record of 20 students in the brimming Bug.

Gnoss Field Expansion Is Endorsed

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A $358,000 federal grant to expand facilities at Gnoss Field north of Novato was endorsed last night by the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The grant and $89,000 in county funds will finance expansion of aircraft parking and holding aprons, expansion of the automobile parking lot, addition of an aircraft wash rack and extension of waterlines.

The work is designed to accommodate a total of 220 aircraft based at the field, compared to the count of 129 at the end of last month. The annual count of takeoffs and landings is expected to reach 180,000 by 1978, up from the present estimate of 126,000.

Board To View Minority Hiring

Tamalpais High School District trustees will consider adopting a program to seek out women and minority group members for district jobs when the board meets Monday at 8 p.m. in the Sir Francis Drake High School Student Center.

The board already has a policy requiring that these groups be sought as applicants and will consider the program to implement the policy. The program has been discussed by trustees at their last two meetings.

Chamber Board Raps Air Pollution Rules

Tough new federal regulations to cut air pollution by limiting car use drew the wrath of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Board members expressed utter disbelief as developer Nathan Jones outlined Environmental Protection Agency regulations abolishing free commercial parking and levying surcharges per parking space, among other things.

The rules would, for example, require the Northgate shopping center to pay a surcharge of $450 annually per free parking space, or more than $1 million annually.

Jones described the new regulations as the "new wisdom of people with one foot still in the tree." He declared that "no one opposes clean air, but you don't clean it up by killing the patients."

He called the regulations psychotic and said they were the work of deranged ecology advocates.

Jones's view was shared by San Rafael Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, who said the federal agency had embarked on an antipollution approach based on sheer panic. "The whole thing doesn't add up," he said, adding that he spoke only as a citizen.

The board formed a committee to look into the matter, and said it will draft resolutions opposing the regulations. In addition, individual board members pledged to write local congressmen.

School Land Out Of Bond Election

Sausalito recreation commissioners agreed last night that 20 acres at Martin Luther King School should not be included in the planned April bond election to buy open space land.

The property may not be declared surplus by the school district for several years and including it may jeopardize the passage of the bond election, according to Norman Wohlschlaeger, staff advisor.

The commission will recommend to the city council that the property, which includes tennis courts, a gymnasium, softball field and flat playground area, remain in the open space element of the general plan for purchase by the city if and when it becomes available, Wohlschlaeger said.

Reward Fund For Youth Is Started

The Independent Bankers Trust Co. of San Rafael has established a fund for contributions to Hubbard Newlin, a San Anselmo teen-ager who followed two men who robbed a Larkspur ice cream parlor last month and was shot twice for his efforts.

The 17-year-old youth wrote down the license number of the robbers' car and his information resulted in their capture.

The idea of such a fund to reward Newlin for his heroism was suggested by T. L. Torrison of Kentfield, who started the contributions with a check for $10.

R. O. Kwapil, president of the trust company, said donations should be sent to the firm at Box 1440, San Rafael. The company will hold the money, then turn it over to the teen-ager at the end of 60 days.

The trust company is a wholly owned subsidiary of Independent Bankshares Corp. which also owns Bank of Marin, Bank of Sonoma County and First National Bank of Cloverdale.

Discover the treasure at the foot of the mountain.

Old Browns Store of Mill Valley joyfully introduces 21 new treasures to the Bay Area. Only these treasures are stores. ♆♆♆Not stores in the ordinary sense. Instead, stores so unique, so dedicated to excellence, so comfortable to be in, that each is truly a treasure unto itself. ♆♆♆ And inside each store: more treasure. Plants, fish, briefcases, Persian rugs. Cheese, wine, books and cards. Minerals, shells, pottery, jewelry. African imports, stereo equipment, oils, soaps and natural cosmetics. Incredibly delicious cookies. Indescribable leather goods. ♆♆♆There are toys, too. And candy, perfume, stoneware and weavings. There are antique pictures and picture frames, art – both fine and eclectic. There's a goldsmith. A memorable restaurant . . . a Mexican/Victorian saloon (both to be open soon). And lots more good things that we'll leave as surprises. ♆♆♆ If we sound a bit like a country cousin to The Cannery and Ghirardelli Square, maybe that's not all so accidental. But neither is our redwood building built over a brook at the head of a valley at the foot of Mt. Tamalpais. ♆♆♆So come discover the treasure at the foot of the mountain. Discover Old Browns Store. It ain't what it used to be many long years ago. Right this very moment, Old Browns Store is specializing in Christmas treasure.

Merchants Asked To Cut Lights

San Rafael's commercial areas will be darker after business hours under a measure approved yesterday by the city chamber of commerce board.

The board, acting in the wake of President Richard M. Nixon's call for energy conservation, approved a resolution asking all city businessmen to turn off display window and sign lights after business hours. The measure does not include security lighting.

The resolution, which was greeted with mixed reactions before gaining near unanimous approval, urges all merchants to cooperate "so that none may have a competitive advantage at the cost of others concerned with their community's needs."

One board member called the measure "a little drastic," and another suggested that maintaining the status quo would force utility firms to meet the demand for power.

Joseph J. Garbarino had another view: "We're not short of anything. We're shipping paper to Japan and gasoline to Israel. There's a shortage of absolutely nothing, but in the meantime we're out of it," he said

Novato Family Suing Neighbors Over Dogs

A Novato family is suing its new neighbors to make them get rid of two large dogs the senior residents claim have terrorized them and fatally injured their smaller dog.

Sterling L. and Marilyn Hilen of 484 Wilson Avenue also asked the superior court to award them $25,000 punitive damages from Patrick and Deborah Buckman of 1995 Indian Valley Road.

The suit relates that the Buckmans moved into a home abutting the Hilen home last Aug. 18, and erected a high wire fence using the Hilens' lower fence for support, "to contain two large dogs known to be vicious."

On Oct. 11, the Buckmans' German shepherd and Rottweiler dogs escaped and mauled the Hilen dog, Max, so viciously the small pet had to be put to death, the suit charges. Mrs. Hilen and three Hilen children looked on helplessly during the episode, the suit declares.

The Buckman dogs threaten and intimidate the Hilen children and their friends wanting to use playground equipment near the dogs' pen or the Hilen swimming pool, the suit adds.

The Hilens asked the court to order the Buckmans to destroy their dogs or take them elsewhere.

Items For Art Sale Announced

Paintings, prints, original crafts, weavings, sculpture and ceramics will be featured at the Marin Society of Artists Christmas art sale, starting Dec. 2 at Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The sale will be 1 to 4 p.m. on Dec. 2 and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily through Dec. 22. A Christmas greens sale will be held Dec. 14, 15 and 16th.

Guitarist Will Play At College

Guitarist George Sakellariou will perform Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. in Ives Hall at Sonoma State College.

Sakellariou graduated at the age of 18 from the Hellenikon Odean Conservatory in Athens, Greece, and studied privately with Andres Segovia. He is now on the Sonoma State music faculty.

Reservations should be made in advance through the Office of Instructional Services and continuing education.

LAND

A whale of a deal on this 4.29 acre rancho. Gently sloping. Good for horses. $13,500 — $4200 down, balance over 8 years at 10%.

TO

say this place is grand does not do it justice. Top-O-La-Cresta location. Over ½ acre of garden and lawn yet with a low upkeep. 2000 sq. ft. m/l in main home features double fireplace, fantastic view from the "level" lot, family room and a huge utility-room AND wait till you see the guest cottage with its beamed ceiling and cozy fireplace. Nothing around can compare. $65,000.

KEEP

your family high and dry in this 3 bedroom home only 5 years old located on a quiet street in a very nice residential area. Room to expand this already comfortable home by developing the tremendous area under this home. Grant School district. $39,950.

YOU

can bet you haven't seen anything yet, until you see what this family did to improve this spacious 3 bedroom home located near Cherry Valley School — but "not too near." Exterior is appealing and the interior is irrestible. $39,950.

COZY

yes, but with room enough for all the kids and ma and pa, too. You'll like the warm fireplace and it has 2 baths and 3 bedrooms. Needs some sprucing up, but at $23,500 you can afford to do the painting.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE PLANNING COMMISSION OF THE TOWN OF CORTE MADERA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT the Corte Madera Planning Commission will hold public hearings on Tuesday, September 27, 1973, at the Granada School, 50 El Camino Drive, Corte Madera, California. Subjects to be considered are:

1. Environmental Impact Report on the proposed new General Plan for the Town of Corte Madera.
2. Proposed new General Plan for the Town of Corte Madera.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN THAT all persons interested in the above matter are invited to appear before the Planning Commission of the Town of Corte Madera to express their opinions on the day, at the time and in the place above mentioned.

DECLARATION OF INTENTION TO PASS PETITION

NOTICE IS HEREBY given of the intention of the persons whose names appear hereon of their intention to circulate a petition within the Town of Fairfax for the purpose of establishing a new law by an initiative ballot of the voters within the Town of Fairfax. Said initiative would annually set Fairfax Police Officer's salary at a level no lower than the average salary paid by the Police jurisdictions of Marin County. A statement of the reasons purposed action as contemplated in said petitions is as follows:

It is the firm belief of the Fairfax Police Officers' Association that in order to retain trained and experienced police officers within the Town it is essential that the officer receive a fair and competitive wage. The Fairfax Town Council has demonstrated that they are not concerned enough with keeping the wages of the police officers at a fair wage, which has resulted in this department being one of the lowest paid police departments within the county in the past. Starting in January 1974 we will be receiving a pay wage which is near the average of Marin County police jurisdictions, however in order for us to convince the Town Council of the need for the raise it was necessary for the Fairfax Police Officers' Association to hire an attorney to speak for us.

It is the intent of the petition to place the question on the ballot so the voters of Fairfax will have the opportunity to establish a fair method of arriving at a competitive salary for the Fairfax Police Officers.

Marin Parents Lead Funding Fight

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Parents of multihandicapped children, led by a group from Marin County, yesterday appealed to the state to increase its support of patients in private health care facilities.

An increase also was requested by operators of nursing homes for the elderly during a public hearing held by the Department of Health.

The nursing home operators said costs of providing care have "skyrocketed" but the state financial aid has fallen far behind and they are threatened with going out of business.

Currently, the average daily rate paid by the state for reimbursement costs averages $15.83 per patient. Operators of nursing homes and convalescent hospitals called for increasing the fee by from $1.45 to $7.

Operators of Linda Vista have said the state currently is paying $15.52 a day for the care of each patient but the actual cost is $22 a day.

Earlier this fall, the hospital's owner, Shirley D. McChesney, had threatened to close the multihandicapped unit because she said it was costing her $200 a day out of her own pocket, but last month she agreed to keep it open at least until after the state hearings.

Marin County parents of multihandicapped children at Linda Vista Convalescent Hospital in San Rafael and nearby Cedars Development Foundation in Ross yesterday appealed for an immediate "appropriate" rate increase as an "interim" remedy pending a final decision on rates by the department.

"The last thing in the world we want to do is to close down our (multihandicapped) unit," said Jack Colwell, controller of Statewide Convalescent Hospitals, owner of Linda Vista. "We have done the job for the State of California well beyond what their resources would permit us to do."

Parents of multihandicapped children at Linda Vista outlined the high-quality care their children were receiving at the hospital. They said if it is forced to close, their youngsters must be sent to state hospitals or returned home.

"Give our kids what they deserve," implored Joan Lynn of San Lorenzo. "They have gone through enough and so have their families."

Health and Welfare Secretary Earl Brian, who ordered the hearing, has said he doubts he has the legal authority to grant an increase only to Linda Vista without also granting an increase to similar hospitals.

The state Senate Committee on Proposed Hospital Phaseout asked for and received yesterday an attorney general's opinion on the issue. The opinion gave committee consultants hope that Brian did have such authority.

The opinion said the Department of Health couldn't grant an "emergency" rate increase solely to certain nursing facility but that "interim rate increases may be granted by emergency regulation upon an appropriate finding of necessity for one or more classes of providers."

The hearing was the first of a series on the adequacy of state support for the elderly and severely handicapped in local care facilities. A department spokesman said the hearing process could be "expedited" so a decision on the proposed increases could be reached as swiftly as possible.

US Communities Are Tackling Energy Crisis in Various Ways

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Communities trying to conserve fuel so there will be enough to make it through the winter have reduced garbage pickups, extinguished an "eternal flame," and in one case ordered municipal workers to ride bicycles instead of staff cars to work.

In Tallahasse, Fla., Gov. Ruben Askew repealed a rule prohibiting women from wearing slacks to work yesterday and said because state offices will be cooler during the shortage, female employes will be allowed to wear pants suits to work if they wish.

Los Angeles school officials canceled all field trips to save diesel fuel, and the city's Board of Water and Power Commissioners recommended a five-point program including rotating blackouts in which power would be cut for three-hour periods to zones throughout the city.

The mayor of Everett, Wash., ordered city workers to take bicycles instead of staff cars to work when possible, and in Durham, N.C., fines charged to speeders were increased from $10 to $100.

In Indianapolis, Ind., the "eternal flame" at the Indiana American Leagion headquarters was extinguished. The move will save only $20 a month, but legion officials said they hoped the symbolic act would encourage conservation.

The energy shortage was not confined to the Unites States. In Paris, top economic experts from 24 nations met to determine how the fuel shortages and skyrocketing energy prices would affect their economies.

And in Bonn, an economics ministry spokesmen said West Germans are ignoring the call to conserve oil products voluntarily and the government might have to decree such measures as Sunday driving bans.

The six New England governors met in Boston and adopted a resolution urging national daylight saving time, and called for a regional 50 mile an hour speed limit. Alabama Gov. George Wallace appointed an energy managment board, which recommended consumers form car pools, turn off electrical appliances and use mass transit.

In Washington, U.S. airlines reached agreement with foreign airlines to cut back flights over the North Atlantic. Pan American, Trans World, and British Overseas Airways Corp. agreed to cut flights between London and Philadelphia and London and Boston.

U.S. domestic airlines already have cut more than 400 flights a day to conserve jet fuel, and more are expected if the fuel shortage worsens.

The Pentagon said the Arab oil embargo has cut U.S. military fuel supplies by half and forced it to invoke a little-used 1950 act giving it priority over civilian users. A Defense Department spokesman said the military will have to make up its loss of 300,000 barrels of foreign oil a day from domestic supplies.

Fuel Conscious Drivers Face Some Safety Risks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Concerned drivers who want to take President Nixon's energy-saving advice and drive no faster than 50 miles an hour will have to make way for leadfoots or risk a ticket, the Highway Patrol said today.

Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski issued a statement advising motorists to stay in the right-hand lane whenever possible if they drive under the legal speed limit of 65 m.p.h.

"No matter how well intentioned these people are, they create traffic hazards when they bottleneck freeway lanes and slow down other drivers," Pudinski said.

When that happens, he added, "the CHP cannot abdicate its responsibility and must stop the offending driver and either issue a citation or a warning."

Pudinski also offered a tip for energy-conserving drivers on two-lane highways. "Pull out to the right at the first safe opportunity whenever as many as five vehicles are lined up in back of you and waiting for a chance to pass. If you don't, you are breaking the law."

Tiburon Dock Permit Sought

An application for a permit for an existing dock in Tiburon has been filed with the Army Corps of Engineers by O'Keefe's Inc. of San Francisco.

The 154-foot-long dock has been constructed since June at 9960 Ranch Road, according to Evan Hong of the corps' permit department. It was constructed with a Bay Conservation and Development Commission permit, but was never legalized by a Corps permit, he said.

Written objections to the dock must be submitted to the corps before Dec. 5, he said.

Defense Made To Gulf Gift

ATLANTA (UPI) — Dr. Ralph Abernathy says if blacks object because the Southern Christian Leadership Conference accepted money from Gulf Oil Co., they should donate more money themselves.

Abernathy was criticized by several groups for accepting $50,000 from Gulf, but he said yesterday that Gulf contributes more to SCLC than successful blacks.

Woman Robbed Of $4,000

A 26-year-old San Rafael woman was robbed of $4,000 yesterday by a man who threatened her with a revolver, San Rafael police said today.

Police said Sandra J. Benoit of 520 Canal Street discovered a man sitting at the kitchen table of her apartment when she returned fron an outing about 4:30 p.m.

The man asked for a roommate, then pulled a gun and demanded an envelope of cash the roommate had given her earlier in the day for safekeeping. Police said the money was in $100 bills.

The roommate, Alexis D. Faulkner, had moved into the apartment last Tuesday, police said.

The man was described as 32 years old and wearing a tan trench coat, dark pants and square-toe shoes, police said.

Guilty Plea To Check Charges

A 47-year-old woman yesterday pleaded guilty to two bad check counts, cutting short a preliminary hearing scheduled in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge David R. Baty ordered a probation report and told Frances Lucille Troche to return to court Dec. 21 for sentencing. The woman used a number of aliases, including the name Morales under which she was arrested last month, according to court aides.

She had been charged with a felony count of passing four fraudulent checks totaling 135 in San Rafael stores in 1964, and a misdemeanor count of a $40 bad check in San Rafael in 1968.

As a result of plea bargaining, both counts were declared misdemeanors in return for her guilty plea, Baty said.

House Approves Benefits Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, rushing to its Thanksgiving recess, consumed just one minute registering enough votes to pass a Social Security bill to help aged beneficiaries deal with the rising cost of living.

After the full 15 minutes allowed for the electronic tally yesterday, the total was 391 to 20 as the House approved the bill giving $2.4 billion more to the 30 million Social Security recipients next year in a two-step, 11 per cent benefit increase.

Union Says Nixon Is Impeachable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the first of a series of 19 weekly statements offering grounds for President Nixon's impeachment, the AFL-CIO says Nixon committed an impeachable offense when he set up his own "secret police ... to violate the legal rights of the American people" under the guise of national security.

The labor federation's first "bill of particulars" was published yesterday, and others planned to document charges that Nixon has consistently lied to the American people, used his office for personal enrichment and brought dishonor on the office of the presidency.

The AFL-CIO is the first national organization with strong influence in Congress to demand Nixon's impeachment by the House and removal from office on conviction by the Senate.

It said Nixon had committed an impeachable offense by "initiating and establishing a secret police, authorized by him in contravention of the Constitution and unchartered by Congress, to violate the legal rights of the American people."

The labor federation accused him of "instituting in the name of national security a plan which violated civil liberties through domestic political surveillance, espionage, wiretapping, burglary, eavesdropping, opening of mail and military spying on civilians."

It said Nixon approved a plan to use the FBI, CIA and other federal agencies to set up a domestic intelligence unit. Nixon later rescinded the plan, it said "not because the plan was illegal, not because it was a bad plan, not because it was repugnant to the entire democratic history and traditions of the republic, but because FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover objected to the plan."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

New English Remedy Is Being Tested On US Ulcer Patients

Carbenoxolone, an English remedy for stomach ulcers, is now being tested in several medical centers in the United States. The British have used the product for more than 10 years and their results have been most encouraging. Carbenoxolone is not an antacid and has no effect on the motility of the stomach. The drug is absorbed and stimulates the elaboration and secretion of gastric mucus and thereby tends to protect the lining membranes of the stomach.

PEPTIC ULCERS are located in the stomach (gastric) or in the first part of the small intestine (duodenum). Duodenal ulcers are nine times more common than gastric ulcers, but the latter are more serious because they heal more slowly and might become cancerous. Now and then, both types are present. A remedy such as carbenoxolone is welcome, provided it works better than what we have. One of the problems associated with gastric ulcers is that they tend to recur after they have healed.

This was demonstrated in a study on 638 patinets with benign gastric ulcers at Veterans Administration Hospitals in the United States. All were treated with rest, milk, or antacids every half hour. In addition, they were given a bland, meat-free diet and drugs that calmed the stomach. At the end of three weeks, healing was complete in a almost half of the veterans. In 70 per cent, healing was complete by six weeks, and in 76 per cent, by 12 weeks. Of the ulcers that healed, two fifths (42 per cent) recurred, often within six months.

SURGERY PROVED to be the best remedy for ulcers that failed to heal. And one in 25 of the patinets thought to have a benign ulcer really had cancer. This is one of the serious aspects of a gastric ulcer in contrast to duodenal ulcers that rarely become malignant.

A gastric ulcer is diagnosed with barium X-ray studies. In many instances, it is possible to tell whether the crater is benign or malignant. Our new flexible gastroscopes with camera biopsy attachments are most helpful in telling the difference. If such a device is not available, it may be necessary to treat the ulcerated lesion for a few weeks and re-X-ray for signs of change.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, San Rafael, Ca 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

FOOT SORE

N. F. writes: A friend has an open sore on top of his foot where the shoe is laced. Could this come from drinking too much beer?

REPLY

No. More likely causes are tight shoes, poor circulation, or malignancy. Americans spend much more money on alcoholic drinks than on physicians. Your friend may spend so much on beer he has none left for medical attention.

PALM LUMP

P. E. writes: Last week I noticed a small lump in the palm of my hand. What could it be? I'm a housewife but don't do heavy work.

REPLY

See your physician, because the lump could be the beginning of Dupuytren's contracture. If so, this pea-sized lump will flatten out and slowly spread over the palm. It may extend also into the fingers, causing a deformity. Surgery is the only treatment, but it is not always necessary.

SWOLLEN LEGS, FEET

G. writes: My feet and legs are so swollen I can hardly wear my shoes. Is there any remedy for this annoyance?

REPLY

First see your physician to determine the cause of the puffiness. The sympton can be remedied easily when it is due to a failing heart, poor circulation, or a disorder of the kidneys or liver.

TOO MANY LEMONS

R.A. writes: A 23-year-old girl read that lemons have curative powers, so she is eating 35 of them a day. Will this harm her?

REPLY

She is eating 34 too many. Lemons have no curative powers. They contain vitamin C, but so do oranges, apples, and other fruits and vegetables. In addition, sucking lemons may be hard on the teeth. Furthermore, with the price of lemons, this young woman has acquired an expensive habit. Our last four lemons cost 47 cents.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, clean air.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

FORECASTS

San Francisco Bay Area: — Rain likely on and off through tomorrow. Continued mild temperatures; high tomorrow in the upper 50s and low 60s; low tonight in the upper 40s and low 50s; chance of rain 70 percent tonight and 70 percent tomorrow.

Sierra Nevada: — Heavy snow warning north part; snow continuing tonight and tomorrow; rain at lower elevations; winds over ridges and passes with blowing and drifting snow causing poor visibility.

Napa and Sonoma Valleys and Santa Rosa Plain: — Intermittent rain through tomorrow; continued mild temperatures; high tomorrow and low tonight at Santa Rosa 56 and 50; southerly winds 15 to 30 m.p.h.

Arraignment Held For Union Leader

DEARBORN Mich. (UPI) — A United Auto Workers official was arraigned yesterday on charges of assault with intent to commit murder in the shooting of a Ford Motor Co. employe in a dispute over the union's new contract with Ford.

David L. Mundy, 38, chairman of a unit of UAW Local 600, was charged before District Court Judge Ralph B. Guy in the Tuesday wounding of William Harrell, 27, near the local's union hall. Mundy was released on $2,500 bond and a preliminary examination was set for Nov. 23.

Folks In Whittier, Nixon's Hometown, Maintaining Loyalty

WHITTIER (AP) — This is Richard Nixon's hometown and, Watergate notwithstanding, he is still highly popular here.

"There is a great deal of sympathy toward the President here," says Mayor Blake Sanborn, a Republican who joined with four city councilmen to write Nixon "that we stand very much behind him."

Of course, some opposition to Nixon exists in Whittier, but it is neither organized nor vocal. About 2,000 persons staged an impeachment rally earlier in the month in neighboring Yorba Linda, Nixon's birthplace. But Sanborn and other civic leaders say they're confident this could never happen in Whittier.

Identical framed portraits of Nixon are prominently displayed at City Hall, Whittier College, East Whittier Friends Church and at the Chamber of Commerce. Rarely is a disparaging word heard about Nixon in any of these spots.

"We do get people coming here who look at the picture and say, 'So you still claim him?'" says a secretary at the chamber office. But the chamber does make a point of claiming him — maps boast this is "President Nixon's hometown" and direct visitors to landmarks such as the Nixon's first apartment and his first law office.

The city's most cherished project is its effort to become the site of Nixon's presidential library when he leaves office.

"It would give our city something which would appeal to visitors," says Mynatt Smith, editor of the Whittier Daily News. "The fact that Whittier bears the name of a famous poet John Greenleaf Whittier doesn't bring three visitors here a year."

Smith adds, "Regardless of what happens about Watergate or any other aspect of Nixon's tenure as president, this town should mark for posterity that this man came from here."

Among Nixon's staunchest defenders in town is 30-year resident Harold Kinnaman, president of the Chamber of Commerce. "It would be foolish for him to quit," Kinnaman says of Nixon. "He hasn't done anything . . . I think he'll fight the thing through and he'll come out on top. I haven't talked to anyone in Whittier who is against the President."

Chamber manager Jerry Hathaway is less emphatic. "I'm sure there are people here that have some concern about the way things are going, including myself," he says. "But we are just waiting to see what happens."

In the city of 73,400, where 60 per cent of the voters are Republican, Democratic attorney Paul Weil doesn't classify himself as a politician, although he is president of the Whittier School District Board of Trustees.

"I tell my kids that just like Nixon I'm a Whittier lawyer who became president," he jokes.

Weil is cautiously critical, insisting he's more concerned about preserving the institution of the presidency than finding Nixon guilty or innocent.

"It's not Nixon as an individual that's threatened," he says. "It's our way of doing things; it's the presidency. My reading of the reaction in our community is one of dismay. There has been community pride in the President, particularly among those who knew him when he lived here . . . Whittier College is justly proud of him, as any college that produces a president should be."

At the Whittier College campus, drama major Steven Woods, studying under a tree, commented: "Most people around here have sort of turned off on Nixon. They think it's kind of comical to say, 'I go to Whittier. I can become President.' But a larger part of the students don't even care."

The college president, Frederick Binder, agreed. "Every time there's an upheaval on the national scene, there is some reflection on campus. Yet, strangely, in this situation, we've had nothing at all," he said.

"I've had no visitations from students, no letters. No one has made speeches or held demonstrations . . . I have not detected a groundswell or upheaval — not even among the politically oriented faculty." He credits a shift of student interest away from politics and toward social work as the reason.

Binder is a Republican. The college's vice president is a former Nixon classmate, and Nixon is still an honorary member of the Board of Trustees. There is an endowed "Nixon professorship" which is held this semester by onetime Nixon appointee Joseph Blatchford, who lectures on "The American Presidency."

Perhaps the closest thing to controversy in Whittier has involved the President's minister. The Rev. Eugene Coffin of the East Whittier Friends Church made news by revealing requests from Quakers around the country that Nixon's church membership be rescinded for un-Quakerlike behavior.

Coffin, who has preached at the White House at Nixon's invitation, refused to consider ousting the President.

Nixon Sets Thanksgiving As Memorial To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today proclaimed Thanksgiving Day this year as a day of prayer in memory of President John F. Kennedy. The holiday falls on the 10th anniversary of Kennedy's assassination.

Nixon, who was defeated for the presidency by Kennedy in 1960, advocated the remembrance in his official annual Thanksgiving proclamation.

"On this Thanksgiving Day, we mark the 10th anniversary of the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy," Nixon said, "As we give thanks for the bounty and goodness of our land, let us also pause to reflect on President Kennedy's contributions to the life of this nation we love so dearly."

In the official statement required under law, Nixon said that he was proclaiming "Nov. 22, 1973, as a day of national thanksgiving, and concurrently, a day of prayer for the memory of John F. Kennedy."

"Let all Americans unite on this day," the President said, "giving thanks for the manifold blessings vouchsafed our people, and inviting all those less fortunate than ourselves to share in those blessings in God's name, for His sake and for our own."

Connally Denies Donations Influenced Dairy Rulings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has told the Senate Watergate committee he knows nothing of allegations the dairy industry received favorable price rulings from the Nixon administration in return for a $427,500 campaign contribution.

After appearing before the committee in executive session for nearly three hours yesterday, Connally told reporters he also denied that he received $15,000 personally for setting up the dairy industry contributions.

Connally and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz have both been questioned by the committee concerning their knowledge of two favorable decisions granted the dairymen that were related closely in time to payment of campaign contributions.

At the end of December, 1971, Nixon reduced import quotas on cheese and related products. The ruling was two weeks after he received a letter from a political ally and dairy industry spokesman pledging $2 million in contributions.

The following March the administration increased price supports for milk. The move came three days after the dairy industry contributions began.

Connally said he told the committee he strongly urged the administration to make the price support decision, but at that time knew nothing of plans for campaign contributions. He said the only contribution he was personally aware of was later in 1972, when dairymen gave $31,000 to Democrats for Nixon of which he was chairman.

"It would be fair to say that I was contacted by representatives of the milk industry prior to the price support decision and my position coincided with theirs," Connally said. He said he made his feelings known in the administration, including during meetings with Nixon.

"I didn't then, or have I ever had any direct knowledge of political contributions of the dairy industry other than the $31,000," he said.

"The decision (to raise price supports) was made because it was the judgment of nearly all of us that if we did nothing, Congress would take action to do the same thing; it was solely a defensive act," Connally said.

Earlier there had been published reports that witnesses told investigators Connally was present when major contributions were made by dairy officials and a deal on the price support policy was discussed and that Connally received $15,000 for his role.

Connally vigorously denied these reports as "categorical lies and incredible rumors." The former Texas governor and Democrat turned Republican, said the story may hurt him politically.

"Rumor, innuendo and suspicion seem to be more important than anything else these days," Connally said. "My mere appearance before the committee is going to leave in the minds of many Americans the idea that there must be something wrong with me."

Connally's appearance before the committee was his third questioning on the subject. This week he also appeared before Justice Department investigators and the Watergate grand jury.

The committee is devoting a major part of its campaign spending investigation to the milk industry allegations. It has turned up one major piece of evidence, a letter to Nixon from former Rep. Patrick J. Hillings, R-Calif., who in 1970 and 1971 represented the American Milk Producers Inc.

Hillings, an old political ally of the President, began the letter by pledging $2 million in dairy funds to the Nixon campaign.

He went on to say that the revised import quotas were "bogged down" in the White House and added "the time is ripe politically and economically to impose the recommended quotas."

"We write you both as advocates and as supporters," the milk producers' lawyer said.

It was 15 days after this letter that Nixon approved revision of the quotas. The American Milk Producers gave a total of $202,500 of the dairy industry's contributions.

Hint Of Curbing School Busing

ATLANTA (UPI) — Macon, Ga., Mayor Ronnie Thompson said at a regional energy meeting yesterday he plans to stop "unncessary forced busing" of school children to conserve fuel.

Thompson's statement came during a question and answer period with Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent, who was here to discuss the energy crisis with leaders from eight Southern states.

"The President has called on mayors to use executive power in every respect to conserve as much energy as possible," Thompson said. "By executive authority, this can be done. It could only be used during the emergency period...and is a legitimate means to conserve fuel. I don't think the courts would have jurisdiction over an emergency situation."

Conference On Land Use Set

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Using city waste water on farmland to produce fodder crops for Marin and Sonoma counties' dairy cows will be discussed at a land use conference Saturday by Norman B. Livermore, head of the state Resources Agency.

The theme of the conference from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church Conference Room in Santa Rosa, is tripling the use of the land and at the same time securing a greenbelt between cities.

The conference is sponsored by the American Association of University Women, Sonoma County Tomorrow, Marin Conservation League, Sonoma County Group of the Sierra Club and People for Open Space in the Bay Area.

Coffees Set

Coffee for Jana Haehl and Larry P. Weingarth, candidates for Corte Madera Town Council, will be Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Barbara and Paul Ryan, 21 Balclutha Drive.

Shriners Searching For Football Talent

Members of the Shrine East-West football committee are busy trying to choose players for the 49th annual game Dec. 29 at Candlestick Park.

So far, only one player has been picked for the West — Utah wide receiver Steve Odom who played at Berkeley High — and the East picked its first four players yesterday. The quartet is defensive end Edward Jones of Tennessee State, offensive guard Tom Forrest of Cincinnati, defensive tackle Paul Vellano of Maryland and safety Terry Schmidt of Ball State.

Schmidt is the first player ever chosen for the Shrine game from Ball State, and if you didn't know that famous school was in Muncie, Ind., you can still get a passing grade. It goes to show you there is no place for a quality player to hide from the East-West talent seekers.

THE MAIN problem the East-West committee has in picking players for the game is that it has to wait for major teams to be eliminated from possible chance at bowl bids. The only players who can be considered for the Shrine game are those whose teams are not involved in post season play. And they must be seniors.

The problem of selection is not so severe for the people who run the Hula Bowl which is played in Honolulu a week after the Shrine game in San Francisco. Many of the Shrine players double up by playing in the Hula Bowl which also gets the services of some of the stars who by then have already played in bowl games on New Year's Day.

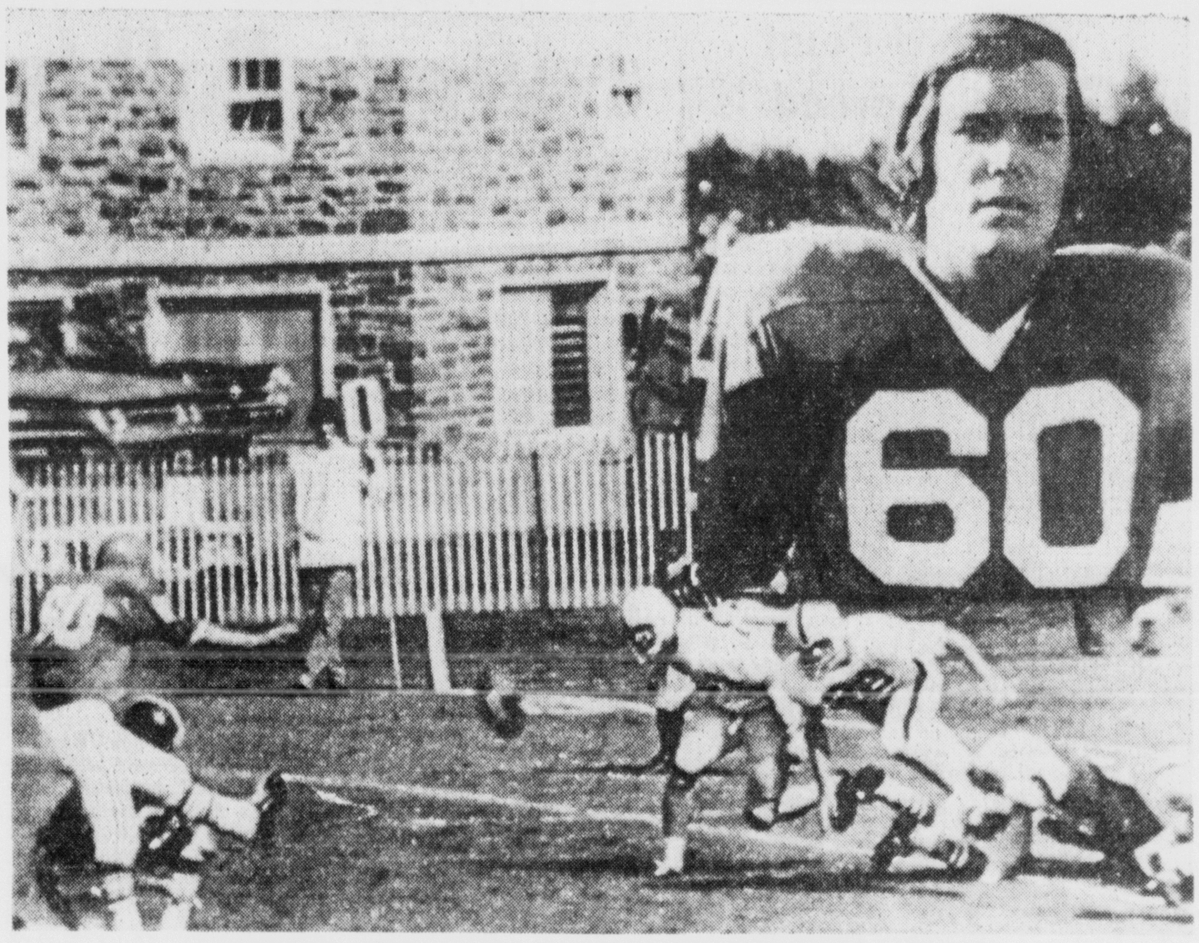
THE EAST-WEST people still come up with super players for the game, year after year, and of that they are proud.

"As the years roll on," said John Troxel, chairman of the East-West executive committee, "it gets more difficult to get top players. But the East-West game still manages to get the best, despite all that competition.

"Of the 50 plus players in the game last year, at least half of them are now playing in the National Football League. Considering how difficult it is for rookies to break into the NFL, and how many top stars are on bowl teams, the record of East-West game players is excellent, and testifies to the caliber of our players," Troxel said.

HE TURNED in an impressive list of last year's players who started playing pro ball this season. It included Otis Armstrong, Calvin Jones and Paul Howard of Denver; Terry Metcalf and Dave Butz of St. Louis; Steve Sweeney of Oakland; Isaac Curtis of Cincinnati; Jim Merlo of New Orleans; Gary Huff, Gail Clark and Gary Hvrinak of Chicago; Dick Jauron of Detroit; Barry Smith and Tom McLeod of Green Bay; Mike Wells and Jim Lash of Minnesota; Ken Stone of Buffalo; Ed Newman of Miami; James Thomas of Pittsburgh; Bruce Walton (Dallas), George Amundson (Houston), Bruce Barnes (New England), Bill Ferguson (New York Jets), Randy Logan (Philadelphia) and Cody Jones (Los Angeles).

Tickets for this year's game are available throughout the Bay Area and Marin outlets include Howard M. Morse Insurance, Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop and George's Recreation Parlor (a great name for a tavern) in San Rafael, Dolman Realty in Corte Madera and John Finn III in Mill Valley. And that $7.50 ticket price goes a long way in helping the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.



LOSS OF ARM IS NO HANDICAP

Despite having his left arm amputated because of cancer when he was nine years old, Bill Finan (60, insert) went on to become a placekicker for Hamilton, N.Y., College, and is shown kicking a field goal in a game earlier this year. Finan says he has played all sports but admits he could never "be a pole vaulter." (UPI Telephoto)

IN WORLD OPEN

Youngsters Blaze Away

PINEHURST, N. C. (UPI) — Two golfing youngsters, one blazing away with everything from an eagle to a triple bogey to retain the lead and the other surging from 16 strokes behind to grab a tie for second, have taken the spotlight going into today's seventh round of the $500,000 World Open Golf Championship.

Leader of golf's richest tournament after six rounds was Tom Watson, 24, winless in his second year on the Professional Golfers Association tour. He stood at 423, three under par, after a five-over-par 76 Thursday that included an eagle, a triple bogey, six bogeys and two birdies.

"The pack has moved closer to me," says Watson. "But it's a consolation to still be six strokes ahead."

Lurking six strokes back in a three-way tie for runnerup was 21-year-old rookie sensation Ben Crenshaw, who grabbed his first tour victory two weeks ago in San Antonio, after a blistering seven-under-par 64 that included nine birdies against two bogeys. The round came one day after he said he was resigned to finishing in the middle of the field and it vaulted him from 10-over par to three-over.

"I'm still pretty far back, but I'm in contention," says Crenshaw. "I don't believe I'll shoot two more 64s, but I'd like two rounds in the 60s."

Tied with Crenshaw at 429 were veterans Jerry Heard, who had an eagle, two birdies and five bogies for 72 yesterday, and Miller Barber, who carded a 73 after a round with four bogeys against two birdies.

Watson, who missed a dozen greens as his iron and wood shots went astray in a gusty wind, wasn't happy with his showing yesterday, which came one day after he tied the record for the 7,007-yard, No. 2 course at Pinehurst Country Club with a 62.

"If I didn't have a putter I would have had a hundred," Watson said after coming off the course. He got his eagle on the par five, 532-yard No. 4 hole by sinking a 10-foot putt and one of his birdies by dropping in a 35-footer plus putts of 12 and 10 feet that saved par on the No. 6 and No. 11 holes.

Watson had only one bogey before his eagle, but then hit his drive out of bounds on the par four, 452-yard, No. 5 hole and was assessed a two-stroke penalty, only to smash an eight iron shot into a sand trap. Then he hit over the pin and wound up making a five-foot putt to save a triple bogey.

He bogeyed No. 9, birdied No. 12, then had back-to-back bogeys on 13, 14 and 15 before getting a birdie on No. 16. He finished out with another bogey on 18.

Crenshaw said the wind didn't bother him that much.

"It kinda felt like Texas," said the Texan. "I never used to do well in winds but I've been doing better lately."

Yesterday's round was Crenshaw's first sub-par score of the tournament but for Watson the 76 ended three consecutive sub-par rounds of 69-68-62.

One of the saddest stories of yesterday's round was that of Giby Gilbert, the 32-year-old pro who set the course-record 62 that Watson matched Wednesday and held or shared the lead for the first four rounds. He had a triple bogey, a double bogey, eight bogeys and only two birdies to come up with an 82, giving him a 432 total.

PIRINJIAN MOST VALUABLE

Marin Tar Booter Tabbed

Being unselfish can sometimes be a rewarding experience. Case in point: College of Marin center halfback Misak Pirinjian who yesterday became the first Tar to be named the Most Valuable Player in Camino Norte Conference soccer.

CNC coaches unanimously tabbed the 19-year-old San Rafael High School graduate for his unselfish play and named teammate Rich Bullock (center fullback) to the all-conference team. Goalie Eric Hein and forward David Harvard were honorable mention choices.

Pirinjian, a 5-foot-9, 145-pound freshman, achieved the highest soccer honor in Marin's four-year CNC, soccer affiliation. Frank Michell, a starter at San Francisco State, was the only other Tar to be named All-Conference (1971).

In assessing Pirinjian's value to the Tars who finsihed 2-3-3 in the CNC and 4-9-5 overall, coach Bob Sitov noted: One rival coach put it best when he said Pirinjian was the most unselfish player he had ever seen." Pirinjian "is an exceptionally skilled player who leads by his example. He's our quiet leader." The quiet leader boomed home 12 goals to lead Marin.

Bullock, a 5-10, 180-pound freshman from Los Angeles, helped solidify the Tars defense and worked well with Hein, according to Sitov. Hein, a 5-10, 160-pound sophomore from Drake, keyed a stout Tar defense that surrendered a mere 1.7 goals per CNC game. Harvard, a 5-11, 155-pound freshman from Redwood, proved to be a most effective cog in Marin's unsuccessful bid for the conference title won by West Valley. Marin finished fourth.

The remaining All-Conference choices:

Seals Host Philadelphia Tonight

Philadelphia holds a healthy four-point lead in the National Hockey League West and also has accumulated 369 penalty minutes, over 100 more than the nearest competitor.

Dave Schultz, their on-ice policeman, has 85 minutes in the box all by himself and could even match his remarkable 259 of a year ago.

The Seals were especially inept in a 4-1 disaster to Toronto Wednesday night. They offered the excuse that the five-day layoff hurt them and underwent a rigorous practice session yesterday so they would be sharper tonight.

No line changes are contemplated for the Seals, who are in good health for tonight's battle. California is in the West Division basement with a 4-10-1 record.

Tam, Drake Girl Swimmers Tie For 2nd

Tamalpais and Drake high schools won girls swimming meets yesterday to finish the Marin County Athletic League season tied for second place with 5-2 recores, and Tam's Lori Allen set a league mark record by winning the 50-yard breaststroke in 34.1 seconds.

Tam defeated visiting San Rafael, 79-34, behind triple victories by Miss Allen and Lisa Berryman, while Drake got three triumphs from Tammy Secondo and two from Susie Furrier in a 61-52 conquest of visiting Marin Catholic.

SANTA ROSA HOSTS TOP OF BAY GRID

The Top of the Bay Bowl football game next Friday at 8 p.m. has been moved from San Rafael High School to Bailey Field at Santa Rosa Junior College, it was announced this morning.

"The condition of San Rafael's field is poor," said Marin County Athletic League commissioner George Corson. "There is standing water, and it isn't going to get any better. The field in Santa Rosa is in good shape."

The game will match the MCAL representative, Redwood or Novato, against Petaluma of the North Bay League.

Bullpups Win, Finish Unbeaten

San Rafael High School's freshman football team sloshed through the mud of its home field yesterday to beat Tamalpais' frosh, 6-0, winding up an undefeated season.

The Bullpups won all five of its games to earn the Marin County Athletic League frosh championship.

Newcombe Upset In Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — Australia and Czechoslovakia split the first two matches today in the first round of the Davis Cup tennis semifinals today when little known Jiri Hrebec pulled off one of the biggest Cup upsets in history to defeat John Newcombe, 6-4, 8-10, 6-4, 7-5.

Rod Laver earlier sent Australia to a 1-0 lead when he subdued reigning Wimbledon Champion Jan Kobes, 6-3, 7-5, 7-5.

After the first match it looked as though Australia, with three-time Wimbledon champion Newcombe next in the lineup, would finish the day with an easy 2-0 lead.

But young Hrebec had other ideas.

Hrebec has won six out of seven of his Davis Cup appearances for Czechoslovakia and his only loss was against Karl Meiler in the Czech clash against West Germany earlier this year.

He tried to force his way to the net to try and take command of play but Hrebec pushed him back with some superb returns.

Newcombe served badly. He lost his serving rhythm particularly on his first delivery and allowed Hrebec to step into the court and take Newcombe's more tentative second service on the rise, which he angled back for winners.

Newcombe lost his concentration and he repeatedly dumped volley after volley into the net when he had Hrebec out of position.

The match, like the first singles, was marred by several disputed line calls and the crowd of about 8,200 booed Hrebec during the third set when he slammed his racquet into the turf after a dubious call and then snatched his racquet away from a ballboy who had retrieved it for him.

The teams for tomorrow's doubles match will not be announced until an hour before commencement of play.

The Czechs are expected to use Kodes and Vladimiro Zednic and the Australians will probably use Newcombe and Laver although Ken Rosewall might be given the berth over Newcombe.

Redwood Booters Crush Novato, 8-0

Rob Ewert scored three goals and Steve Scholl kicked in two more yesterday as host Redwood High School (8-5) rolled to an 8-0 victory over Novato (4-9-1) in a Marin County Athletic League soccer game.

Tom Villasenor, Manny Natsios and Frank Cassou added single goals for Redwood. The victory left the Giants with a chance for second place (contrary to an erroneous report in Wednesday's Independent-Journal) if they defeat Marin Catholic today and San Marin (8-4-1) loses to Tamalpais.

Louisiana Tech Is On Probation

MISSION, Kan. (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association announced today its Committee on Infractions has placed Louisiana Tech University on indefinite probation for not less than three years for violations of NCAA regulations governing basketball.

The probation prohibits Louisiana Tech's basketball team from appearing in postseason competition and from appearing on any NCAA television package.

It prohibits LTU's basketball coaching staff or its athletic representatives from recruiting for one year and only three new basketball scholarships may be awarded for the 1974-75 academic year.

Basketball Coach R.S. Robertson was placed on probation and will not be allowed to receive a salary increase for an indefinite period beyond one year.

George H. Young, infractions committee chairman, said, "This case involves violations for several years, beginning in the 1966-67 basketball season through 1972.

"The penalties were designed to affect the individuals and the program involved—not innocent people in other programs. We feel they are meaningful and appropriate to the situation."

He said violations included those governing financial aid and extra benefits to student-athletes, recruiting and ethical conduct.

Novato Seeks Co-Title, Bowl Bid

Novato High School's muscular, merciless defensive unit has compiled a tremendous record this year. Tomorrow, the defenders can translate that record into a championship and a bowl bid.

The Hornets will host Terra Linda in an all-important, season-ending Marin County Athletic League football game at 1 p.m. Novato hopes to achieve:

The co-championship of the MCAL with Redwood with a 5-1 record;

A trip to the next Friday's 8 p.m. Top of the Bay Bowl against undefeated Petaluma of the North Bay League, since Novato defeated Redwood in a head-on clash Oct. 27, 12-0; and a fifth consecutive shutout, which would be one of the greatest accomplishments in Marin football history.

A loss or a tie would doom the Hornets to second place. "Novato is a fine team and would represent the league well, but we will make them earn it," said Terra Linda assistant coach Dick Schultze, helping to prepare the team this week. Head coach Don Lucas was absent due to a death in the family, but is expected to be on the field tomorrow.

Terra Linda carries a 2-2-1 MCAL record into the game, having tied Tamalpais last week, 0-0, on a muddy field. Rains this week may turn the already mucky Novato field into a quagmire.

"The rain shouldn't hurt us too much," said Novato coach Al Scott, whose team relies little on outside speed and razzle-dazzle. The Hornets favor conservative, straightforward offense, and last week threw only three passes in a 10-0 victory over San Marin.

Novato hardly needs a wide-open offense to win. Led by ends Hal Jennings and Scott Johnson and tackles Bob Clay and Mike Asciutto, the Hornets choke off their opponents with an average of 36 yards a game on the ground.

The pass defense, porous at the beginning of the year, has given up an average of 57 yards a game the last three outings. Steve Hoog, Dave Brazell and Mike Heilman play the secondary.

Linebackers Ken Straw and Mark Doran are keys to both the rushing defense and the pass defense. Mike Martin plays middle guard or linebacker and Jeff Mertell linebacker or defensive back, depending on the alignment.

NFL OFFICIALS REPORT

Raiders Are Cleared Of 'Dirty Tricks' Charges

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders have been cleared of a "dirty tricks" charge made by the Pittsburgh Steelers in their game last Sunday.

A National Football League investigation has exonerated Oakland from any wrongdoing in the game, won by Pittsburgh 17-9 at the Oakland Coliseum.

An NFL spokesman said yesterday that Art McNally, the supervisor of officials for the league, had cleared the Raiders after discussing the charges with referee Bernie Ullman and the other officials.

The charges were lodged by Steeler vice-president Dan Rooney after Pittsburgh players complained of stunts by the Raiders.

There were four allegations by the Steelers. They charged that:

1. Time had expired at the end of the first half but the Raiders managed to call a time out and kick a field goal.

3. An obscene phrase was written on one of the footballs.

4. The Raiders had a slippery substance on their uniforms.

In answering the charges, the NFL spokesman made the following points:

1. All six officials agreed time had not expired before time was called at the end of the first half. The official time is on the scoreboard clock but line judge Art Holst, who keeps the backup watch on the field, said he looked at it as time was called and there was time remaining.

2. Pittsburgh center Ray Mansfield said he didn't like the feel of the ball before a field goal attempt and the umpire, Tim Hensley, replaced the ball. But it was a rainy day and balls were being routinely replaced throughout the game to keep them dry. Hensley had called for a new ball before the field goal kick and that's the one Mansfield didn't like. The officials had checked all the balls before the game and found nothing wrong with them.

3. The officials said they saw no writing on any of the balls and none of the Pittsburgh players brought any balls with writing on them to their attention during the game.

Controversies involving Oakland are nothing new. The New York Jets have been involved in some of them and the New York Giants were involved in one last week when a defensive playbook disappeared before their game with the Raiders.

MADDEN SAYS

8-Point Spread Is Misleading

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland's eight-point spread over the Cleveland Browns might be misleading, says Raiders Coach John Madden.

"The three games the Browns lost were to Minnesota, Pittsburgh and Miami," said Madden, referring to three of the top teams in the National Football League.

Sunday's game is a sellout so it will be shown on local television. The final 300 tickets were sold well before yesterday's 1 p.m. deadline.

Madden says he doesn't know yet who'll open at quarterback. All three Raider signal callers are working out this week, including Ken Stabler, who sprained a knee last Sunday as the Raiders lost to Pittsburgh.

Just to be on the safe side, Madden has Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda running the offense along with Stabler.

Li'l League Meeting

BY COACH NOLAN

49er's Fall Is Analyzed

By ERIC PREWITT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The rise and fall of the San Francisco 49ers, from three straight division championships to their current last place position, might be explained best by something coach Dick Nolan said three years ago.

"There's an awfully fine line between the winners and losers in pro football," said Nolan when asked how the team that finished 4-8-2 in 1969 was on its way to a 10-3-1 National Football League season.

Now the 49ers are 3-6 in the National Football Conference West, behind even the New Orleans Saints team they beat 40-0 four weeks ago. They'll take a three-game losing streak into Sunday's game at Los Angeles against the division-leading Rams.

"I don't think we have players who are over the hill," says Nolan. "The problems have been penalties, injuries and players not performing like they have been."

A tough schedule didn't help. The 49ers opened the season in Miami against the Super Bowl champion Dolphins, led at halftime but lost 21-13 in intense Florida heat which forced quarterback John Brodie to sit out the second half.

They later lost 17-13 to undefeated Minnesota, with Steve Spurrier passing for more than 300 yards but suffering several costly interceptions. Against the NFC champion Washington Redskins Sunday, the 49ers trailed only 10-9 at the half but then collapsed in a 33-9 defeat.

Ellis, Braghetta Among Inductees

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Joe Ellis, currently with the Golden State Warriors, will be one of eight former athletic stars installed in the University of San Francisco Hall of Fame tonight.

Others include football stars Al Braga, whose 89-yard punt in the air is still considered a record, and Blase Mathews, basketball's Russ Gumina, sprinters Fred Walts and Les Wisler, baseball player Paul Schramka and soccer goalie Bob Braghetta of Ross.

Frank Zanazzi, who organized soccer at USF and then coached the Dons to Coast and national honors, will be honored posthumously.

aes

Brodie returned for one start, but against Washington, rookie Joe Reed got his first NFL start at quarterback.

"I'm not playing for the future. We're always working on the present as well as the future," Nolan said after naming Reed as the starter.

Brodie, 38, announced one week after being benched that this would be his last NFL season. He denied the decision was made because he lost his job. Spurrier, whose patience has been tested in seven pro seasons as basically a backup player, also has taken th quarterback juggling stoically.

"What we have to do is han together," says linebacke Dave Wilcox, one of five 49er named to last year's All-Pr team.

In the personnel departmen the 49ers' most crying need for a top-notch running bac They'll have two first roun picks — their own and Ne England's — in the winter dra of college football players.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

A 50-50 Chance Namath Can Play Sunday Versus Bengals

The New York Jets had some optimistic news to report about Joe Namath yesterday, and that could be bad news for the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Jets said there's a 50-50 chance Namath, out with a shoulder separation since the second week of the season, would return to action for Sunday's game at Cincinnati with the Bengals, who are hoping for a wild card playoff berth in the American Football Conference.

Cincinnati is a four-point favorite but that's based on the Jets going with Al Woodall at quarterback. The Bengals never have beaten the Jets in four regular season games.

Namath threw passes at practice yesterday for the first time this week, and coach Weeb Ewbank said "the exercises he's been on seem to have helped. He still has a bit of a twinge but much less pain."

The Jets thought Namath was ready in the middle of the week last week, too, before he developed a pain in his right biceps muscle late in the week and had to be scratched, so they're not yet planning on having him back this week with any certainty.

"He's better now than he was a week ago," Ewbank said. "But it's still a day-to-day thing. We have to see how it is tomorrow."

Namath suffered the injury when he was belted by linebacker Stan White of the Baltimore Colts in the game between the Jets and the Colts Sept. 23.

The Bengals (5-3-1) are one of a half-dozen teams battling for two playoff spots in the AFC. Miami in the Eastern Division and Pittsburgh in the Central are coasting with three and two and a half game leads, respectively, but there's a three-team race in the West among Oakland (5-3-1), Kansas City (5-3-1) and Denver (4-3-2), and Cincinnati, Buffalo (5-4) and Cleveland (5-4) all have wild card possibilities.

3 Linemen, Safety Are 1st East Shrine Picks

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — Linemen Edward Jones of Tennessee State, Tom Forrest of Cincinnati and Paul Vellano of Maryland plus safety Terry Schmidt of Ball State yesterday became the first players named to the East squad for this year's Shrine East-West Football Game Dec. 29 at Candlestick Park.

Jones is a 264-pound defensive end-tackle, Forrest is a 258-pound offensive guard and Vellano is a 254-pound defensive tackle.

Schmidt, who stands a tall 6-2 for a safety, is the first player ever selected to the charity game from Ball State, which is in Muncie, Ind. He has started every game for three straight seasons and has 12 interceptions.

VS. SAN MARIN

Drake Finishes Football Season

Disappointment will be thick in the air tomorrow afternoon as San Marin and Drake high schools play a season-ending football game at 2:15 p.m. at College of Marin.

The Marin County Athletic League clash originally was scheduled for 1 p.m., but changed to avoid a conflict with the Tars, who will play at 11 a.m.

Drake will be coming off a 7-6 loss to Redwood last Saturday which cost it a chance for the MCAL championship and a trip to the Top of the Bay Bowl. The Pirates carry records of 3-2 in the league and 4-5 overall into the game, so they still can achieve a third-place finish in the MCAL and a .500 season record.

San Marin, which swept through an undefeated pre-season and threatened to contend for the title, lost several close games and now is 1-4 in the league and 5-4 overall. The Mustangs fell to Novato last week, 10-0, and had earlier losses of by seven, five and four points.

Drake tight end Corky Ingraham currently leads the league in touchdown receptions (five), scoring (30 points) and receiving yardage (290) and can wrap up those three titles. Quarterback Terry Fahey is tied for the passing yardage lead (525). San Marin tailback Wayne Rochne is all but assured of the rushing title (488 yards).

Probable starting lineups:

Drake: (Offense) SE Matt Elliott, LT Kent Hauge, LG Pete Lavaroni, C Warren Pino, RG George Pedersen, RT Craig Marquis, TE Corky Ingraham, QB Terry Fahey, RB Ross Perry, RB Henry Kremer, RB Bob McCann. (Defense) LE Dan Trimble, LT John Segale, MG Marquis, RT Bill Slaby, RE Hauge, LLB Ingraham, RLB Pedersen, LC Dave Foti, RC Perry, FS Rick Herbert, SS Gary Shankman.

Marin 'Cats Vs. Redwood In Windup

Wearing a crown on your head is sort of like having a chip on your shoulder: somebody is bound to come around and try to knock it off.

Redwood High School will experience that phenomenon tomorrow at 2 p.m. when the Giants journey to Greenbrae for a season-ending, non-league football game against Marin Catholic.

Redwood carries a 7-2 record into the game and last week clinched at least the co-championship of the Marin County Athletic League with a 7-6 victory over Drake which gave it a 5-1 MCAL mark.

"We have a lot more to gain from the ballgame than Redwood does," said coach Bruno Banducci of independent Marin Catholic (3-4-1). "If we win it will be a tremendous/horrendous accomplishment, depending on how you look at it."

"We will be playing for pride," confirmed Redwood coach Phil Roark. The Giants also will be playing with an eye on the future, and have made numerous lineup changes.

"Of course, we can put the starters back in at any time," Roark warned. Redwood has as many as nine two-way starters during the season.

Redwood will be keeping one ear cocked to learn the result of tomorrow afternoon's game between Terra Linda and Novato. A loss or tie by the Hornets will make the Giants undisputed MCAL champions and will put them in next Friday's Top of the Bay Bowl.

CROSS COUNTRY

Nine Obstacles For Marin Tars

College of Marin's cross country team will travel to its adopted "home" course in San Mateo tomorrow to face nine other schools in the state meet.

The event is scheduled for the hilly, 4.2-mile course near Crystal Springs Reservoir which the Tars have run twice earlier this year, doing well in the San Mateo Invitational and Camino Norte Conference meets.

In the event of inclement weather, the meet will be shifted to a four-mile, largely asphalt course near College of San Mateo, on which the Tars finished fifth last weekend in the Northern California meet, as they qualified for the state for the first time in history.

Representing the Tars will be Pete Sweeney, Mike Killeen, John Ladd, Dan Turek, Kian McCarthy, Brian Woodhouse and Eric Moller. Sweeney was fifth in the Nor Cal meet in 19:57.

"I don't think it makes any difference which course we run," said Marin coach Tony Bailey. "Our high finish last week was due to other factors. We're getting better each week. Most of the guys ran their best race of the season in that big meet, and that's what you look for in an athlete."

Grossmont College of El Cajon is favored to win the meet on the basis of its overwhelming victory in Southern California, as it outscored Fullerton, 42-74. Mount San Antonio of Walnut, El Camino of Torrance and Los Angeles Harbor of Wilmington will be the other representatives from the Southland. Northern California champion San Joaquin Delta of Stockton heads a group which includes San Jose City, American River of Sacramento and Diablo Valley of Pleasant Hill.

Grossmont's Terry Cotton, who has an 18:47.4 on a 3.95-mile course to his credit, is the individual favorite. Sweeney has "a shot at the top ten," Bailey said. "We're up against the best," the coach continued, "but we'll work hard and see how high we can finish."

Owens, Andros Have Tough Grid Tasks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Pity poor Dee Andros and Jim Owens.

Andros' Oregon State football team is 1-8 and has to play 30-point favorite UCLA tomorrow while Owens' Washington team is 2-7 and next faces 28-point favored Southern California.

UCLA is 8-1-0 and has scored 401 points. USC is 7-1-1 and has scored 236. The two Los Angeles Giants are 5-0 in the Pacific 8 race and tomorrow's work amounts to little more than a holding action in anticipation of next Saturday's titanic for the league title and the Rose Bowl berth.

Oregon isn't much better off than OSU and Washington at 2-7 but in Stanford, 5-4, meets a team it has a chance to beat. The Cardinals, whose season came to an end last week in a last-second 27-26 loss to USC, are five point favorites.

In tomorrow's other Pac 8 matchup, Washington State (3-6-0) is an 11-point favorite over California (4-5-0) in a game to be played in Pullman with the forecast calling for snow. The USC-Washington game is at Seattle (probably in rain), Oregon plays the Cards at Stanford and the Beavers play the Bruins in Los Angeles.

The Pacific Coast Athletic Association has an attractive matchup in the meeting between San Diego State and Fresno State. The Aztecs are 2-0-1 in the conference race and can clinch the title by beating the Bulldogs. If they don't, then San Jose State, which has completed its league play with a 2-0-2 record, would win the title.

WATER POLO

Redwood Confronts Tournament Rivals

Redwood High School's water polo team will swim into hostile waters tomorrow for the first two games of the Northern California Invitational tournament.

The Giants, undefeated champions of the Marin County Athletic League with a 12-0 record, are part of a 16-team field which includes powerful teams from the south Peninsula and San Jose areas.

The Giants are unseeded in the tournament. Top-seeded Buchser of Santa Clara carries a 25-0 record into the tourney, and several other powers enter with only one or two losses, usually to each other.

Redwood will begin play tomorrow at 9 a.m. against fifth-seeded Santa Clara at Foothill College in Los Altos. If they win, the Giants will play at 1 p.m. at the same site against the winner of a game between third-seeded Lick of San Jose and the champion of the South Peninsula Athletic League. If they lose their opener, they will meet the Lick-SPAL loser at noon tomorrow.

Terra Linda, the MCAL champion last year, was eliminated from the tournament in two games. The Trojans, second this year in the MCAL at 10-2, were eligible for one of the four at-large berths in the tourney, but officials instead chose Clovis, Fremont, Tennyson of Hayward, and Oak Grove of San Jose in a meeting Monday night.

Others in the tournament, all league champions, are Beyer of San Jose (seeded second), Campolindo of Moraga (fourth), Homestead of Sunnyvale (sixth), Lynbrook of Morgan Hill (seventh), Miramonte of Orinda (eighth) and unseeded Stagg of Stockton and Leland of San Jose.

Meet Postponed

The Marin County Junior High School championship Cross Country meet scheduled for yesterday was postponed due to rain and wet grounds, and will be held Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Civic Center Lake, meet director Don Meroff announced today.

A Designated Runner Rule On Agenda Of A.L.

BOSTON (UPI) — The American League office said yesterday it has placed discussion of a designated runner rule on the agenda for the league winter meetings in Houston next month.

Tom Monahan, director of Public Relations for the American League, said several owners had discussed the designated runner rule as a natural follow-up to the adoption of the designated hitter rule passed last winter, at league meetings Tuesday in Chicago.

"But no rule was ever written up," said Monahan. "Nothing definite was settled but it was decided to bring up the matter at the winter meetings."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer had reported that Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics, had proposed the rule at a meeting Tuesday and it was approved 7-5.

A Successful Trip For Ducks

I went up to the Sacramento National Wildlife shooting area Wednesday. As I had mentioned in an earlier column, Bob Wilson, my neighbor in Woodacre, had drawn one of the coveted reservations for that area. It was for two shooters, so I was invited along.

If you are a duck hunter and belong to a club, or if you are an unattached hunter, you might wonder just how the refuge operation works. Wilson had filled in one of the reservation application cards; in the drawing held at Sacramento, his card was drawn and he was notified by mail. His card was returned and marked for the day open to him.

We loaded Bob's camper Tuesday evening with the necessary gear, then left for the area, planning to get some sleep in the camper while waiting for shoot time. Marty Medin and Ben Selfridge of the Woodacre Fire House gang decided to go also. Neither of them had reservations, so they left Tuesday afternoon to get into the first-come, first-served line. Usually, the areas are filled to a certain capacity by one-half reservations and the other half first-come, first-servers. Bob and I arrived there about 9 p.m., getting in our designated line area. We looked up Marty and Ben, they were number 60, thus were assured of getting in.

At 3:15, Bob and I got up, had some coffee and doughnuts, then we got in line. We were first. We wanted to get a particular area that we remembered from last year, so we planned to get there first. At 4:13, the checking station opened, we checked in, then immediately drove to a parking area near the pond we hoped to get. We were out there probably by 4:45 and no one else was there yet!

We put decoys out in two locations. We planned to double up with Marty and Ben when they arrived. They, of course, were still back waiting for all the reservation holders to get in, then the 59 hunters in front of them in the first-come, first-serve line.

They arrived out at the pond at 5:45 and shooting time started at 6:20. They added their decoys to ours, so we had two setups of 24 each. Marty brought some fish net and stakes along so we built two good double blinds for cover. When 6:20 arrived we were set.

We were surrounded by about six other hunters, but they hadn't made any plans with decoys and blinds, so we figured their shooting wouldn't be too good, and they might just leave. The daily average for the previous Saturday and Sunday shoots there at the refuge was less than one bird per hunter and this included mudhens. Things were tough!

By 11 a.m., we had nine birds for the four of us. By now, everyone else around us had given up. We were now able to let the birds work our decoys to get them in range. By 4 p.m., we had 19 birds and had lost four others in the tules. We decided to pick up; it was a long ride home, and we were pretty beat. We checked out at 5 p.m. The day's average must have been very low because the man who checked our birds out said that we did fabulously. I checked out with six drake spoonies — the poor man's duck, but spoonies were mostly the targets. We had two sprig, one widgeon and 16 spoonies for our total bag. We've been frying the spoonies in olive oil — 45 minutes with the pan covered. They were pretty good.

On the way home, Ben had some car trouble and we finally got home at 9 p.m. We then laid all the birds out and had a tossing the coin session for the first, second and third draws. Ben and Marty were one-two so they took the sprig. Wilson and I have spoonies galore!

The total hour output for each of us was 27 to 30 hours. Was it worth it? If you are a duck hunter, that's the way it is. A hunt with the right guys is a warming experience.

Frazier, Ali Keep Up Feud

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joe Frazier says he and Muhammad Ali have "a lot of things to settle" in their rematch Jan. 28 in New York.

Their first meeting was billed as a battle of the unbeaten heavyweights but some of the lustre is gone from the second match because both have lost.

However, Frazier said the "grudge" is still there and predicts the results will be the same.

"We still don't get along," Frazier said, hosting a breakfast yesterday at his renovated North Philadelphia gym. "We got a lot of things to settle."

In the first meeting on March 8, 1971 in New York, Frazier retained his heavyweight crown by beating Ali in an exhausting 15-round fight that sapped the strength and skills of both men.

Frazier lost his title when he was knocked out by George Foreman last January.

The 30-year-old Frazier, a native of Beaufort, S.C., said he and Ali will be "trying to get it back together again."

Ed Futch, veteran trainer who succeeded the late Yancey "Yank" Durham as Frazier's trainer-adviser, sees the upcoming rematch as a battle between the "bludgeon and the rapier."

Futch promised no change in Frazier's style and said it would be a "rerun with a few variations.

"Joe will wear him down," Futch said.

In response to a question about the length of the bout, Futch said Ali "is not the kind of puncher" to take Frazier in four or five rounds.

Futch, an assistant to Durham during Frazier's major fights, also trains heavyweight Ken Norton, who broke Ali's jaw to defeat him, and welterweight contender Hedgemon Lewis of Los Angeles.

Frazier now weighs 218 and will trim down to 208 for Ali. The ex-champ weighed 215 in the Foreman fight and Futch said that was "too heavy."

Futch said when he returns from South Africa next month, Frazier will be put through a "heavy grind" for the Ali encore.

"I love that—getting him in the ring," he said. "I like to get in close places with him."

FOR TOMALES

2 Seasons Of Good, Bad Play

By PAUL DWORIN

Given the physical violence and intensity inherent in the game, it is understandable if prep football players take things easy after the long season that begins in the sunshine of September and ends in the rain three months later.

Consider, then, the Tomales High School Braves who just finished playing two seasons. Not two separate seasons, but two seasons nevertheless.

In its first four games, Tomales looked like anything but a legitimate threat to retain its North Central League II crown. The Braves were destroyed by Cloverdale in its opener, 33-6, and then were shutout three weeks in a row to post a dismal 0-4 pre-league mark.

But the Braves fooled everyone to upset favored St. Vincent of Petaluma and then waltzed past four other NCL II opponents to gain their fifth league championship in seven years.

"We just made too many mistakes in the first four games," explained Davis Danielsen, who has coached Tomales to two of those titles. "Our backs were inexperienced, (running back) Sam Marsi was out with a broken hand and the offensive line had some problems."

What Danielsen doesn't mention is that all four losses were to schools much larger than Tomales that among them had only lost four games in pre-league play.

Even while the offense was failing, the Braves defense did its job. After the loss to Cloverdale, Tomales held El Molino of Forestville to six points and allowed just three points to Clear Lake. Although the Braves then gave up three touchdowns to St. Helena, one of them was a fluke.

Once the league season started, however, it was a different story as the Tomales defense got progressively stronger and the offense finally came to life.

The Braves beat St. Vincent, 19-12, in their league opener and then became niggardly on defense, yielding just 13 points the remainder of the season with shutouts over Upper Lake (34-0) and Calistoga (12-0).

While unappreciative, Tomales' league opponents recognized the talent of the Braves' defense and named five starters to the all NCL II team: end Chris Nelson, tackle Joe Dentoni, linebackers Dennis Fields and Leonard Simas and back Brian Horick.

Meanwhile, the offense, led by all-league selections Rick Borello (center), Andy Bordessa (guard), Randy Badger (tackle) and Marsi, made things easier for the defense by scoring 104 points.

"It was all a matter of time before we finally put it all together, and we just happened to do it in the St. Vincent game," Danielsen said. "We were worried going into the game, but St. Vincent underestimated us."

The Braves mid-season turnaround was not due to one dramatic event, but because of many factors — one of them being easier competition. But there was also the intangible factor of pride and Tomales' winning tradition.

"The kids had always been winners before," Danielsen commented. "They had won the championship the year before, and they started playing like winners. They quit against Cloverdale and they knew it, but in all the other games they put out. As coaches, we're happy they didn't give up after losing the first four games."

No end to Tomales' league domination is in sight, as Danielsen has 13 returning lettermen next year — six of them starters. In addition, the Braves had a fine junior varisty team that went 5-3-1, despite the loss of quarterback John Riley, who was brought up to varsity after two games.

GOLF NOTES

Machado, Hachmyer Triumph

Jack Machado and Bob Hachmyer today are the Rosehill golf tournament champions of Indian Valley Golf Club.

Sunday they defeated Jerry Lake and Ed Pater, 4 and 3, in the tourney finals and will represent the club in the Northern California Best Ball Foursome tourney next June at Spyglass Hill Golf Club in Pebble Beach.

TARDY TIDBIT. Terra Linda's Jim Sherbert will play for San Geronimo National Golf Club in the 1974 Marin County Men's Tournament of Champions golf.

He won the right by ousting defending T of C and San Geronimo champ Roy Hruska, 2 and 1, two weeks ago. It was the first club title for the KGO-TV executive.

FOUR MARIN golf courses have planned Turkey Shoots this weekend, but the linksters may prefer to shoot the weatherman.

Although fairway endeavors were curtailed by heavy rains this week, clubs have bravely slated 18-hole Turkey Shoots tomorrow at Meadow Club near Fairfax, Indian Valley and Peacock Gap in San Rafael. Mill Valley will host a Turkey Shoot Sunday at 7:30 a.m. Saturday starting times are: 8 a.m. Meadow Club, 10 a.m. Indian Valley and 8:45 a.m. Peacock.

LAS GALLINAS
(Turkey Shoot)
Winners — Mesdames W. G. Risdon, 13 ft., 5 in.; Harry Kester, 21-1; Vern Ellingson, 21-10.

49ers Try Reducing Mistakes

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — San Francisco 49ers coach Dick Nolan is worried about the mistakes that have dropped the 49ers' record to 3-6 with five games still to go.

"We've got to start cutting down on mistakes," he said yesterday as the team prepared for the Los Angeles Rams Sunday. "I'm not going to name names, but some people have to play better than they have; if they don't, something will be done about it.

"Running backs need timing with linemen, just like quarterbacks need timing with receivers," he said. "We've had a number of injuries and also new personnel starting and this hasn't helped the timing."

There have been more changes in the offensive line — John Watson will be at tackle instead of guard and Randy Beisler will fill the guard slot. Watson is replacing Cas Banaszek, who ripped a thigh muscle in the Washington game last Sunday.

Tars Pray For Rain Tomorrow

Rain.

The great equalizer for seemingly mismatched football teams is sought by College of Marin coach Dick Read as his Tars host powerful De Anza College of Cupertino tomorrow at 11 a.m. on a muddy Kentfield turf.

"Rain is pretty much of an equalizer," Read began. The field is pretty well torn up; but if it rains, it should help us." The Tars will need it against what Read considers "the best balanced club in our conference."

Going into this Camino Norte Conference finale, the Dons (4-1 in CNC action and 5-4 overall) will count on running backs Ben Quinn, second in the conference in rushing with 561 yards on 129 carries, Stan Scott and Dennis Zankich. "They run about 70 per cent of the time," Read commented.

He added that De Anza would not be taking the Tars (2-3 and 4-4) lightly, "because they're seeking a co-championship tie with Contra Costa."

However, the Tars have something to accomplish Saturday: a victory over De Anza would give Marin its first winning season since finishing 6-3 in 1968. To reach this coveted plateau, Read's charges will require "Our best effort of the year just to do anything with them. And they have to make a few mistakes, too."

Marin will rely on the strong right arm of quarterback Mike Sanderson and the good hands of wide receiver John Buckley. "But they know we like to throw, so we'll have to be able to run at them," Read pointed out.

Marin's running game does not have the same excellent credentials of the passing attack. Sanderson is the CNC passing and total offense leader with 98 completions of 228 passes for 1,443 yards and 12 touchdowns. Those figures place him third in passing and sixth in total offense statistics in the state.

He'll be trying to pierce a Dons' secondary spearheaded by little Jeff Jones; Jones is 5-foot-7 and 160 pounds, but he shares the conference lead in interceptions with Foothill's Cleveland McDonald at five each. Jones will be trying to cover erstwhile CNC reception leader Buckley who was displaced by Contra Costa's Mike Robinson last week. Robinson has 47 catches, Buckley is next at 43 followed by De Anza's wide receiver Mike Martinez, a 9.8 sprinter, with 32.

Quarterback Fred Schaler who has connected on 52 of 11 passes for 827 yards and nine T.D.s, is another vital De Anza offensive cog, while defensive tackle Fred Best, 6-4, 230 anchors the stingy defense.

Kirkwood Adds 2 Chairlifts

By CHARLIE COANE

As Kirkwood Meadows heads into its sophomore season, it adds two new chairlifts — a feat not easily accomplished in these days of rising costs and pressure to save the wilderness areas.

Kirkwood, 30 miles southwest of South Lake Tahoe on Highway 88, began operations last season with four chairs and very limited overnight accommodations. Skiers would normally stay near South Shore or drive up for one day. Skiing was primarily for the intermediate — the runs weren't too tough and the expert skiers found little to challenge them.

"We will now open some super skiing for the experts," says Kirkwood president Andrew Kerr. "Our No. 5 chairlift has a vertical rise of 1,315 feet and it's 3,730 feet long, providing runs up to one mile. In fact, this chair is serving one of the ten steepest slopes in the Western United States. It opens up 360 acres of new skiing."

The other new chairlift at Kirkwood adds 100 more acres and is basically for intermediates. In all, Kirkwood has added about one-third more skiing terrain — mostly advanced and expert. One advantage of Kirkwood is its elevation. The base is 7,800 feet and the top is 9,827 feet. In California/Nevada, only Heavenly Valley stretches above 10,000 feet and Mt. Rose and Slide Mountain have higher base elevations.

Fifty-four additional condominium units popped up during the non-ski season, all within walking distance of the three base chairs. There were six units last season. "We now can handle 260 skiers overnight," reports Kerr. Some new homes have also been built.

What is Kirkwood ultimately shooting for? "Like Aspen, Vail and Sun Valley, we eventually will be more than just one of America's largest ski complexes," says Kerr. "We will be able to accommodate 8,500 skiers with 15 chairlifts and also develop our resort as a year-round, recreational and residential community."

Heavenly Valley, Soda Springs Open

RENO (UPI) — Heavenly Valley and Soda Springs open for skiing tomorrow bringing to eight the total of Sierra resorts which plan to operate this weekend.

Sierra Ski Ranch and Mammoth Mountain are going on a daily basis and Squaw Valley, Slide mountain-Mt. Rose and June Mountain have announced previously they would get underway Saturday.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Maximum Return Sought By One Near Retirement

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have enclosed my projected assets and income schedule for the end of the year when I will retire at 65. Have you any suggestions for me? I am primarily interested in income. — N.W.

A. Your assets consist of $14,700 in various forms of savings; $9,000 in two utility stocks and $3,000 in three mutual funds. In addition you will be receiving $7,500 annually from pensions and Social Security after retirement. There are several options open to you which would enable you to maximize your income potential. First of all, I see no reason to disturb your two utility holdings, which currently yield an average of 7.6 per cent.

Your mutual fund investments are a different proposition, however, being growth funds. The small lots in two no-load funds should be redeemed. I would also suggest exchanging the larger holding of Salem Fund for shares of Fidelity Bond-Debenture Fund, an income fund which is under the same management group. Proceeds from the two sales plus your profit-sharing account and expiring savings certificate should be invested in either a high-yield bond or another savings certificate account.

Q. I need to make my capital work for me as I am not employed. Before the end of the year I intend to sell 100 shares of Fairchild Camera (NYSE) and 1,665 shares of Investors Diversified Variable Payment Fund. I also have $7,000 in savings. Your advice on reinvesting these funds would surely be appreciated. — F.C.

A. The current value of your assets is $31,500; the maximum safe return you should expect, 8.5 per cent, would produce about $2,700 in annual income. However, at least $5,000 of your savings should be left intact for emergencies, which would leave $26,500 for reinvestment and would reduce your total return. My suggested investment plan is: 12M United Gas Pipe Line 9¾s of 1990 and 13M Avco Financial 8-7/8's of 1977. Interest payments from these debentures amount to $2,324 annually. Added to an assumed 5.5 per cent return on the $5,000 remaining in savings, your total income would be $2,600 or 8.3 per cent.

A Dramatic Turnabout On Market

New York (UPI) — Stock prices staged a dramatic turnabout and shot upward today on the basis of a hint by President Nixon that the Arab nations would soon end their oil embargo.

Stocks advancing in price held a better than 2-to-1 margin over those declining, 926 to 417, among the 1,671 issues traded.

Volume after two hours of trading was 11,970,000 shares, compared with 10,810,000 at the same period yesterday.

Greenhouse Supply Wholesaler Scheduled To Open Next Month

Economy Sales of Marin, a wholesaler of greenhouse supplies, will open next month at 79 Belvedere Street, No. 9, in the canal area of San Rafael.

The company, owned by David and Francine Black of Larkspur, supplies cut flower growers in the Bay Area with plastic pipe, watering systems, valves and convection tubing. Established 17 years ago, Economy Sales is now located at 555 Illinois Street in San Francisco.

The Blacks said they decided to move the company to Marin to avoid the daily commute to The City. The lease of space of Belvedere Street was arranged by William Hoey Company. Hoey also negotiated leases for the following six firms:

BLAIR NEWMAN, producer of a new type of cigarette rolling dispenser called Primo Papers, will open at 79 Belvedere Street No. 13, about the end of this month.

MULTIMATICS COMPANY, which distributes dental cabinets at 70 Woodland Avenue in San Rafael, rented added space at 102-H Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park.

D. VERNON RASMUSSEN, plumbing and general contractor in Ignacio, rented warehouse space at 25-I Hamilton Drive.

HAYES ASSOCIATES Designers Inc., formerly at 500-A Redhill in San Anselmo, moved into suite 103 at 4340 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

J. W. REAP & Associates Inc., a tax consulting firm in Santa Rosa, opened a San Rafael office in suite 242 at 4340 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park.

RICHARD A. SECRIST of Novato, agent with John Hancock Life Insurance Co. at 4340 Redwood Highway in San Rafael, celebrated his 25th anniversary with the company. Gary A. Bramon, general agent, presented him with a silver platter at an office celebration on Tuesday.

Originally from Columbus, Ohio, Secrist served with John Hancock in Boston before coming to Marin in 1960. A chartered life underwriter since 1957, Secrist specializes in group insurance and estate planning.

Sherwin

ROBERT M. SHERWIN of San Rafael was named manager of the Air Quality Group in Bechtel Corporation's scientific development organization, San Francisco. With Bechtel since 1968, Sherwin has more than 26 years of experience in applied chemistry and chemical engineering.

MASTER POOLS Service & Supplies, a new firm that services swimming pools and sells pool supplies, just opened at 536 Irwin Street in San Rafael at the old location of International Swimming Pools.

Owners of the new firm are Louis and Joseph Arrighi of San Rafael, who operate Arrighi Bros. Custom Pools at 91 Circle Road in San Rafael.

Arrighi Bros. Custom Pools will continue to build pools, while their new firm on Irwin Street will provide pool servicing and retail sale of such items as patio furniture and barbecues in addition to pool supplies.

FRED'S OF MARIN hair stylist for men, headquartered in Northgate Industrial Park, has opened a second shop called Fred's of Marin Studio II at 424 Las Gallinas Avenue in the Northgate Plaza Shopping Center. Studio II took over the old site of Los Ranchitos Barber's.

Owner Fred Esparza started his first studio about 12 years ago, followed by Los Ranchitos Barber's eight years ago.

Fred's of Marin specializes in men's hairstyling, by appointment only. Studio II, managed by Richard Choroski, offers both hairstyling and manicuring services.

English

Reed

PETER J. ENGLISH of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's Tokyo branch office.

English joined Wells Fargo in 1967 and worked in the bank's commercial loan department, loan review and examination and the international division. He was loan officer in the Tokyo branch before the promotion.

DON J. REED, 30, of Larkspur has been named executive vice president and partner in the former Martel Scroggin Advertising Inc., San Francisco.

President Martel Scroggin announced that the firm name has been changed to Scroggin-Reed Advertising Inc. Reed was vice president of marketing before the promotion.

WILLIAM A. PIERSOL of Mill Valley was named to the newly-created position of director of advertising for the seven Bourbon Shops of Marin.

Piersol began his career as a writer-producer of promotional films and joined the Bourbon Shops last January. In addition to his new duties, he will continue as assistant manager of the Bourbon Shop in Tiburon.

SASAKI, WALKER, Roberts Inc. of Sausalito, newly formed professional alliance of site planners and environmental scientists, was selected to prepare the regional land-use plan for 300 square miles of the East Sierra known as the Mammoth Lake area, comprising about 10 per cent of Mono County, including a large part of Inyo National Forest.

The SWR firm will undertake to mix outdoor-recreational, residential and open-space uses for the area, according to Robert Sandy, director of planning and building for the County of Mono.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Famed American Negro Composer W. C. Handy, known as the "father of the blues," was born November 16, 1973.

Also on this day in History:

In 1907, Oklahoma became the 46th state admitted to the Union.

In 1933, the United States established diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

In 1966, Dr. Sam Sheppard was acquitted in a second trial for the 1954 slaying of his wife. He had served more than 10 years on the original conviction.

A thought for the day: Scottish novelist Robert Louis Stevenson said: "Mankind was never so happily inspired as when it made a cathedral."

Man Must Face Assault Charge

A Marin City man must face charges of assault with a deadly weapon and possession of heroin in superior court, a municipal court judge ruled Tuesday.

Following a preliminary hearing for Joseph Hillard Fusilier, Judge Robert A. Smallman ruled there is enough evidence and bound him over to superior court.

Male Nurses Rare

CHICAGO (UPI) — Among nurses, a man is one in a hundred. There are approximately 700,000 professional nurses at work in the United States, according to Encyclopedia Britannica, and of these men comprise one per cent.

In Three No-Trump, The Ninth Trick Should Be Sealed Quickly

The time to steal the ninth trick is at the earliest possible moment. It's easier to hoodwink the enemy at that time, for they know very little about the hand. Even if the opponents know just what is going on, proper timing may leave them helpless.

COUNT TRICKS

West opens the jack of hearts, and you count your tricks: one spade, two hearts, five diamonds (if one trick is given up) and a club or two if noting untoward happens. You have only eight tricks without the clubs, so you will certainly need at least one club trick for the contract.

The proper play is to win the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and lead the club at once.

EAST'S ACTION

If East has the ace of clubs, he is practically sure to play low. This allows you to steal the ninth trick there and then with the king of clubs.

Having stolen that trick, you abandon the clubs. You now lead a low diamond and play low from dummy, giving the trick to the opponents. Dummy is then ready to win the next five diamond tricks, giving you the nine tricks needed for game.

UNABLE TO FOIL

In this case East cannot foil you by stepping up with the ace of clubs at the second trick. If he does this, you will win five club tricks and won't need more than two top cards in diamonds.

You lose the contract, however, if you begin with the diamonds instead of the clubs. Suppose you win the first heart and give up a low diamond. East wins and shifts to a low spade. Your ace of spades if forced out sooner or later, and East gets the lead with the ace of clubs in time to defeat the contract with one dimaond, three spades and one club.

You can no longer steal a club trick for East will be quick to pounce on the setting trick.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens the bidding with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - A J 9 4
♡ - K 4
♦ - 6 4
♣ - K Q J 6 5.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs.

You expect to bid spades later, thus indicating that the clubs are longer than the spades. This "reverse" bid shows a very stong hand.

REPORTER IS TOTALLY WRAPPED UP IN TRIAL

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Reporter Boniface (Bony) Saludes of the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat is covering the trial of two men charged with staging a shootout with the sheriff's deputies last March.

But that isn't the story.

Saludes, 41, will take the witness stand later to testify for the prosecution. He was held hostage four hours by the two defendants before convincing them to surrender.

But that isn't the story either.

Wednesday, Saludes received a letter from the superior court. It was a routine summons to jury duty — for the same trial.

"The judge dismissed it, a bit tongue in cheek," Saludes said.

Smog Board Told To Cut Public Comment

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials have been advised by their attorney against allowing public comment on applications for permits to build projects that could add to pollution.

David A. Self, counsel for the Air Pollution Control District, said the applications involved primarily legal and technical issues. "To encourage public comment under these circumstances might lead to frustration when permits are granted even though public comment is uniformly in opposition to the application," he cautioned.

His memorandum was included in material given district directors at their Wednesday meeting, but was not discussed.

Self also objected that giving the public a chance to comment — a step encouraged by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency — "would be unnecessarily burdensome and time consuming," especially for minor projects "on which little, if any, comment from the public could be expected."

Extra time to get public comment, he added, "would in many cases result in hardship to the applicant."

If the board nevertheless decided to allow public comment, Self said, it should be allowed only on projects "which are of such size or possible effect upon the community in which they will be located as to probably create general public interest in the project."

The district's permit system, adopted 16 months ago under pressure from the EPA, is supposed to require a permit to construct or operate air-contaminating facilities. A four-year exemption, however, was granted to about 100 classes of air-pollution activities, including shopping centers with boilers emitting less than 10 million British thermal units an hour. This is the capacity of the Federal Building in San Francisco, one of the largest structures in the Bay Area.

Of 3,514 permit applications to date, the district's staff has denied 17.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors also:

BURNING — Relaxed controls on agricultural burning by eliminating the power of the air pollution control officer to order an alternate method of changing crops.

CARS — Ordered 30 compact sedans and a station wagon through the state for $91,350.

VIOLATIONS — Received staff report that notices for violating district regulations were issued during October against Petrini's Market in Larkspur, Ross General Hospital, Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield and Jens Larsen of Petaluma and O. D. Sexton, both of Petaluma.

Net Worth Revealed By Felson

Jack R. Felson, candidate for the Democratic nomination next June for the state Assembly, today issued a statement showing his net worth to be $52,423.

His declaration of candidacy yesterday promised full disclosure of his personal and campaign finances, and called on other candidates to join him in the disclosures.

Felson's assets totaled $244,485 and his liabilities $192,062, according to his statement given the Independent-Journal. His assets included: Forest Farm Camps, which he owns and operates in Forest Knolls, $167,735; Skyridge property adjacent to Samuel P. Taylor Park, $67,700; stock in the Pacific Sun, a local weekly publication, $250; Israel Bonds, $200; personal possessions, $6,000; U.S. savings bond, $100, and savings, $2,500.

His liabilities were $139,000 in two mortgages on the camp, a $35,000 mortgage on the Skyridge property, a $13,062 loan on business equipment, and $5,000 business loan.

SMOKER SURVEY

Pipes Are Sexy To The Woman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Women are more likely to see the pipe-smoking man as sexy than the man suspects, a woman researcher said yesterday.

The sexiness of the pipe-smoking male was not the highest point getter in a survey, but more women than men mentioned it, said Dr. Eleanor Criswell, an associate professor at Sonoma State College.

Dr. Criswell said she was commissioned by a pipe manufacturing firm to learn why women purchased more high-priced pipes than men.

She said women apparently were buying the pipes for husbands or boyfriends because they felt pipes enhanced the male images as "handsome, attractive and sexy."

The survey was conducted by asking pipe smokers and their wives or girl friends to fill out forms, she said. She noted some may have filled them out together.

Orr Joins Backers Of Offshore Drilling

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — All three members of the state Lands Commission have indicated their support for resuming offshore oil drilling in California coastal waters.

State Finance Director Verne Orr yesterday indicated he intends to vote as a commission member for a drilling resumption. The two other commission members — Republicans Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke and state Controller Houston Flournoy — previously said they favored lifting the nearly four-year-old moratorium on offshore drilling.

The commission, which has held hearings into the question of developing safeguards against oil spills such as occurred in the Santa Barbara Channel in 1969, is considering a special meeting next month to lift the moratorium.

On May 15, Gov. Ronald Reagan endorsed the idea of renewing offshore drilling, including in the Santa Barbara Channel. At that time, Orr, a Reagan appointee, said he didn't believe the industry had "demonstrated adequate containment devices ... But I'm willing to give it another hard look."

However, Orr told UPI yesterday that "I think probably the United States has arrived at a position where it has to consider something less than ideal safeguards because of the energy crisis.

"In other words, the fail-safe (controls) that we might have needed if we had all the oil from other sources will have to be relooked at now that there is apparently inadequate fuel to heat our homes, run our industry and drive our cars," he added.

"We sure need the fuel badly. I'm inclined to think at the present time enough work has been done on the containment of oil spills to make the risk tolerable."

Orr, who has been reluctant to yield to earlier pressures for ending the moratorium, noted he had "hung in there rather tough on controls, (but) there comes a time when you have to look at the overall picture."

Flournoy, like Reinecke a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year, announced in May he favored resumption of offshore drilling, provided he could be assured of adequate safety precautions against spills such as that at Santa Barbara.

At a news conference Tuesday, Reinecke endorsed resumption of offshore oil drilling. He said he was satisfied that the industry had developed adequate safeguards.

Permit Is Asked For Power Plant

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has asked the state for permission to build a 1.05 million kilowatt hydroelectric plant on the north fork of the Kings River.

The application was filed yesterday with the California Public Utilities Commission for a pumped storage plant, costing $235 million that would be completed by June 1980.

Plans include construction of three tunnels linking Courtright Lake and the lower elevation Lake Wishon in Fresno County. Water released from Courtright Lake during peak hours of demand would generate electricity through turbines.

State Pay Hikes Are Requested

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Employees' Association yesterday asked the State Personnel Board to approve pay increases averaging 10.8 per cent for civil service employees next year.

William Ahlenslager, vice president of the association, told the board that state employees have been behind salaries paid for comparable work in private industries during the last six to eight years.

"And the action of federal wage bodies in cutting approved state employee pay raises the last two years has put them even further behind," he said.

Ahlenslager said the federal Cost of Living Council trimmed state worker pay raises by an average 4.5 per cent this year.

He also said the funds trimmed by the council have been frozen in the state budget and the employee association's recommended pay package for 1974 is in addition to that 4.5 per cent.

The pay proposal, Ahlenslager, recommends that the bulk of state workers receive a 7.5 per cent pay increase next July 1.

18-Mule Teams

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — The 20-mule teams which hauled borax wagons from Death Valley to Mjoave, Calif., before the era of motorized transportation were actually made up of 18 mules and two horses.

The two horses were in the wheel position because they were stronger and more obedient.

Brandt Plans Ban On Sunday Driving

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt announced today that West Germany will ban Sunday driving on Sunday, Nov. 25, and on some succeeding Sundays as part of an emergency effort to offset the shortage of Arab oil.

Brandt said the Sunday-driving ban was but one of the oil emergency powers he had decided to use and he asked "great understanding" and "community spirit" from his countrymen, who regard auto driving as a favored national pastime.
